SHELLY'S FUEL OIL TAX BILL BROUGHT DOWN

Half-cent a Gallon to Be Paid By Consumer Under New Regulation

Fuel oil tax is to be collected just like income tax, according to the terms of the fuel oil tax bill presented to the Legislature to-day by Hon. W. C. Shelly, Minister of Finance.

Every consumer must keep a record of what fuel oil he consumes, make a return to the province and pay a tax of one-half cent a gallon on what he uses. This applies to owners of oil furnaces in their homes as well as to the big industries.

In addition every vendor of fuel oil must keep books of record showing who his purchasers are, thus giving the government a double check on the consumption.

The manner in which vendors and consumers are to keep their records will be prescribed by regulation and inspectors are to have the right to examine these books at any time.

LUMBER DUTY IS PLAN OF U.S. SENATE

Chamber's Vote For $1.50 a Thousand Feet Interests B.C.

Canadian Press

Washington, March 20.—By a margin of one vote, the United States senate to-day placed a tariff of $1.50 a thousand board feet on softwood lumber, now on the free list, defeating the coalition of Democrats and Republican Independents in the last major rate controvery of the tariff struggle.

The bill, of course, must go to conference with the House.

Senator Jones, Republican, Washington State, had the support of Senator McNary of Oregon, the assistant Republican leader, and other northwestern senators for his amendment, which represented a reduction from the $2 levy proposal defeated several weeks ago.

The duty he held, should be placed on fir, spruce, pine, hemlock and larch lumber, including railroad ties and telephone and telegraph poles.

SOME PROSPER AND OTHERS QUIT

Conceding some lumber producers were prosperous, Senator Jones argued a monopoly would be the inevitable result if the less fortunate mill owners were not protected.

"It's the laboring man in the industry I am especially interested in," Jones said, adding that many mills were closed and some operating part time.

REPEAL SUGGESTED

The Washington senator accepted a modification proposed by Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, to exempt Canadian and Mexican rough lumber from the levy and also to provide for repeal of the duty on dressed lumber if and when Canada withdraws its levies on United States dressed lumber.

Answering arguments that a lumber duty would prevent reforestation, Senator Jones read a letter from Governor Hartley of Washington saying that "no reforestation policy known would prevent the waste of timber to-day."

PLAN OPPOSED

Opposing a levy, Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, asserted it was nothing short of a betrayal of the United States people, who have been looking to Congress to afford agriculture something near an equality with other industries.

"The industry has absolutely no right to ask a tariff," Nye said, adding that it "faces no emergency because of the absence of a protective tariff, but because of the general business depression, particularly in construction."

Premier King Issues New Call to Youth

Canadian Press

Ottawa, March 20.—That fulfilment of the prophecy that the twentieth century belongs to Canada is in the hands of the young men and women of the country, was a statement made by Premier King at a banquet here yesterday evening which marked the founding of the Twentieth Century Liberal Association of Canada. More than 500 were present to hear the Prime Minister trace the origin and development of political parties and urge upon the members of the Liberal Party the duty of accepting the responsibilities of citizenship.

The gathering was a rallying cry to the youth of Canada to unite under the banner of the Liberal Party in the next general election and in service to country. Young Liberal clubs in many parts of Canada were represented and at the head table the Prime Minister was surrounded by young men and women who in their speeches emphasized the scope for self-expression and service young people could find in the Liberal Party.

RUSSIAN COAL FOR CANADA IS NOW DISCUSSED

Report Large Quantities to Be Imported in East Surprises Welsh Exporters

Canadian Press Cable

London, March 20.—"I cannot believe Mr. Weaver made the statement." This was the reply of Sir Alfred Cope, managing director of the Amalgamated Anthracite Collieries, who was interviewed regarding a statement said to have been made by Allen Weaver, vice-president of the Weaver Coal Company, Montreal.

Mr. Weaver was quoted as having said his company had placed an order for coal in Russia because the Welsh supply last year had proved inadequate for the Canadian market.

Sir Alfred said there was plenty of Welsh coal available for Canada last season and, although there was a shortage of ships to convey the quantity required direct to Canada, the deficit was made up by sending coal to

Drugless Healers Ruled Out In Fight For Separate Status

Speaker's Ruling Throws Bill Out of House for Present Session; Chiropractors Seek Self Government Through Amendments to Medical Act; Christian Scientists Also Seek Legal Status.

Although drugless healers have for the present session lost their fight for self-government and legal recognition entirely apart from the medical profession, chiropractors and Christian Scientists are left in the Legislative battle which has frequently been in the spotlight this session.

Mr. Speaker Jones's ruling, upholding the claim of A. M. Manson, K.C., that the second bill drafted in the chiropractors' and drugless healers' fight for self-government could not be considered this session, has left the drugless healers completely in the cold for the time being. Chiropractors and Christian Scientists, however, have continued the fray through proposed amendments to the Medical Act, which was opened by Dr. E. L. Borden's bill, to curtail the use of the term doctor to medical men and surgeons.

The decision of Mr. Speaker Jones is as follows:

"On March 18, the fourth member for Victoria asked for leave to introduce Bill No. 67, intituled 'An Act

WILL START WORK ON OAK BAY HOTEL

Smith Bros. and Wilson to Build $110,000 Residential Hotel on Beach Drive

Contract has been awarded and construction will be commenced almost immediately on a new hotel project to cost $110,000 in Oak Bay.

Smith Brothers & Wilson of Victoria and Vancouver, the firm which is erecting the Kresge chain store building at the intersection of Douglas and Fort Streets, have been awarded the contract to build an eighty-room addition to the Beach Drive residence of F. M. Rattenbury for the Metropolitan Building Corporation.

The new residential hotel on the Oak Bay Waterfront will be operated by the St. George and the Dragon Hotel Company, recently incorporated here.

The corporation will also spend considerable money in the development of the fine grounds and beach frontage which is included in the property.

The plans for the new hotel building are based on drawings prepared by architect F. M. Rattenbury prior to the sale of the property through Alfred Carmichael & Company to the Metropolitan Building Corporation.

The plans were completed by R. T. Perry of Vancouver

For six months the plans for the hotel structure have been before the Oak Bay Council, and last week they were finally approved subject to changes required by the municipality. The permit for the building will be taken out at once and preliminary construction is expected to be started next week.

BRITISH BANK RATE CUT IS WELCOME MOVE

Traders Say Reduction to 3½ Per Cent Is Constructive Course

London, March 20.—The Bank of England reduced its rate to-day from four to three and one-half per cent.

Downward trend of world money rates fostered by central banking institutions—owing to the fall of commodity prices and trade depressions—reached a point, especially in London and New York, permitting reduction by the British Central Bank from the mark which was established only a fortnight ago.

RESERVE BUILT UP

The authorities were rather forced by the way discount rates declined out of proportion to the official minimum since the collapse of the Wall Street boom eased the monetary stringency. This easing of the bank rate, accompanied by firm exchange and freer movement of gold, relieved fears the bank would not be able to build up a reserve if the rate was materially reduced.

Traders welcomed the reduction as lightening the burden of their high loan charges. The Treasury meanwhile is said to be awaiting a favorable opportunity to reduce the rate of interest on war loans by the conversion schemes.

LONE TAX CUT OF BUDGET IS DELAYED YEAR

Reduction in Wild Land Levies Not Until 1931, House Told

T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition, adjourned the debate on the second reading of the Taxation Bill which was explained by Hon. W. C. Shelly, Minister of Finance, in the Legislature yesterday and which provides, among other things for the decrease in the wild land tax from three per cent to two per cent.

During the explanation of the bill by Mr. Shelly it was revealed that the reduction in the wild land tax will not take place until 1931, assessment notices for this year already having been forwarded.

Changes are made in dates for sending out and returning assessment notices. The due date of taxes is changed from February 15 to April 1, giving the taxpayer more time and bringing collections on the same roll of the fiscal year.

Power is given the assessor to collect taxes before the usual time on regarding them as delinquent when it is suspected the taxpayer is about to leave the country. To help prospectors who in some cases have staked mineral claims on crowd reverted lands retroactive legislation is planned permitting such claims to be staked.

He denied emphatically any connection with the death of his wife and said she was a victim of a "tragic habit," of which he had tried to cure her.

Stand Aloof From Coal Votes in Commons So Ministry Can Continue Course

Amendment to Mines Bill Defeated By 274 Votes to 229

Canadian Press

London, March 20.—An amendment to the Coal Mines Bill, which at one time seemed might possibly cause the downfall of the MacDonald Government, was defeated in the House of Commons to-day 274 to 229.

The Liberals abstained from voting. The Liberal leader was taunted somewhat by Conservatives, one of whom declared it was more a question of saving the Liberal Party's unity than saving the naval limitations negotiations.

LIBERALS STAND OUT

London, March 20.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George formally announced at a committee session of the House of Commons late to-day that the Liberal Party had decided to take no further part in moving or supporting amendments in the committee stage of the Coal Bill.

The reason he gave was that action of a hostile character by the Liberals would affect critically the state of the Naval Limitation Conference.

He understood, he said, that the fate of the conference was hanging in the balance—that it was "a question of life or death."

NEW TAXES MAY BE THROWN OUT

Gasoline Increase and Fuel Tax May Be Ultra Vires, A. M. Manson Tells Legislature

The gasoline tax increase in the Shelly budget and the new fuel oil tax introduced by the Minister of Finance may possibly within eighteen months be thrown out and declared ultra vires, A. M. Manson, K.C., stated in the Legislature this morning when the Taxation Act was under consideration.

Taxation difficulties generally between the provinces and the Dominion were discussed by Attorney-General Pooley and Mr. Manson in the light of the recent rejection by the Privy Council of the British Columbia log export. Mr. Pooley told of his efforts to secure a round-table conference between Dominion officials and representatives of every province in the Dominion. The acuteness of the question had been emphasized by the rejection in 1927 of the former fuel oil tax and recently the log export tax, which had been in force twenty-four years. The increased assessment on crown-granted timber was the only way out of the difficulty created by the decision against the log export tax until other legislation was permitted by the Dominion. It meant, he was afraid, that the forests were going to be depleted to feed mills of the United States. Colonel Nelson Spencer suggested it might be advisable to delay action for a few years if necessary. He made an eloquent plea for adequate protection of the great lumber industry.

RESORT HOTEL IS PLANNED AT SHAWNIGAN

Golf Course and Club House Included in Development at Lake

Financial Men Aim to Duplicate Vancouver's Harrison Springs Resort

Plans for construction of a country resort hotel, with a golf course and clubhouse at Shawnigan Lake on the site of the old Kingsley or Koenig's Hotel, which was burned down some years ago, were under way to-day, according to reports from Shawnigan Lake.

E. B. McLeod, Victoria financial man, was at the Lake to-day with various persons interested in the development, completing details for the work.

Option was concluded on fifteen acres belonging to James Findlay, and also some five acres of the old Kingsley property. This property is at the north end of the lake and runs back from the E. and N. Railway tracks and the water front, up the side of the hill to the motor highway, which runs around the lake. The deal was arranged for the Shawnigan owners by E. M. Wallbank of Shawnigan.

Proposed plans call for the construction of a commodious hotel, similar to that at Harrison Hot Springs.

"In fact, it is planned to make this Shawnigan Lake resort to Victoria people what Harrison Hotel Springs is to Vancouver people," said one of the men who is working out the details. "Shawnigan is just near enough to Victoria to make it quickly accessible to persons here who would like to get away for the week-end, and the climate at Shawnigan, with its altitude of more than 600 feet, is such that it gives the Victorian a complete change from the salt water atmosphere of his own city.

"Harrison is crowded every week-end with parties from Vancouver, and there is no doubt that a popularly run place at Shawnigan would prove at attractive to Victorians."

It is proposed to run the hotel on a high class basis, it was further explained, with a good orchestra and dancing under a hostess, whose duties as at Harrison would be to make all guests feel at home.

In connection with the hotel and golf course development, it is expected that the government this year will make an appropriation for the building of a public landing, or pier, out into Shawnigan Lake, which will add an important feature to the resort. The warm water at Shawnigan will make boating and other fresh water sports popular, it was explained.

A new road has been built to the Lake.

Bennett, Conservative leader, urged that a large number of copies be printed so as to be available for various branches of the Canadian Legion. The House concurred.

YOUR CHILDREN

"Nest habits!"

That is what we call the results of coddling. It's a good name but hardly strong enough.

For nest habits of humans are different from those of birds. The minute bird parents decide that their babies are strong enough, smart enough, and quick enough to take care of themselves, out they go over the edge. A few days of coaching in the arts of flying and grubbing—and that's the end. Sometimes even not that.

The nest habits of human beings last longer than those of birds and the lower animals on account of the extraordinary long time it takes children to mature. It is natural that the period of protection should linger.

What we have to do, then, we humans, is to adopt a policy of gradual elimination of these nest habits.

INDEPENDENCE MUST GROW

Every year that a boy or girl lives he should be further away from parent dependence than he was the year before, until by the time he reaches sixteen or eighteen years of age, if need be, he can be entirely independent.

I heard a lawyer say recently that practically all divorces now were a result of nest habits that had not been trained out of the children.

"These children have learned to depend body and soul on their mothers!" he declared. "They never were taught to know the meaning of the word responsibility. Everything was done for them. New clothes bought when they were needed; washed and mended and kept in order; their meals provided and set before them three times a day for years without a worry about how they were cooked or paid for; spending money, good schooling, super-anxiety over every little illness, amusement crowded into every empty hour—in other words, life handed to them on a silver plate—and they didn't need to wash the plate.

THEY BECOME "ACCEPTORS"

"This condition kept up for twenty years creates eventually what we call an 'acceptor,' a person who spends his life receiving. Such a child develops a thin tender skin, too. He must have not only all the creature comforts but tolerance as well, tolerance and praise and kindness. But he hasn't learned to give anything. He's a taker, not a giver. He has to be understood. It's not his business to understand.

"Well, he marries, or she marries, each transfers these nest-habits to his own home. A home in which the young husband and wife expect to do nothing and receive everything will come to grief in a month. It doesn't take an Archimedes to figure that out. When both are "acceptors" there isn't any way out."

This is a great prompt and one on which all behaviorists are concentrating. The happiest people, indeed about the only happy people in the world, are those in which the "nest habits" have been trained out during the years of childhood and adolescence.

SACRIFICE OF SUMAS LANDS, SAYS MANSON

Prices Offered For Sale Under Fire in Legislature Yesterday

Information on the government's policy of disposing of land in the Sumas area was elicited by members of the opposition in the Legislature through questions put to Hon. W. C. Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, when a bill setting a fixed assessment for maintenance and upkeep of dyking was in committee.

Mr. Atkinson told the House that tenders had been called for the sale of land in blocks. One tender had been received, but was not acceptable. Two men were now selling the land at 10 per cent commission and the government paid 2½ per cent commission for advertising. The price it was offered at was $125 per acre, or $90 an acre less than the price called for by the former government. The former price was $160 an acre and $50 deferred capital charge. The capital charge was dropped from the present price. The two men took over ten days ago, and had sold more in that time than had been sold in the last six months. Although the value of the land varied in sections, the government would be satisfied with an average return of $125. The salesmen were allowed to make no sales below that price without consulting the government.

J. W. Berry, Conservative, Delta, said he knew speculators and marginal landowners at Sumas were offering land at $100 an acre, and if the government could realize $125 an acre it was making a wonderful sale, but questioned by Dr. W. H. Sutherland, Mr. Berry stated the $50 capital charge was on top of the $100.

CLAIMS DEAL PENDING

A. M. Manson, K.C., said in Vancouver a land-selling company composed of friends of the government was openly boasting that, when the House rose they were to get the Sumas lands at a sacrifice price. The other evening when the minister was asked about prospects for Sumas land sales he knew nothing. He wondered if the minister was as innocent as he appeared.

Premier Tolmie said as far as he knew there was no deal pending. The lands were in the hands of a company, who were selling at a fixed price and a fixed commission.

Questioned by Mr. Manson as to whether they could not sell to a subsidiary company, which would then sell and make a profit, Premier Tolmie saw nothing wrong. If the government set a fixed price and got that price, it was fair enough for anyone who could resell to make a profit. Four thousand acres had been set aside for sale.

Mr. Manson estimated that the reduced price over the whole area of 8,700 acres would amount to $776,000, and considered it too great a sacrifice.

T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition, protested that the information had not been forthcoming earlier. He also questioned who would stand the cost if the fixed assessment did not cover the charges against the land, but received no definite answer.

When during the discussion Mr. Atkinson told him to sit down and take a rest, Mr. Pattullo promptly rose to his feet again, reproved the Minister of Agriculture for a recent tendency to make flippant remarks, and the minister promptly tendered an apology.

The Mount Newton Social Club held its fortnightly card party with seven tables in play, first prizes being won by Mrs. Hydes, Mrs. W. D. Michell, Mrs. Rowntree and Mrs. Clow.

Four tables tied for second prize, and after a cut the prizes went to Mrs. Bickford, Mr. Roberts, Mr. Hydes and Mr. Gosselin. The next card party, which will be held on March 26, will be the last of the series.

The West Saanich Women's Institute held its regular meeting at the hall on Tuesday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. W. O. Wallace, in the chair. The minutes and correspondence were read and the treasurer reported a very satisfactory balance in hand. An invitation was received from the Royal Oak Women's Institute to attend a tea, which had to be declined, owing to the members having a tea of their own on the same date. A cabaret was arranged to take place on March 28 at the institute hall, the funds to be given to the solarium at Mill Bay. A donation of $5 was voted towards the prize list of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Fair for best supply of jellies. After the business meeting, a very interesting demonstration in pottery was given by Mrs. Coombe of Victoria, which was much enjoyed, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the demonstrator. A lecture on gardening will be a feature at the next meeting.

Duponts Holding Warner Position

New York, March 20.—The Journal of Commerce to-day says that reports in financial circles are that Wilmington interests have not reduced their holdings in Warner Brothers and have taken the same position as they took in General Motors some years ago; also that directors are expected to consider an upward revision in the dividend rate when they meet next month.

THE "TALKIES"

To the Editor: — I read with the greatest interest, Mr. Archibald's very able letter on the subject of the "talkies," and quite agree with all he says. Referring to this matter, I enclose an article taken from The London Tatler, which expresses a similar dislike of the sort of thing which is presented by the, alas, no longer silent screen.

Certainly let us have the real thing such as is now being played by the English Players in Victoria. Good acting, good voices and above all, clean plays.

It is hard to think that the beautiful and silent films have gone—the distant lands, the vast spaces and lonely islands which we were all able to enjoy, as few of us could ever hope to do in reality.

Instead we have these silly "talkies"—feeble dramas of lives we do not want to know about, foolish posterings of doubtful characters, impossible situations, such as are, in time, bound to poison the minds of our boys and girls.

As for myself, I have been forced to give up my one recreation, now that the films present so little beauty and so much unpleasing sound.

KRISHNAMURTI

To the Editor:—In a report of a lecture on "Krishnamurti, and His Message," given by Miss Elaine Scribner at the Pemberton Building last week, the lecturer is quoted as saying: "He is the same teacher who brought the Christain religion to the western world, 2,000 years ago." Will you kindly allow me, on behalf of members and supporters of the Victoria Independent Theosophical Society, to make the following statement in reference to that quotation.

Krishnamurti was trained from childhood by Bishop Leadbeater and Dr. Annie Besant to regard himself as the chosen vehicle to be used in some way by the Christ at His expected "Coming"—if, indeed, he were not the Christ himself. (There seems to have been some vagueness about this distinction). The Liberal Catholic Church, organized under the leadership of Leadbeater and Dr. Besant, was to be "His Church" and some half dozen of its priests, as we were told some years ago by Dr. Besant, together with herself had been chosen to be numbered among his twelve disciples. The membership of this church consists almost entirely of members of the Theosophical Society whose headquarters are at Adyar, India. But, most unfortunately for the plans of these church-makers, Krishnamurti has recently shown a courageous spirit of independence; he has in fact kicked over the traces, and openly denied that he is a reincarnation of Jesus, or that he is in any special way connected with the Christ; and he has stated his opinion that: "Religious, philosophical and spiritual organizations are barriers to understanding of the truth."

No intelligent student of Blavatsky's presentation of Theosopy could imagine that the possibility of an incarnation of a personal deity is anywhere embodied or implied in it or in the "Esoteric Philosophy" upon which the doctrine of the original Theosophical Society was founded.

W. B. PEASE,
Secretary Victoria Independent Theosophical Society, Jones Building, Victoria, March 18, 1930.

FAIR PLAY

To the Editor:—Many years ago in England, when Josephene Butler and Emmeline Pankhurst raised the question of equal rights for women, hands were raised in horrified protest against such an outrageous proposal. The calamity howlers prophesied dire things for womanhood if she were dragged from her pedestal and given enfranchisement. Woman has been enfranchised, but none of the deradful things gloomily foretold have happened, and we look back upon those old days of intolerance with wonder. The calamity howlers amongst the medical profession have raised the question of the dreadful menace that would overhang the public health if the non-medical practitioners were given recognition. Now in at least three of the provinces of Canada and thirty-eight or forty states of the American Union manipulative practitioners have been given recognition, yet the newspapers do not report calamitous plagues or higher mortality rates existing in these provinces or states as against the ones where at present there is no recognition. If such conditions existed it can be depended upon that the medical councils of those provinces or states would see to it that the same would be given due publicity. Are the people of British Columbia so much more delicately constituted than others that the medical council here dare not take the dreadful risk of assuming the tolerant attitude successfully prevailing elsewhere?

It is not difficult to imagine what condition the medical profession would be in to-day if it had no governing bodies to keep order and clean house within its own ranks, yet by obstruction it deliberately seeks to prevent internal governance by the non-medical profession.

The history of the last decade proves that non-medical practitioners are here to stay, because the public wants them. This is not controversial and if the medical profession is really sincere in its protestations of tender solicitude for the public health it will aid rather than obstruct the honest attempts now being made to internally govern those branches of the healing art whose objectives are akin to their own.

INVESTIGATE FINANCES OF UNIVERSITY

Long and Bitter Discussion Ends With Passing of Motion

The Fio-Simmons motion calling for investigation of the relationship existing between the government and the university by royal commission "or otherwise" was adopted in the Legislature yesterday afternoon after one of the longest and most acrimonious debates the chamber has ever seen. Opposition members voted "No," but did not ask for the vote to be recorded.

Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., closed the debate. Making it quite plain that he was speaking as a Vancouver member and not as a member of the cabinet he expressed approval of T. D. Pattullo's plan of development of the Point Grey endowment lands, and agreed that they constituted one of the finest residential areas in the province.

He deprecated the opposition attacks on the government and the predictions made of some sinister intent to divide the land up among syndicates or in other ways cheapen the area.

"The plan must be carried out," he declared, "and the area must be preserved on the highest possible plane as a residential area for the benefit of the people."

PATTULLO CARRIED IT OUT

He did not agree with anything that might have been said on either side of the House that would tend to belittle the value of the lands. He produced a plan made by Hon. S. L. Howe twenty-three years ago, and said Mr. Pattullo had carried out the vision of that Point Grey pioneer.

Mr. Maitland said the government never contemplated annexation of the lands to the City of Vancouver, notwithstanding anything Mayor Malkin might have said.

"The opposition has forced the government to that position," commented Mr. Pattullo.

Mr. Maitland described A. M. Manson's speech as "good jury" stuff and stated he had a denial from Col. A. N. Daykin, the new administrator, that he had, like Major H. L. MacPherson, charged work done on other lands to Unit No. 3.

Mr. Maitland said the opposition had thrown out malicious innuendos of the government's intentions of which they knew nothing. It would be far better for them not to spoil the sale of the lands but to wait and judge by results. He also defended Hon. Joshua Hinchcliffe as a friend of the university.

MAY REVISE SCHOOLS ACT

Intimation Given By Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe to House Yesterday.

P.G.E. Annual Report and Government Auditors Report Given

Announcement by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, that the whole Public Schools Act will probably be revised shortly was made in the Legislature yesterday. His amending bill was in committee and his own alterations were so numerous as to lead A. M. Manson, K.C., to suggest that he withdraw the measure and bring it in anew.

Among the new amendments was the proposal to tax personal property situated outside of school districts. This, the minister said, would realize the $200,000 required for rebates of school taxes on farm lands.

Mr. Pattullo expressed astonishment at a Conservative government reviving the personal property tax after all it had said on the subject in recent years. He also asked why the clause was not in the original draft. Mr. Hinchliffe said no provision need be made for raising the money for the rebates this year, as no payments could be made this year, but it was finally decided to make the two amendments concurrently.

STEP BY STEP

L. A. Hanna suggested the Minister was nibbling at the Weir report, recommending a new school tax, and urged the Government to go the whole way by either taking over the schools or substantially increasing the grants for teachers' salaries. Mr. Hinchliffe said each step could be taken only as the money was found and he hoped by proceeding a step at a time to achieve the ultimate result desired by Mr. Hanna in a "painless manner."

REPORTS FILED

Hon. W. C. Shelly tabled his amendments to the taxation act, some amendments to the estimates and a copy of the audit report made by the Helliwell-MacLachlan Company. Premier Tolmie presented the annual report of the P.G.E.

Objection was taken that the delay in this latter matter deprived the public accounts committee of opportunity to inquire whether maintenance costs had been charged to capital, as currently reported. Col. Nelson Spencer, as a director of the P.G.E., denied the report, but Premier Tolmie said next year the report would come in earlier.

The P.G.E. report shows a net operating deficit of $55,844 for the year ending December 31, 1929, revenue being $561,274 and expenses $617,274.

The liabilities of the P.G.E. Company are given as $63,357,574, of which $61,458,034 is shown as investment in road and equipment. During the past year this item increased by $3,306,567, consisting chiefly of interest payments.

Direct advances by the government to the P.G.E. under loan acts total $29,237,050, of which $18,151,959 was in principal sums and $10,085,090 in accrued interest thereon. The remaining big item in the company's liabilities consists of the original guaranteed debentures and the accumulations of interest thereon.

CHEAP MONEY REASONS GIVEN

New York, March 20.—Dealing with the cheap money situation, with funds down to 2 per cent, and in some outside cases down to 1½ per cent. The World to-day states that the present degree of credit ease rests mainly on three factors, namely:

1. The release of funds by the stock panic and the decline of commodity prices.

2. The depression in business and the importation this year of approximately $160,000,000 in gold.

3. An evident disposition in the highest financial circles to contribute as far as possible to the picture of ease, whether to encourage business revival or to pave the way for flotation of foreign bonds.

NEWS WORSE, BUT STOCKS RISE

Professionals sold stocks freely in New York last week on the theory that the preceding advance had caused technical weakness.

They reasoned, moreover, that some additional liquidation might be forced, but because their selling manoeuvres did not bring out any real liquidation, the professionals have once more turned bullish.

In connection with the present market situation, there are two facts:

1. The news during February and March was much worse than in January, yet stock prices ruled substantially higher. This fact is evidence that the October-November liquidation fully discounted the worst of the business recession.

2. Money rates are now substantially lower than stock yields and long experience has proven that a bull market always develops from that condition.

CIVIL SERVANTS' DEBTS DISCUSSED

Some Seek Refuge Because of Garnishee Freedom, House Told

Attorney-General Pooley Promises Government Consideration

During the recess the government will consider whether it is necessary to bring down legislation which will lift civil servants from the class where their salaries are not subject to garnishee, Attorney-General Pooley told the Legislature last night.

The subject came before the House through an amendment on the order papers in the name of Frank M. MacPherson which was previously ruled out by H. D. Twigg when the bill was in committee on the grounds that a private member could not introduce anything affecting the revenue of the crown. The ruling was appealed and Mr. Speaker Jones said the appeal should have been made to the House. This course was followed. Mr. Twigg was sustained.

In the discussion it was alleged that there had been cases of government workers taking refuge behind the law which prevented their salaries being attached. Mr. Manson saw no reason why government workers should get special privileges in this respect.

Mr. Pooley said the government did not approve of a government worker taking refuge to evade just debts. Any official in his department doing so would promptly be called to time. Mr. Pattullo pointed out that dismissal of a man would not help the creditor. It also had to be borne in mind that there might be cases where a civil servant was in debt through unfortunate circumstances over which he had no control.

Daily Annoyance Troublesome Nights

AUDIT IS DENOUNCED BY LEADER

The report of Helliwell-McLachlan and Company, auditors employed by the Tolmie government at the time of taking over administration at a fee of $50,000 to audit the provincial books, was denounced in the Legislature this morning by T. D. Pattullo, opposition leader, as a partisan political report and not an audit.

Under the circumstances he criticized the government severely for tabling it so late that neither the House nor the public accounts committee could examine it in detail. It contained many partisan statements and many statesments reflecting profound ignorance of the subjects under discussion. Furthermore the auditors attempted to discuss public policy, he said, which was no part of the duty of an auditor.

Mr. Pattullo said it was scandalous that $50,000 of public moneys should be spent in preparation of a political report and that the document should be withheld for nearly a year during eight weeks of which the House was in session before its contents were made public.

NAVAL PARLEY AWAITS RETURN OF M. BRIAND

Much Hinges on Outcome of French Delegate's Conversation With His Premier

Paris, March 20.—Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister and head of the French delegation to the Naval Limitation Conference in London, arrived here to-night for a conference with Premier Tardieu.

REPORTS TOO NUMEROUS

London, March 20.—Premier MacDonald reiterated to the House of Commons this afternoon his declination to make any statement on the progress of the Naval Limitation Conference.

"No useful purpose would be served by any statement at this juncture," said the Prime Minister.

He added that members should not believe nine-tenths of what appeared in the public press.

ROME HEARS REPORT

Rome, March 20.—Latest information reaching official quarters here from London is to the effect that the United States, Great Britain and Japan have virtually concluded an agreement for naval reduction, while a plan for a naval holiday, acceptable to both France and Italy, is being studied, thus leading to hope the five powers can still agree.

SOON TO RETURN

London, March 20.—Aristide Briand, head of the French delegation to the Five-Power Naval Limitation Conference, left London this forenoon for Paris. His trip was understood to be for the purpose of consulting Premier Tardieu about the conference. He said he expected to return to England with M. Tardieu at the week-end.

Ambassador Morrow remained in his room with a slight cold. The conference advisers and many of the naval officers who are here planned trips into the country.

A United States spokesman smilingly summed up the situation for the Associated Press:

"Anyone who wants to to-day can walk up and down the corridors of the Ritz beating drums as loud as he desires."

SUGGESTIONS PREPARED

It is understood in conference circles that both the British and United States delegates hage prepared suggestions for possible solution of the Franco-Italian dispute. These may be contingent upon getting the two contestants to face each other across the conference table.

INTERPRETATION WANTED

London, March 20.—Naval Limitation Conference circles to-day wondered just what significance to attach to an obviously impromptu meeting of Premier MacDonald and the French Foreign Minister, Aristide Briand, at the Hotel Carlton yesterday evening.

At the conclusion of the conference, which lasted two and one-half hours, M. Briand, smiling and jovial, told newspapermen:

"We have been talking about means to bring the conference to a successful conclusion and we are going to apply those means as quickly as possible."

There were those, hearing M. Briand's words, who imputed to them prospective solution of the Franco-Italian naval ratio problem, one of three or so major problems which may bring disruption of the conference activities. Others recalling that the French idea of what would constitute conference success has always been at variance with that of Great Britain and the United States, were dubious.

Saanich—Improvement of East and West Saanich Roads, Verdier Avenue and more important classified highways.

HIGHWAY TRAVEL

Interesting figures were given by Mr. Lougheed in respect to the daily average of travel over different highways. These had been gathered through the government's survey of traffic, a system which was inaugurated in 1928. On Vancouver Island the average number of cars passing over highways in the vicinity of different points were: Courtenay 1,600; Nanaimo 1,500; at Goldstream in excess of 1,000; Colwood 2,000; Royal Oak, June 1,430, July 2,600, Autumn months 1,000; East Saanich Road 1,500; West Saanich Road 1,300. Lower Mainland—Woodward Highway, entering Vancouver via Eburne, 3,500 average for spring and summer; New Westminster Bridge 4,000 average; Pacific Highway, spring 3,000, summer 6,000, fall 4,000; McLellan Road in excess of 1,000; Langley Prairie 1,100; Pitt River Bridge 1,000; Dewdney 1,500; Cariboo Road (per week), spring 300, summer 750, fall 250.

Speaking of the Southern Transprovincial Highway, extending from Vancouver Island through to Alberta, the minister was enthusiastic. He dwelt upon the need for improving the road to give it greater value, and of developing it as a means of travel. The need for such work was evidenced in the manner in which many tourists entering from Alberta were now going down through the United States instead of continuing over the highway to the coast. By making it easy for them to travel, he said, the volume of traffic would be concentrated upon the highway stretching through the province. The wonderful natural resources, including minerals, farming lands and timber, in the southern section would attract investment as a result of being made more readily accessible to travelers.

LARGE REVENUES

Highway revenues were the second largest of any single service in the province, and, if continued, will within a short period of time be the largest source of revenue we have.

If based entirely on the average increase of British Columbia cars, as shown by yearly registrations, and taking into consideration no revenue from tourist use of the roads, the returns for 1935-36 would be at least $8,500,000, and by 1940-41, $8,500,000, declared the minister in giving further estimates of traffic development.

He then turned his attention to the tourist industry, which, he said, depended entirely upon transportation for its existence. This industry returned to British Columbia no less than $73,000,000 last year in direct expenditures. Every class of the community benefited, declared the minister, and he proceeded to analyze the tourist dollar. He said 42.5 cents went for food and lodging. This in turn benefited hotels, restaurants, rooming houses, apartment blocks and boarding houses, producers of food products, farmers and the other contributors to the requisites of catering. Retail stores obtained 39 cents from every dollar, in turn benefiting manufacturers of all classes. The balance of 18.5 cents went for entertainments and amusements, barbering and personal attention, repairs, local transportation and other such services.

RUSSIAN COAL FOR CANADA IS NOW DISCUSSED

Portland, Maine, and thence by rail to Montreal.

A Montreal dispatch yesterday said: "Approximately 2,500,000 tons of Russian anthracite coal will be shipped into Canada from Maripol, on the sea of Azov, by the P. P. Weaver Coal Company Limited of Montreal during the next ten weeks. Of that amount 140,000 tons have already been received, of which 80,000 tons reached Montreal and was re-shipped to inland points. Lowel S. Nickels, president of the company, stated to-day this year's allotment had been placed at 250,000 tons."

NO DUTY LEVIED

Ottawa, March 20.—No comment was forthcoming from government departments in respect to shipments to Canada of Russian anthracite coal. There is no tariff duty on anthracite coming into this country as the need for it is so pressing, particularly in central Canada. The Russian product will compete with coal from Pennsylvania, as does also anthracite from Wales.

J. W. ROBERTSON, LEADER OF BOY SCOUTS, DIES

Ottawa Citizen Prominent in Varied Fields Succumbs

Ottawa, March 20.—James Wilson Robertson, chief commissioner of the Boy Scouts' Association of Canada, died at his home here yesterday evening.

As a lad of eighteen, James Wilson Robertson born in Ayrshire, Scotland, came to Canada in the year 1875. With his parents he settled at "Maple Grove Farm," in Middlesex County, Ont.

He attended a winter session at Woodstock College, and for the next four years continued in the dairying business until the Ontario Government appointed him professor of dairying in the Guelph Agricultural College. From that point his life's work really began. In 1890, at the age of thirty-three, the Federal Government transferred him to Ottawa, as dairy commissioner and agriculturist at the Central Experimental Farm.

MACDONALD COLLEGE

In the autumn of 1904 Sir William Macdonald of Montreal provided funds to establish and endow a college for the training of teachers and other leaders. He entrusted the scheme to Dr. Robertson, and the Macdonald College at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., was founded, together with the Macdonald School for domestic science at Guelph, Ont. For some years Dr. Robertson acted as principal of Macdonald College, got it firmly on its feet, then started out along new paths.

This time it was the Conservation Commission that appealed to him. Then came technical education. As chairman of the Royal Commission on Industrial Training and Technical Education, he traveled throughout Canada and Europe investigating systems of instruction.

During the war years he was an active volunteer worker in many capacities, but chiefly in connection with the Red Cross Society.

MISSIONS TO EUROPE

He went to Europe three times on missions.

He accompanied Premier Sir Robert Borden to the Versailles Peace Conference as a special representative, and in Paris was appointed Canadian director of food supplies, with membership in the food section of the Supreme Economic Council.

From 1919 he was chief commissioner of the Boy Scouts' Association of Canada, and this, together with his manifold activities in connection with the Red Cross, engaged much of his time in later years. It was earlier in his career that he had been mainly responsible for establishing in Canada the Victorian Order of Nurses.

In 1905 King Edward VII had created him a Companion of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

Dr. Robertson married Jennie, daughter of John Mather of Ottawa, in 1896.

CONVENTION TWO YEARS HENCE

The hope was expressed that young Liberal clubs would co-operate on a national scale and that many new clubs would spring up. Two years from now it is planned to hold a convention of young Liberals in Ottawa at which the work of the organization to that date will be reviewed and plans for the future laid.

GREAT UNDERTAKING

"You young men and women have launched this evening a great undertaking in the establishment throughout our Dominion of a nation-wide association of 20th Century Club," Mr. King said. "No doubt you had in mind more than one idea when you chose the name of your association, the Twentieth Century Liberal Association. It was not alone that its membership would embrace the young men and women who were born in the present century and who will be entitled to exercise their franchise at the next general election.

"Without doubt you had in mind the saying that the 20th century belongs to Canada, and the association of that saying with the name most cherished of all in the history of Canadian Liberalism—Yes, and I believe the most cherished of all names in Canada today, the name of the Right Honorable Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who for over thirty years was the great and honored leader of the Liberal Party in this country. You have had in mind even more than that; you have had in mind a determination to do your part in bringing about the fulfillment of that prophecy."

CONTRAST SEEN

In defining the principles which inspire the Liberal and Conservative parties, Mr. King said the Liberal attitude, in contrast to the Conservative, was based on the belief that the general interest was superior to any special interest.

"Liberalism," he said, "is above all else identified with freedom and equality. It seeks to destroy the strength of privilege and the restraint which privilege for its ends imposes on those who are not permitted to share its rights and enjoy it as a deep-rooted Conservative idea that there is a superior class which may rightly, and, as Conservatives think, advantageously, exercise authority over others—the only class which, in their opinion, has a right to rule."

NO CHANCE NOW

He doubted, however, whether to-day Conservatism in its undiluted form would have the slightest chance for power. In recognition of that truth the Conservative Party had chosen the name Liberal-Conservative. "It is," Mr. King went on, "like that all-embracing phrase, the National Liberal-Conservative party, invented a few years ago as a sort of political umbrella, to keep under the one cover the various factions that had been created to enable the Conservatives, under various disguises, to gain power."

Touching then on the history of political controversies in Canada, the Prime Minister declared nearly all of what the people had come to understand by responsible government had been outstanding achievements of the Liberal Party.

In conclusion, Mr. King said:

"To you who, at the very threshold of your natural lives are dedicating your talents to the cause of freedom in the politics of our day, I can only say: Keep ever before you the true relation of the individual to the state. Believe in your heart of hearts that the larger freedom you desire for your country and those who, like yourselves, are its citizens, will be in proportion only to the freedom of which, in your own lives, you experience from all that tend to enthral or to shatter or distort the noble visions of the soul."

The toast of "The Liberal Party" was proposed by Jean Richard of Ottawa, speaking in French, and responded to by Mrs. Douglas Blair of Ottawa.

ORGANIZATION RESOLUTIONS

A resolution to form the Twentieth Century Liberal Association was proposed by Mrs. A. H. Lieff of Ottawa and Cutherbert Scott of Ottawa. Another resolution to form a women's branch was moved by Miss R. Hanna Stewart of Edmonton and Miss Oliver Wilson of Ottawa, daughter of the first woman Senator. Another, to form a men's branch, was moved by J. P. Naddeu of Saskatoon and Kenneth Christie of Toronto.

To Miss Odette Lapointe, daughter of Hon. Ernest Lapointe, fell the honor of introducing the Premier. Other young speakers were Miss Margaret Heenan, daughter of the Federal Minister of Labor, Miss Luette Valin of Ottawa, Edwin H. Charleson of Ottawa, Miss Catherine Attkin of Sherbrooke, Que., Allan Moore of Pickering, Ont., and Basil Scott of Ottawa.

TO BEAUTIFY THE CAPITAL

THE MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE IN charge of the Capital City Beautification Plan, of which Alderman Straith is chairman, has acted wisely in adding to its numbers. The proposal it has under consideration is an important one for Victoria, and as many points of view as possible should be brought to its deliberations.

Mayor Anscomb, who was on the original committee but recently withdrew, took up the matter personally with Premier Tolmie some months ago. We shall hope His Worship will reconsider his decision and join the committee. He is interested in the beautification of Victoria and has shown himself anxious to obtain the co-operation of the provincial government. His presence on the committee would appear to be almost necessary in view of the importance of the proposal.

The strengthening of the committee will be welcomed by Messrs. Hayward and Beatty, both of whom warmly supported the scheme in their reference to it in the Legislature, and it follows that they, too, would feel in a stronger position to use their influence with the government if the mayor, as chief magistrate of the capital city, also were an active member of the committee.

BLUFFING?

WHETHER THE ATTORNEY-general is a devotee of the interesting game of poker or not, we have no information, but his attitude in relation to the amendment to the succession duties act suggests that if he is, he is not a cautious player and is ready to indulge in the gentle but dangerous art of bluffing without any timorous hesitation.

Last session the Legislature adopted an amendment to this act which was destined to exempt estates up to twenty thousand dollars from the payment of succession duties, but the legislation was so ambiguously worded that when it went into practical operation it gave a much wider measure of exemption than it was intended to give, and the province lost a considerable amount of revenue. When this was drawn to the attention of the Attorney-General, he sent a letter to the agents of estates which had paid the duties, announcing that the act would be amended this session, that it would be retroactive, and, we understand, intimated that they would be held responsible for the payment of the amounts it was intended they should have paid under last year's legislation, and which would be required by this year's amendment.

The Attorney-General must have known, however, that nobody was bound by that notification, which had no legal force and therefore could not deter anybody from proceeding under the act as it stood up to the time of its present amendment. He could not guarantee that the Legislature would pass this amendment, since it was possible, if not at all probable, for the government of which he was a member to be defeated before the new legislation could be brought down.

No member of the government can lawfully commit the Legislature to a course of action in this way, and any attempt to collect the duties only now prescribed from estates which settled their liabilities under last year's legislation, even if it were physically possible to do so, would inevitably lead to the government's discomfiture in the courts. If Mr. Pooley were the whole Legislature, and so completely endowed with dictatorial authority that anything he said or wrote had the binding force of law, his notification might have had some effect. It would not be complimentary to him to imply that he does not realize all this, so we must come to the conclusion that he is bluffing—and on a weak hand at that. In this we admire his nerve more than we do his discretion.

What he ought to do is to move for the abolition of the duties altogether. Then there would be no occasion for ambiguous amendments or controversy.

VANCOUVER INQUISITIVE

THEY ARE GETTING CONCERNED about the price of bread in Vancouver. At Monday afternoon's meeting of the civic market, exhibition and industries committee, Alderman Warner Loat advocated government control of quality and price of the loaf as a remedy for meeting the disparity of bread prices between Canada and Great Britain. He and Alderman G. C. Miller have discovered that the retail price of a sixteen-ounce loaf in the Old Country is only about half the price of the Canadian sixteen-ounce loaf. They did not give this information to their colleagues as a new discovery, of course, since this condition is old news.

In the report submitted to the committee in question it was pointed out that "the comparatively low price in Great Britain is accounted for by the restrictions exercised by the government Food Control Board and also by the admixture of cheaper ingredients with the wheat flour in bread making." On the other hand, the report continues, "on this side of the Atlantic there is a growing tendency for the baking industry to pass into the control of the milling interests, with the result that the near monopoly thus created tends toward unreasonably high prices to the consumer." It was agreed by the committee, however, that action be deferred until it is in possession of more information regarding conditions in Canada and Great Britain as they relate to the bread making industry.

The result of the Vancouver body's inquiries will be awaited with interest. The consumers naturally want to be fair in the matter. What they want explained to them is why a sixteen-ounce loaf made with Canadian flour in Victoria, for instance, retails for ten cents, while a sixty-four ounce loaf made with Canadian flour in Great Britain retails over there for eighteen cents, or five and one-half cents per pound less than in Canada.

POOR STUFF

WHEN IT COMES TO PRACTICAL procedure in support of inter-empire trade, as instanced by the decision of the House of Commons not to abrogate the present trading arrangement with New Zealand, about the limit of Mr. Bennett's contribution to the argument is the suggestion that the government, in slightly changing its own motion in the matter, had voted non-confidence in itself.

The government had decided it would be an act of bad faith to break off abruptly an agreement with a sister Dominion; it then proposed a sub-amendment, in face of the familiar opposition argument about New Zealand butter and the dairy industry, calling for the early negotiation of a new treaty to replace the arrangement operating under an order-in-council, which extended the provisions of the Australian treaty so that they might apply to New Zealand. This carried by a vote of 95 to 57.

The attitude of the opposition toward empire trade has moved The Manitoba Free Press to quote from the speeches of two Conservatives, one Mr. Senn, member for Haldimand, the other Senator Willoughby, leader of the Conservative Party in the Upper House. Mr. Senn:

> I have always believed in trade within the empire. I cannot conceive of anything which will bind the different parts of the empire more closely together than mutual trade relations, but concessions in other markets than our own which are purchased at the expense of another industry in this country, and an important industry, may be bought too dearly.

Senator Willoughby:

> I have, in common with all other honorable members on this side of the House, the kindliest feelings towards the other parts of the empire, but when we make treaties, the interest of our own people should come first, and this is quite consistent with a spirit of goodwill. Let the representatives of other countries look after their own people.

Our Winnipeg contemporary makes note of these "fine, rolling, mellifluous utterances," which, being interpreted, mean: "Our idea of empire trade is that other parts of the empire should take our stuff, but that we should not permit the products of other parts of the empire to enter Canada if any Canadian finds the competition of these imports troublesome." In other words, the opposition party likes to talk about empire trade, but will countenance its practical operation only over its dead body.

A CALL TO VICTORIA

IF THERE IS ANYTHING IN THE axiom that as one community in British Columbia grows and flourishes, other communities are bound to feel a beneficial effect, Victoria should be able to congratulate Vancouver on the establishment in that city during the year 1929 of ninety-seven new industries, with thirty-four concerns increasing their equipment. To mark this highly satisfactory progress, the industrial department of the Board of Trade proposes to hold a special luncheon on March 27, at which the heads of these and other businesses will be the guests of honor.

It is an elementary truth that no community can stand still. It will either progress or slip back. It is for us in Victoria to recognize this. One of our pressing needs is the construction of the Ocean Highway. But unless we want it badly enough, unless we let the government know that we want it badly, we shall not get it. This is a question which should be studied by our young people who are settling themselves in Victoria as workers. Their future prosperity depends to a very large extent upon the development of that community spirit which has paid well in practice in other cities near us.

LEGIBLE LICENSE PLATES

The Brandon Sun

A dirty automobile license plate is the unneighborly and hit-and-run driver's best ally. The disagreeable possibilities inseparable from permitting evasion to be substituted for identification can be removed only by insisting that all license plates be kept clean and legible. A car without decipherable plates ought to be treated as a car with no plates, which virtually it is. The essence of such plates is legibility. A car whose plates are so covered with dust or caked with mud or otherwise obscured or defaced that their legend cannot be deciphered at a reasonable distance might as well carry no plates at all.

THE RUSSIAN QUESTION

The Manchester Guardian

The quiet and persuasive letter of the Premier, should help to clearer thinking on the subject of the Russian attack on religion. Everyone can see now, perhaps more clearly than a few weeks ago, how necessary it is to scrutinize carefully the campaign of protest and whither some of the campaigners would lead us. Some of the most active among them are the bitter political enemies of Russia, who would use any weapon to renew the breach which has been lately closed. Some have exploited the atrocity stories which are now admitted—if they are true at all, of which no evidence has been given—to date from the years of the civil war; "of course," says Bishop Nikolai blandly in a recent Morning Post—"of course the atrocities which he described were not of recent date."

Across the Bay

The word has gone forth through the most unofficial and reliable channels—we are about to end this session—we have recovered from our recent political dissipations—and we are, oh, so eager to help the government send us home.

By H. B. W.

THE GREATEST blunder one can make in dealing with this seventeenth Legislature is to underestimate its powers or recuperation. It had been wasting all its vital energies for five days in such a dissipation of words as few bodies politic could endure, when, of a sudden, it swore off this oratorical intemperance and settled down to stern business. This tremendous reformation was achieved on Wednesday and the House was so delighted with itself that it went to bed Wednesday night confident that it would sleep only two more nights in Victoria before going home.

* * *

YES, BY THAT mysterious means of unofficial communication between political parties which the innocent public knows nothing about, it has become known to the opposition leader that the Prime Minister would welcome prorogation by Saturday. At the same time, curiously enough, it has become known to the Prime Minister that the opposition leader would be delighted with the same result. Therefore, unless the faces of the gods be turned utterly against us, this second session of the Seventeenth Legislature will be well and truly over before the week-end.

* * *

OF COURSE, such things are not recognized in the constitution. Under the constitution this Legislature should be devoting as much argument to minor bills now as it did in the first part of February, and there should be no time limit on anything. Under the constitution this session should go on for another couple of months. Under the constitution we should all be dead before we could possibly pass the legislation now before us. But, thank heaven, who cares for the constitution at a time like this? The second session of the Seventeenth Legislature is dying, dying fast and hard, and it would take more than the constitution to save it for more than three more days. The word has gone forth. Not the Prime Minister and the leader of the opposition, but Dr. Tolmie of Saanich and Mr. Pattullo of Oak Bay, have agreed that it shall end, and the private members on both sides have said that this week-end is their limit. Therefore, earnest voter and kind reader, prepare to bid us all farewell.

* * *

WEDNESDAY WAS a heavy day, by far the heaviest of the session. It started at 10.30 a.m. and was still going strong close to midnight when this was written—three long sessions, each longer and harder than the preceding one. The morning dawned dark and stormy outside and darker and more stormy inside. It was Minister of Mines McKenzie's morning, and, as he had been home in bed for a week, he had come back fresh and full of fight. As has often been remarked here before, Minister of Mines McKenzie is the best rough-and-tumble fighter on the government side, a good man to throw into the thick of it when the battle is fiercest. In this case, the government used him to do the heavy fighting on the university question, which already had been debated for nearly twenty-four hours. Mr. McKenzie, fresh after his rest, waded into the university problem with thundering stride, as he waved his hands and snorted with rage at the opposition. As usual, he rained his blows right and left, and brought in many wholly delightful things which had nothing whatever to do with the questions at issue. Thus he talked for some time about a mysterious dozen bottles of beer in the powerhouse of the Parliament Buildings, but even this reference was no more out of order than many of the previous speeches on the university.

* * *

MR. IAN MACKENZIE followed the Minister of Mines in similar vein and renewed the old charge that the government is trying to play politics with the university. His was an able and eloquent speech, couched in flaming sentences and devoted to deploring partisanship in education.

* * *

MR. MAITLAND finally wound up the debate by replying to Mr. Mackenzie and issuing a magnificent invitation to the opposition to join hands with the government in the pursuit of higher education. Mr. Maitland was moving in this pious suggestion, but Mr. Pattullo's hearty laughter made some people think he did not take Mr. Maitland quite seriously.

* * *

AFTER THIS one long argument the House pulled itself together for a final burst of speed. By afternoon the opposition co-operated so loyally with the government in pressing forward legislation that Mr. Manson actually took charge of government bills, personally moved their adoption when ministers in charge seemed too slow and in several cases allowed acts to go through the procedure of three days in less than three minutes.

* * *

SO DELIGHTED was everyone with everyone else at this sudden prospect of prorogation by the week-end that Mr. Pattullo even went so far as to say to Mr. Hinchliffe, then piloting through a financial bill, that he should be Minister of Finance instead of Mr. Shelly. Mr. Hinchliffe replied that in the happy day, still far off, when party politics would be forgotten and a coalition government reigned, he would be glad to accept the finance portfolio. This Mr. Pattullo graciously interpreted to mean that Mr. Hinchliffe was inviting himself into the Pattullo Cabinet, to be formed two years hence. On the contrary, said Mr. Hinchliffe, he was inviting Mr. Pattullo into the Hinchliffe Cabinet.

* * *

THE GOVERNMENT felt so good over these and other pleasantries that it suddenly filed its special auditors' report, the P.G.E. report and other documents for which the opposition has been crying out so long in vain. And so, Mr. Speaker Jones having thrown the drugless healers' bill out on its ear, and the House having resolved to perpetuate itself for all generations by a photograph to be taken on the steps of the Parliament Buildings, we went to dinner in good spirits.

* * *

THE EVENING, however, destroyed the truth of much of the optimism which has gone before in this record. That is, instead of putting through legislation in great gobs, the House suddenly plunged into a protracted argument on the Medical Act. In the weeks of agitation over drugless healing, this question has become perhaps more interesting and more perplexing to the average member than any other in the session, and as it is a non-political subject, on which caucuses do not rule, every member must decide it for himself. To do this required hours of strenuous cogitation.

* * *

BUT THIS LEGISLATURE has softer moods. Member after member, hard-boiled in the ways of politics, rose to admit his faith in prayer as a means of healing the sick, and it was quite a revelation. Mr. Shelly found the going so easy with one of his financial bills that he actually moved that it be given final approval before it had received second reading, which, with us in this business, is like putting a car in gear before starting it. Even Mr. Shelly could not get away with that, though he was quite innocent and had merely made the wrong motion, for Mr. Pattullo promptly adjourned the debate and will have more to say later. So will numerous other members, and we shall require all our three sittings a day to get us out of here by Saturday.

How to Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength), at any first-class druggist's and apply it night and morning as directed, you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide, and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic cases of piles are often entirely absorbed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. McFarlane Drug Co. and Owl Drug Co. sell lots of it. (Advt.)

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, March 20, 1905

During the past few months quite a number of residences has been erected in the different residential localities of the city, but the total is but a minor consideration to what is expected later on. Building operations in Victoria will receive a notable impetus for the activity on the flats, where the half a million-dollar hotel superstructure will be in course of construction. Contractor Barrett, who will have charge of this undertaking, was in the city for a short time on Saturday afternoon, leaving in the evening for Seattle to arrange for the transportation of machinery.

Canadian steamboat men engaged in the Alaska business are looking forward to the time when the Jefferson, the crack liner of the Alaska Steamship Company meets the Princess May, the greyhound of the Skagway fleet. It is claimed that the Jefferson is running better now than when she entered the service last year, and as there have of late been reports of her fast voyage to Seattle, the racing spirit of these on the Princess May has been aroused. Of course, contests of this kind are forbidden in Canadian waters and are not countenanced by C.P.R. officials. But it is pretty safe to predict that the Jefferson will not be allowed to pass the Princess May if the latter has the power to prevent her from doing so, and local navigators believe that she has.

CENTENNIAL CHURCH SCENE OF WEDDING

Miss Jean C. MacKenzie Married Last Night to David Johnston

Centennial United Church was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday evening at 8 o'clock, when Rev. George Pringle united in marriage Jean Castle, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. MacKenzie of 1051 Oliver Street, to David Johnston, youngest son of Mrs. Johnston of Vancouver, and the late Mr. Johnston.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in her wedding gown of egg-shell crepe back satin, with slim bodice and full skirt falling to the ankles in graceful flares. Her veil of embroidered Brussel's net was confined to the head in cap fashion with orange blossoms, daintily attached to each side of the cap, and was held in place by a circular band of pearls. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and pale pink carnation with maidenhair fern.

Mrs. Alice Smith was the matron of honor, wearing a gown of peach flat crepe with long sleeves, the skirt falling to the ankles in graceful flares and uneven hemline. She wore a bandeau of gold leaves around her head.

Miss Alma Gurton, the only bridesmaid, wore a dress of apple green flat crepe similarly fashioned to that of the matron of honor, and in her hair a gold bandeau of leaves. Both attendants carried bouquets of pale pink carnations and maidenhair fern.

Little Miss Gladys Wilson made a dainty flower girl in a pretty frock of mauve crepe de Chine, with a bandeau of gold leaves around her head. She carried a basket of daffodils. Mr. Gordon MacKenzie, brother of the bride, was the groomsman, and the ushers were Messrs. Clarence Brynjolfson and Tom Mitchell.

During the signing of the register Mrs. J. A. B. Crawford sang "Until," accompanied by Mrs. Green at the organ.

Following the marriage service a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was attended by a large number of guests. The young couple were assisted in receiving their guests by Mrs. MacKenzie, mother of the bride, gowned in black crepe back satin, and Mrs. Johnston, mother of the groom, in navy blue crepe back satin.

The bridal table, on which a three-tier wedding cake held the place of honor, was prettily arranged with small narcissis and fern and long tapers of white tulle. The many beautiful gifts were on display and included a beautiful silver pyrex pie plate from the firm of David Spencer Limited, where the bride has been employed for a number of years, and a set of cutlery from W. R. Menzies and Company, former employer of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, motoring down to Seattle and Portland, and on their return will make their home in Point Grey, Vancouver.

The bride's going away costume was a beautiful rose velvet ensemble suit with rose beige hat. The out of town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Johnston Sr., Mrs. W. Johnston, Mr. R. Johnston, Mrs. F. G. West and daughter, Jean, all of Vancouver, B.C.

MANY GIFTS OF LINEN FOR ST. JOSEPH'S SHOWER

Over 1,060 Pieces and $140 Cash Donated Yesterday; Fine Musical Programme

Linen donations valued at about $600, made up of 1,060 pieces, including a bolt of sheeting, together with cash donations amounting to $140 rewarded the sponsors of the annual linen shower of St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday afternoon, held in the spacious reception room of the new nurses' home.

The Sister Superior welcomed the many visitors and was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Angus Campbell, Mrs. W. T. Barrett and Mrs. Walter Fraser. Mrs. Alex. McDermott, the general convener, was unable to be present owing to indisposition.

A delightful musical programme was given under the convenership of Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson, who herself contributed two songs, "At Dawning" and "Grey Days," Mme. Stavraov sang a Russian spring song, and "When Song Is Sweet"; Mrs. D. B. McConnan sang two numbers, "Thy Beaming Eyes" (Macdowall) and "The Cuckoo Clock" (Shaeffer); Mrs. J. C. Ciceri sang "The Star" (Rogers) and Coningsby Clarke's "Wind in the Corn"; Arthur Gore and S. J. Chiverall both contributed vocal numbers. Miss Eleanor Barfoot acted as accompanist for the singers with the exception of Mrs. C. E. Wilson, for whom her little daughter, Gloria Wilson, was an able and sympathetic accompanist.

A delicious tea was served at tables attractively arranged with daffodils and pussywillows, Mrs. T. S. McLaughlin and Mrs. H. S. Henderson being in charge of the arrangements. They were assisted in serving the many guests by sisters and nurses of the hospital.

FORBIDS WEDDING OF DAUGHTER

Nancy Miller's Husband Says Girl Must Marry Outside Caste

Indore, India, March 20.—Ex-Maharajah Holkar, who frequently stirred this city in the past, especially when he married Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, gave it another sensation yesterday by abruptly forbidding the marriage of a daughter by his first wife to a barrister named Matker.

Arrangements had been made to celebrate the marriage March 16, but the bride's father halted that plan. He said he had resolved to give his daughter to someone outside his caste in accordance with the doctrines of the ancient Mohammedan saint, Kabir, who tried to break down the caste barriers.

Having halted the intended marriage, the former ruler and his American wife, with their infant daughter, departed for a sojourn at Mussoirie.

The guests included Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Sir Herbert Samuel and other Liberal leaders, and with Mr. Snowden were several prominent Labor men. Sir Hugh Bell, the famous ironmaster, presided.

The possibility of taking joint Liberal and Labor action at the next election in resistance to the Conservative protectionist policy was discussed and a committee was appointed to consider methods of procedure.

Belmont Y.P.S. Irish Banquet

A very enjoyable time was spent on Monday evening by the members of the Young People's Society of Belmont United Church and their friends in a St. Patrick's banquet, with a very large number present. The tables were tastefully decorated with green and white streamers, shamrocks, green candles and daffodils and pussy willows. Miss Winnifred Chapman's group had charge of the banquet and was assisted by some of the members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church. After supper W. Cook, president, tendered a vote of thanks to those in charge, and Clifford Gaetz proposed a toast to the guests, to which the Rev. James Hood responded on behalf of the guests. A very amusing contest for the best Irish joke was won by Mrs. H. A. Andrews and Arthur Chapman. Solos were rendered by Mrs. Janes, who sang "Dear Little Shamrock," and also Miss Clareta Hick, who sang "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and "My Wild Irish Rose," which were very much enjoyed. Another Irish contest was won by Mrs. Butler and Miss L. Jones, after which Mrs. Andrews gave a very interesting talk on "St. Patrick." The banquet was brought to a close with community singing. The meeting next Monday will be in charge of group "C" under the leadership of Clifford Gaetz, and will take the form of a citizenship meeting, to which all young people are cordially invited.

LOCAL COUNCIL HONORS MEMORY OF FINE WOMAN

Tribute Paid to Late Agnes Deans Cameron at Tree-Planting Ceremony

Tribute to the memory of Agnes Deans Cameron, pioneer teacher and adventuress of this city, was paid at a tree-planting ceremony in Beacon Hill Park yesterday afternoon.

The ceremony was sponsored by the Local Council of Women and Miss S. R. Crease, president of the organization, officiated at the planting, depositing the soil around the tree, an Irish yew. Mrs. J. H. Gillespie, on behalf of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., also took part, paying tribute to Miss Cameron's work in connection with that organization and expressing the hope there would be instituted again an Agnes Deans Cameron chapter in the city.

MISS CAMERON'S HISTORY

B. C. Nicholas briefly reviewed the career of Miss Agnes Deans Cameron, first as a teacher and then as a journalist, author and lecturer.

Miss Cameron was a member of the teaching staff of the city for a quarter of a century or more, being engaged at the Central School, the High School, subsequently becoming principal of the South Park School, where she remained until she withdrew from the teaching profession to enter the field of journalism and literature, for which she was admirably adapted. While in this work she made a trip down the Mackenzie River to its mouth; later embodying her experiences in a book which found widespread popularity. Her talent as a writer and lecturer attracted the attention of the Dominion Government and she was sent to England by the immigration department in the interests of Canadian publicity.

When she passed away here she was on the threshold of a brilliant career. She was a woman of unusual intellectual power, said Mr. Nicholas, of marked strength of character and a commanding personality, all of which were lighted by a whimsical sense of humor which never was far away, even in her most serious moods. There was in her a splendid loyalty to the things she cherished most—her conviction, her country, her friends and always, her pupils, and this was equalled only by the fearlessness with which she championed any and all of these objects of her devotion.

REMARKABLE WOMAN

She was regarded by many people throughout the Dominion as one of the most remarkable women this country has ever produced.

But after all, the speaker believed, the sphere in which she exercised her most lasting influence was in the schools of this city. She was a great teacher and her greatness was attested by the vividness with which her personality and the things she taught were recalled by her former pupils over the years.

In this work she erected a monument more enduring than brass and stone. Victoria should be proud of its notable contribution to the womanhood of Canada.

CITY'S TRIBUTE

"The late Agnes Deans Cameron was held in the highest esteem by the citizens of Victoria, and the Local Council of Women could not commemorate her memory in a more fitting manner than by planting this small yew tree," declared Alderman J. A. Worthington, chairman of the parks board, who opened the proceedings.

"I would like to congratulate the Local Council of Women on the splendid work that it has done in the city of Victoria, and I trust it will continue this good work. His Worship the Mayor would have been pleased to participate, but, on account of business engagements out of town, he is unable to be present.

"I promise, as chairman of the Parks Board," Alderman Worthington concluded, "to see that the tree planted to-day is kept flournishing."

DARKY SKETCH GIVEN BY W.B.A.

A darky sketch entitled "Around the Cabin Door" was given in the K. of C. Hall, Government Street, on Monday evening under the auspices of the W.B.A., Queen Alexandra Review, and proved a novel and amusing entertainment. After the opening number by "Old Black Joe," the curtain parted, revealing a well-arranged group of darkies relaxing around the cabin door and realistic plantation scenes, dialogues, southern melodies, tap dances, acrobatic dances and also Irish songs and many witty sayings were enacted before an enthusiastic audience. Those taking part were: Old Black Joe, C. Gray; Aunt Jemima, Mrs. C. Parrott; Mammy, Mrs. L. Schmelz; Caroline, Mrs. H. Smith; who also acted as accompanist and sang "Mighty Lak a Rose" delightfully; Pickaninny, little Gwen. Peacock, who danced and "cartwheeled" impishly; Topsy, Marjorie Nott, who did some splendid acrobatic work; "Toff Niggah," Christine Schmelz; darky twins, Mrs. J. Hogg and Mrs. C. Gray, who sang "O Dem Golden Slippers" most amusingly; Uncle Tom, T. Scouler, who sang "Mother Machree"; Uncle Ned, V. Rolfe, who sang "Goin' Back to Dixie"; Rufus and Pete, L. Schmelz and C. Parrott, whose dialogue was full of humor; Rastus and Magnolius, P. George and J. Savident; Sambo and Bones, J. Entwisle and S. Peacock; Lulu, Mrs. J. Savident; Olive, Mrs. V. Rolfe.

The second half of the programme comprized vocal solos by W. Sneddon and Mr. Jackman, accompanied by Mrs. Sneddon, who also played for dancing after refreshments had been served by a committee under Mrs. Malcolm and Mrs. Davis. Miss A. Reid and Mrs. K. Schmelz, the general conveners, wish to thank all those who assisted in any way.

INDIAN WOMAN AS DISCOVERER OF YUKON GOLD

Kate Carmack Made First Find on Bonanza Creek, Says Carcross Woman

Carcross, Yukon Territory, March 20 (By the Canadian Press). — How the late George Carmack discovered gold on Bonanza Creek has been recounted many times, but, according to Mrs. John Williams of Carcross, the true story has never been told.

Mrs. Williams quotes Kate, the Indian wife of Carmack, as her authority.

"Kate was the real discoverer of the Yukon's gold," says Mrs. Williams. "But men never like to give, women credit for anything, and so George Carmack has always been regarded as the one who made the rich strike that placed $200,000,000 in circulation.

"It was while Carmack was on a fishing trip with his Indian wife, her brother, Skookum Jim, and Tagish Charlie, another Indian, that he camped on what became known as Bonanza Creek. While the men were away Kate dipped into the stream for a pan of water. It was in the sediment of the bottom of the pan that she discovered the flakes of gold. Carmack staked the claim and started the stampede, but it was Kate who made the find."

Although Kate died in poverty she managed to see some of the outside world while her husband lived. On a visit to Seattle she gained notoriety for chipping bits of wood from the doors of a hotel with a hatchet. When asked why she did this, she explained that she had been lost in the long corridors of the hotel and had determined to know her way in future and so, Indian fashion, had chipped the doors along the hallway to her room so that she would not forget the route from the staircase.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

DOES YOUR BABY USE THE "GRUNT-AND-POINT" LANGUAGE

At one year of age most babies have acquired about five words, usually Mama, Dada, Bye-bye, Baby and Kitty. These are built up from the early babble sounds with which all children begin the exercise of their vocal chords. Words develop through imitation and joy of making sounds which have such delightful results. When baby finds that saying "Mama" and "Dada" bring these two loving souls running at top speed to take him up and coo over him, there isn't a baby anywhere but will repeat the experiment endlessly.

After the first year the vocabulary develops rapidly. Some babies at one year have many, many words at their command, while we find children at eighteen months and two years who are still using four or five words and making them do triple duty.

If the family is large and talkative, or the mother just chattery, baby is discouraged about talking. His speech is taken out of his mouth, his needs interpreted, his commands fulfilled before he has time to manage the word that would convey his wants. He is talked to by the hour, so that he grows bored and confused and refuses to say a word in return.

PERMIT PLENTY OF ACTIVITY

Sometimes his low talking is just related to all the other physical activities which he is given no opportunity to develop. He is dressed, fed, penned in a high chair or carriage or crib for long hours. He has no chance to use hands, feet or arms as he might if given more freedom, nor is he stimulated by the change of surroundings and the different new objects with which the more active baby comes into hourly contact. His talking will be helped when he is put on the floor and allowed to move about freely, allowed to handle objects of all kinds and is given the name of each object repeatedly until he has a desire to speak the word.

Poor feeding, which causes poor nutrition, and consequently, tardy physical activity, will bring about the same results. In addition to opportunity we must manage to correct the diet and do away with physical weaknesses to which the mental are always so closely tied.

We must not overlook real backwardness nor deafness as contributing causes of slow speech. The child who is below normal mentally will not talk as soon as the bright child. If he cannot hear, he cannot imitate the sounds which develop his babble language into one with meaning.

Likewise we cannot expect some children to talk if, by howling and pointing, they accomplish the same results. There must be some use for words as well as just the joy of saying them, which seems enough for some children. If the mother finds that baby points and grunts and refuses to talk, she should be less agile about carrying out these perfunctory commands and wait questioningly for the word that expresses his needs.

B.C. ART GOING TO GERMANY

Thirty Paintings By John Innes to Be Shown at Leipsig

Vancouver, March 20.—Thirty paintings by John Innes, Vancouver artist, depicting the "Epic of Western Canada," will be shown at the World's Fur Congress and First Exposition of the International Fur Industry, Leipzig, Germany, from June to September.

Word of this honor for Mr. Innes was received here yesterday from P. J. Parker, general manager, Hudson's Bay Stores, Winnipeg. Mr. Parker stated that on instruction from Governor Sale of the Hudson's Bay Company, the group of paintings is being shipped from Montreal to Hamburg for transshipment to Leipzig at once.

This group was exhibited here in September, 1928, and later at Calgary and Winnipeg. Recently they have been on display at Montreal.

Alleges Radio Directions Tend To Spoil Music

That the radio system of supplying directions for listening to music had a stultifying effect on the listeners was one of the interesting criticisms made by Miss Pearl McDonald in her lecture on "Humor in Music," given before the Ladies' Musical Club at its March recital in the Crystal Garden yesterday afternoon.

The speaker observed that musical literature and commentators on music had adopted the practice of tacking on a title or story to musical compositions, instead of allowing the music to tell its own story. This meant that the listener approached the music with a story already in mind, thus preventing the fullest exercise of the listener's imagination in the interpretation of the composition.

Miss McDonald's analytical sketch was illustrated at the piano by Mrs. Verna Bissell Brooke, a gifted pianist, the various points chosen for illustration by well-known composers being: Musical slapstick, Niemann; practical joke, Haydn; comic character delineation, A. Strauss and B. MacDowell; children's subjects, Gossels; comic supplement, Carpenter; a take off, Chasin; parody, Ballantine; Scherzo (Sonata Op. 28), Beethoven.

Junior Orange Lodge.—Under the auspices of the Juvenile Orange Lodge, Pride of Victoria No. 55, a silver tea will be held on Saturday, March 22, in the Orange Hall, Courtney Street, from 3 to 5. There will be several musical selections, and a good turnout of L.O.B.A. and L.O.L. members is hoped for.

Heaton's orchestra has been engaged and the programme will include the very latest dance hits as well as some of the older favorites.

A series of attractive "turns" have been arranged and will include the following dances: Irish jig, Misses Pansy Dunnett, Georgie Roberts, Barrie Taylor and Thelma Stratford; Polish mazurka, Misses Phyllis Roberts and Dorothea Curtis; tap dances, Miss Georgina Dowdall.

Among the many guests who have announced their intention of attending are Mayor and Mrs. Herbert Anscomb and W. B. Lanigan.

A touching, human incident marked the proceedings in the intervention of four small school boys, who, after inquiring why the ceremony was being held, requested that they, too, be allowed to place some soil around the tree.

"Take off yer hat," said one eight-year-old lad to his companion when he learned of the nature of the ceremony.

It was the type of tribute which Miss Cameron herself would much have appreciated to the fullest.

Among those present at the ceremony, in addition to those speaking, were: W. G. Cameron and Miss Jessie Cameron, brother and sister of the late Agnes Deans Cameron; Mrs. W. G. Cameron, Mr. F. B. Pemberton, Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Price and Parks Superintendent T. R. Purdey.

RUDY VALLEE IS BEING LIONIZED

Popular "Jazz" Conductor Guest of Mrs. Hoover and Press Women

Washington, D.C., March 20.—The capital of the United States has been honored by a visit from one of the American phenomena—Rudy Vallee—a personable young man, ex-Harvard University, at present singing, conducting a jazz band and playing the saxophone. He played and sang for Mrs. Hoover at a luncheon at the Pan-American Union and in the evening did the same for members of the National Press Club and their guests to the number of a thousand. He was also kissed by at least one stenographer.

Mr. Vallee, whose rise to fame and fortune within short years is one of the remarkable things that are always occurring in this remarkable country, appeared in the flesh to be a tall, handsome fellow with a lot of unruly reddish hair hanging in curls on his forehead. While he stood before a microphone on the stage at the Press Club and in an extremely business-like fashion sang "I love you I love you, I love you," the crowd was a dozen deep at the platform's edge. Young ladies waved their hands and called to him, but with ardor Mr. Vallee continued to tell the microphone that this theme was the dream of his heart.

Having been thanked by Mrs. Hoover and having paid a flying visit to the House and Senate to see how the legislators were conducting the affairs of the country, Mr. Vallee and his orchestra were off again, leaving a void in the United States capital.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

THE faces will be familiar, but the livery in which seven major leaguers take the field for the opening of the 1930 baseball campaign less than a month away, will seem strange. Deals during the winter lull between the close of the 1929 season and start of the approaching one perhaps were fewer than in many previous years, but they provided gossip that served to arouse some interest and speculation as to their outcome. Waivers figured for the most part in the deals, with an outright purchase or two.

* * *

Dan Hawley, always known as a crafty dealer and trader in baseball players, displayed confidence in his selection of three athletes from the American League. According to his present plans, Howley will use Harry Hellmann, former Detroit slugger, and Bob Meusel, former running mate of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig with the New York Yankees, in the Cincinnati Reds' outfield. Dan also elected to pick off Leo Durocher, former Yankee infielder. Even if Leo doesn't cavort regularly for Howley, he'll be mighty handy in case of emergency.

* * *

Grover Cleveland Alexander again will be in the uniform of the Phillies, the team the old boy was with in the early stages of a remarkable career. Connie Mack, in retrieving his old catcher, Wally Schang, from the St. Louis Browns, evidently had in mind a nice comfortable home for the old receiver, who in return for the kindness will coach the young pitchers, and do duty in the bull pen, leaving the actual catching to the more agile Cochrane. The once colorful Adolfo Luque is with Brooklyn this year, but the Cuban will probably be seen mainly in relief roles.

* * *

In search of a third baseman, the Chicago Cubs concluded that Lester Bell of Boston could fill the bill. While they might have liked Pie Traynor, Freddy Lindstrom or Pinkie Whitney in preference to the Boston boy, Bell was purchased at a reasonable price. The Pittsburgh Pirates, New York Giants or Phillies, would not have parted with their star third basemen for less than William Wrigley's entire bank roll, inasmuch as each have hopes of dethroning the Cubs from the peak of the National League.

* * *

For a time indications were that some real unlooked-for transactions would be brought to light, but they soon faded and died out completely. It looked as if Waite Hoyt, Yankee star, might become a member of some other American League mound staff, while rumors circulated to the effect that Goose Goslin, of Washington, and Fat Fothergill of Detroit, both great batsmen, would become members of other clubs. As soon as it became definitely established that Dazzy Vance had to submit to a cut in salary, rumors flew thick and fast that the Brooklyn speedball artist would figure in a big deal, possibly with the Cubs. A misunderstanding between Burleigh Grimes and Jewel Ens late last season gave belief that the Pittsburgh star would go to another club. But no excitement came. Vance submitted to the salary cut. So far as is known Grimes and Ens have never come to a full understanding. Anyhow Burleigh continues to hold out.

While American Bowling Congress rules forbid smoking by the bowlers in the big tournament, lucky strikes are in evidence on every one of the thirty-two alleys.

* * *

The bowling tournament, unlike these heavyweight boxing tournaments, is one instance where they pay a man for calling fouls.

* * *

Still, an A.B.C. tournament is quite an important affair. Every game bowled goes down in the Congressional Record.

* * *

The bowlers don their silks at the paddock; they parade to the post; but one thing missing is the little booth where a fellow can lay down his two-dollar bet.

"There were only three 'impossible persons' among the 22,000 at the Miami scrap," said Tom Webster, noted English cartoonist. "One was Sharkey, another Scott, and the third Magnolia."

Stanley Cup Series Opens To-night With Two Games On Card

Boston and Montreal Maroons Clash at Canadian City in First of Best Three Out of Five Series; Ottawa and Rangers, Third Place Winners, Open Series at Ottawa; Canadiens and Chicago Blacks, Winners of Second Places, Start Play-offs Sunday at Chicago.

Canadian Press

New York, March 20.—The opening clashes of a series of not more than fifteen games, which mark the most important part of the year for the teams of the National Hockey League, take place in Montreal and Ottawa to-night. Those games are the play-off contests for the Stanley Cup, emblematic of the world's professional championship and the 220 struggles of the regular season serve only to eliminate four of the league's ten teams.

At Montreal, the Maarons, who finished first in the international group, meet the present holders of the trophy, the Boston Bruins, in the first of a series of the best three out of five games.

At Ottawa, the Senators of the international group, meet the New York Rangers for the start of the series between the teams which finished third in the two divisions.

These rivals play but two games with the total goals deciding the issue. The second will be in New York Sunday.

WAIT FOR A WHILE

The second place, Les Canadiens of Montreal and the Chicago Black Hawks had to postpone the start of their two-game series until the Maroons and Boston complete their two contests on the Montreal Forum ice. They will play in Chicago Sunday and in Montreal Wednesday. The winners of the second and third place play-offs will clash later in the best two out of three games for the right to meet the winner of the duel between the leaders in a final three-game series for the Stanley Cup.

Gregalach Now Being Guarded By Policemen

London, March 20.—The amazing train of events which has marked the preparations for the Grand National Steeplechase, to be run at Aintree March 28, have reached their culmination in police protection for Gregalach, last year's winner and former favorite, which now is fourth in the betting.

Due to rumors of foul play and a poor showing in a trial race Saturday, Mrs. M. A. Gemmell, Gregalach's owner, invoked police protection and the horse now is guarded day and night.

Wantage, Eng., March 20.—Jack Anthony, to-day said Easter Hero, J. H. Whitney's noted steeplechaser, was a certain runner for the Grand National on March 28.

MAY TULLY SHIELD WON BY OAK BAY

Hold Victoria High Girls Grass Hockey Team to Draw in Second Game

Won First Contest By 3-1 Score; Special Elimination Series to Be Held

Holding the Victoria High School girls' grass hockey team to a 1-1 tie at the Cranmore Road grounds yesterday afternoon the Oak Bay High School team captured the May Tully Shield, which they will hold for the next twelve months. In the first of the two-game series the Oak Bay girls won 3-1 and the V.H.S. representatives needed a win yesterday to tie up the series.

Yesterday's game was close and hard-fought. Lack of shooting ability lois the Victoria team the game as they had the ball in their opponent's half the greater part of the time. Jane McIlmoyl scored the lone goal for Oak Bay High, while Evelyn Schofield netted the ball for Victoria.

Miss Miller refereed.

The teams were as follows:

Oak Bay High—J. McIlmoyl, E. Lytten P. Thornton, R Holden, A. Bucklin, J. Groos, P. Horne, E. Heirin, C. Partridge, G. Downes and J. Adams.

Victoria High—P. Gibbs, L. Lanchick, O. Peetz, I. Waters, A. Roe, M. Schofield, E. Schofield, H. Beek, J. Gibson, E. Johnson and C. Torrence.

SPECIAL SERIES

A special elimination series has been arranged with the teams from Victoria High, Victoria College and Oak Bay High contending. Victoria High and the College will meet on Saturday, the winner to meet the Oak Bay girls next Wednesday. The winner of this series will stack up against an all-star team from Vancouver in a game to be played here.

Eddie Herman And Wallace Battle To A Four-round Draw

Seattle, March 20.—Eddie Herman of Seattle and Gordon Wallace, Vancouver, B.C., lightweights, fought to a four-round draw in the final bout of a seven-card boxing show yesterday evening. Both boxers were satisfied to pile up their points on jabs and pokes, and little damage was done.

Billy Beals, Everett welterweight, won the decision over Billy Wells of Seattle. It was a slugging match from start to finish, with Beals having the edge.

Mike Griffo and K.O. Weeks, Seattle welterweights, fought four rounds to a draw; Natie Brown, New York heavyweight, defeated Al Morris, Snohomish; K.O. White, Seattle, negro light-heavyweight, and Tom Moore of Los Angeles drew; Billy Jones of Renton knocked out Bud Henry, Seattle bantam, in the fourth round, and Mickey Fannin, sailor junior welterweight, beat Jack Sweeney, Seattle.

Ottawa Junior Hockey Team In Close Victory

Ottawa, March 20.—Ottawa Rideaus have a one-goal lead to carry into the final game of their home-and-home series with West Toronto for the junior hockey championship of eastern Canada. In a thrilling tilt here yesterday evening the young Ottawans scored a 4-3 victory over the flaming red-sweatered crew from the Queen City, mainly through their superior speed and the sensational playing of Ernie Butterworth at centre ice.

Far lighter in weight than any of the players he was opposing, Butterworth flashed through the West Enders seemingly at will to score all of the goals for the homesters.

The final contest of the two-game series will be played in Toronto, Saturday.

NAVY DEFEATS A WEAKENED SAANICH TEAM

Score 3-2 Victory in Only Wednesday League Soccer Match Yesterday

United Puts up Great Fight Against Leaders With Short Handed Team

Although they were forced to play throughout the first half with only nine men, and in the second half with ten, Saanich United put up a great fight in their Wednesday League soccer match against the Navy yesterday afternoon at Beacon Hill. The league leaders won out 3-2, due to the fact that they scored all their goals when Saanich were two men short. This was the only game played yesterday, as in the second scheduled match Batchelors defaulted to the Hudson's Bay, owing to the fact they were unable to field a team.

Kicking with the slope in the first half, the Navy had things pretty much their own way. Shortly after the start Putland netted the winner's first goal, following a concentrated attack on the Saanich goal. The Saanich eleven took up the attack and managed to tie the score. Tooby scoring a pretty goal from left wing. The Navy forced the play and Spriddell put them in the lead again when he scored on a rebound.

SCORE THEIR GOAL

Five minutes before half-time the Navy obtained their third and final counter, Putland shooting his second goal of the match.

In the second half, playing with ten men and the wind and slope in their favor, Saanich had an edge on the play, but were only able to score one more goal, Tooby beating Barr for his second counter.

McKay refereed.

The teams were as follows:

Saanich United. — Matthews, Barnswell, Wyatt, Henderson, Moir, Stonier, Tourigney, Hawkes, Gaunt, Davidson and Tooby.

Navy.—Barr, Welters, A. Plummer, T. Watt, Wells, Whyte, Walker, Johnson, Spriddell, Grierson and Putland.

King of Spain Trophy Won By Atlantic Craft

San Pedro, Calif., March 20.—The King of Spain Trophy, national mid-winter regatta prize for eight-metre sloops, to-day is in the possession of Lewis Luckenbach's Marin, lone Atlantic seaboard entry in the feature race of the five-day classic.

Under the colors of the Manhasset Bay Yacht Club, New York, the Marin sailed to its third first place in the trophy contest off Point Firmin to beat off the threat of the Angelita, representing the California Yacht Club, Los Angeles, and wrest the replica of the Santa Maria from the possession of a Pacific coast craft.

SHIRES SAYS HE WILL NOT PLAY FOR SOX

Art Declares He Will Never Again Play With Chicago Team; to Be Semi-Pro

Owner of Sox Asks For Information on Art's Ring Activities and He Balks

Dallas, Texas, March 20.—Declaring he was "sick of being bulldozed" by Charles Comiskey, Chicago White Sox owner, Art Shires, erstwhile first baseman, has announced that he never again will play with the team.

In a telephone conversation yesterday evening from his home in Italy, Texas, "Art the Great" admitted he had received a telegram from Comiskey asking him "while participating in the fight ring, who suspended you and who produced the evidence that caused the re-instatement?"

"The boxing commissions have records of this," Shires declared. "But I am not a bureau of information for Comiskey or anyone else. If Comiskey wants to know anything about the fight racket, let him go to the boxing commissions. They have all the dope. I wasn't guilty of any wrong doing."

He said he was going to ask the White Sox to place him on the voluntarily retired list. He then planned to proceed with other plans, probably to play semi-professional ball, in which he believed he could make more money than the Chicago club offered him.

Shires has been classed as a holdout since he failed to sign the first and only contract tendered him by the Sox management.

WINS DECISION

Oakland, Cal., March 20. — Gene O'Grady, a young light-heavyweight from Ashland, Ore., won a ten-round decision over Jack Linkhorn of Modesto here yesterday evening. O'Grady weighed 172½ to 177 pounds for his opponent.

ENGLISH SHOTS TO COMPETE AT CANADIAN MEET

Fifty Riflemen From Great Britain Coming For D.R.A. Competition

Canadian Association Will Not Change Bull's Eye; Annual Meeting Opens

Ottawa, March 20.—A team of fifty English riflemen is expected to visit Canada this August to compete in the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association matches at Connaught Ranges. The team will be composed of competitors at the Bisley meet who can arrange to make the trip to Canada at their own expense.

At the last D.R.A. meet a number of cadets from the English public schools, members of the officers training corps competed in the matches. A similar representation from the O.T.C. is expected this year. These announcements were made at the annual meeting of the D.C.R.A. which opened here yesterday.

Another announcement that is of great interest to riflemen was that the Canadian association is not inclined to follow the lead of the British organization known as the National Rifle Association, and make the bull's-eyes smaller. The present diameter of the bull's-eyes are: Six inches at 200 yards; nine inches at 300 yards; eighteen inches at 500 and 600 yards and thirty-six inches at 800 and 900 yards.

The annual meeting yesterday brought riflemen here from all parts of Canada. The report of the council showed that the shooting meet of 1929 had been the most successful in many years. The success of the Canadian team which competed at Bisley last summer was also commented upon.

Two Members Of U.B.C. Crew Are Injured in Crash

Vancouver, March 20.—W. Wilson and F. Fridleifson, two members of the eight-oared crew of the University of British Columbia, were severely injured in an automobile accident here yesterday. Both athletes were knocked unconscious when the car in which they were riding crashed into another automobile. They recovered consciousness in hospital an hour later, but will be unable to leave that institution for some time.

Both Wilson and Fridleifson were members of the crew that is to take part in the intercollegiate regatta at Seattle next Saturday, and their loss is a severe blow to the local university's chances of victory.

Belanger Wins Unpopular Call

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 20.—Charlie Belanger, Canadian light-heavyweight champion, received an unpopular decision over Joe (Bayovic) Boland in a ten-round bout here yesterday evening.

Defeat Ports 3-1 In Opening Battle Of Western Finals

Appear Headed for Allan Cup Final Following Brilliant Victory Over Port Arthur in First Game for Western Championship; Cautious Play and Co-operation Win for British Columbia Champions; Thirty-eight-year-old Carl Kendall Brains of Trail's Offensive.

Canadian Press

Port Arthur, Ont., March 20.—Dismal and forbidding, a new cloud hung to-day over Port Arthur's hopes for a fourth Canadian amateur hockey title. As sudden as a Chinook wind from over the Rockies the unexpected threat loomed up yesterday evening when the Trail Smoke Easters from far-away British Columbia, trounced the Dominion champions, 3-1, in the first game of a series of two for the honors in the west.

The same team that was swept aside twelve months ago by the thundering herd from Thunder Bay tamed the Lake Head speedsters with wily system. Flashing speed and individual excellence which characterized the play of the Ports went almost for naught. By cautious care and studied co-operation triumph came to the toilers from "up on the hill" at Trail.

Never before has a British Columbia team traveled so far east in the Allan Cup play down. But the Trail youngsters, marshaled by the thirty-eight-year-old veteran, Carl Kendall, are determined to press eastward to the Canadaian finals and maybe to victory.

In each of the last four years they have gained the British Columbia championship. Thrice in that time they have reached the western final.

GOALIE COLLAPSES

Virtual collapse of Gordon Hacquoil, kid goalie for Port Arthur, after two periods of torrid play before 3,500 maddened fans, threatened to bring one-sided defeat to the champions, but young Alf Dupuis, sub-net man, came throught like a master in the final session. Hacquoil suffered a nervous breakdown, but is expected to be back in the line-up for the second game on Friday.

By addition of Gus Gustason, regular ring-winger, to the front line, Trail is expected to be more powerful on the attack in the second game. Gustason has been out of the last three contests due to an injured shoulder.

A substitute forward, "Dub" Mackie, slapped in the two of Trail's counters in yesterday evening's game. One came on a low drive from out on right wing, the other on a pass from his brother, Art.

"Big boy" Houbregs, 190-pound defence man, lined in the westerners' third tally. Port Arthur's lone score was credited to Frank Hacquoil, hardy defence star, on a rebound.

BRAINY VETERAN

Kendall, playing mentor of the British Columbia lads, proved the brains of the victors. Slow and colorless, the thirty-eight-year-old carpenter nevertheless, made play for his mates; moreover, he directed the movements of his henchmen in such a way that they allowed the harassed Ports but little chance of regaining any lost advantage. With "Dud" Mackie, little Mickey Brennen and Ourley Wheatley were the best of the forwards.

Rarely during the game did the champions show the class that carried them into the western final. Disorganized by close checking, the Ports were unable to break away except in individual spurts.

Frank Hacquoil and "Phat" Wilson, veteran members of the lakehead squad, led the most dangerous thrusts into Trail territory.

HOPE FOR RALLY

Downhearted in defeat, the Port Arthur fans who packed the lakehead rink to the doors, looked back on last year's records in their hope for final victory for their favorites. Twelve months back, when Trail and Port Arthur were battling for western laurels, the smeltermen gained a 6-1 verdict in the first game—later thrown out—of a two-tilt clash. But the Ports snapped back in the second encounter with a 6-0 win and marched on to their third Allan Cup triumph.

In order to qualify for the Allan Cup finals at Toronto next week, the Port Arthur sextette must set up a margin of at least three goals in the second contest of the western series here on Friday night. They made hockey history by taking three Allan Cups in five years—but this year they must stage a marvel rally to gain a position where they may hope for a fourth Canadian title in half a dozen years.

THE LINE-UPS

Trail.—Garland, Houbregs, Reddick, Kendall, H. Azzard and Brennan.

Port Arthur.—G. Hacquoil, Wilson, F. Hacquoil, Friday, McCranor and Hall.

Trail subs.—A. Mackie, D. Mackie and Bates.

Referee.—Ted Bondal, Winnipeg.

SUMMARY

First period.—1, Trail, D. Mackie, 6.36. Penalties, Houbregs.

Second period.—2, Port Arthur, F. Hacquoil (McCranor); 3, Trail, D. Mackie (A. Mackie), 19.15. Penalties, none.

Third period—4, Trail, Houbregs, 4.50. Penalties, none.

TWO CANADIAN TRACK MARKS ARE BROKEN

Stella Walsh and Dr. Paul Martin Hang Up New Dominion Records

Phil Edwards Wins 800-Yard Special Run; U.S. Team Wins Relay Event

Hamilton, Ont., March 20.—Canadian and United States track luminaries lived up to expectations before 4,500 spectators that jammed the Armories here yesterday evening for the eleventh annual track meet of the Ninety-First Highlanders' Athletic Association.

Stella Walsh, Cleveland, latest of the girl sprint marvels, added another to her record-breaking performance when she romped off with the sixty-yard open dash for girls and set a new Canadian mark of seven seconds flat. She clipped one-fifth of a second from the previous mark.

Matching her skill at smashing Canadian marks, Dr. Paul Martin, of Switzerland, lowered the Dominion time of 2.19 for the thousand-yard run special by a second and one-fifth. He was clocked in 2.17 4-5.

EDWARDS WINS

Phil Edwards, former New York University star, running under the colors of the Hamilton club, finished ahead of Percy Pickard and a field of six others to capture the 880-yard special run.

Edwards was also anchor man in the international mile relay, composed of teams representing Notre Dame University, New York University and Ontario. When Fitzpatrick and Jones fumbled the baton the Ontario team was left hopelessly behind, but mainly due to Edwards's burst of speed the Canadian entry nosed out Notre Dame for second place.

Stella Walsh had no difficulty in capturing her heat and the final in the sixty-yard event for girls. Trailing here were Kay Griffiths and Jane Bell, both of Toronto.

Peggy Pollard And J. Cameron Win Handicaps

Jamie Cameron and Peggy Pollard took first honors in the handicap swims held by the Crystal Garden Swimming Club at the pool yesterday evening.

Cameron took first place in the men's fifty yard freestyle handicap and placed third in the plunge. W. T. M. Barrett won the latter event.

Results follow:

Fifty-yard handicap (women)—1, Peggy Pollard; 2, Marguerite Pinder; 3, Betty Pollard.

Fifty-yard handcap (men)—1, J. Cameron; 2, T. Slingsby; 3, A. Garnot.

Plunge for distance—1, W. T. M. Barrett; 2, Ted Slingsby; 3, J. Cameron.

Montreal A.A.A. Reaches Finals In Hockey Series

Montreal, March 20.—Montreal Amateur Athletic Association's senior hockey squad will play the Hamilton Tigers in the eastern final of the Allan Cup as a result of the 1-0 defeat the Wheelers administered to the Truro Bearcats, Maritime titleholders, here yesterday evening. The Montreal squad took the round 3-0, having defeated the Cats here 2-0 on Monday night in the first contest of a two-game series.

North Saanich Captures Third Division Badminton Title

Take Honors When J. B. A. A. Spring Surprise of Year

Rowing Club Badminton Players Provide Season's Upset by Holding Emmanuel Baptists to 8-8 Draw; Baptists Were Topheavy Favorites to Win; Much Excitement Result of Match Hinges on Final Game.

J.B.A.A., cellar occupants in the Third Division of the Lower Island Badminton League for nearly the whole season, yesterday evening uncorked the biggest surprise of the badminton year by obtaining a draw with the Emmanuel Baptists in the last match of the season played at the Gorge home of the rowing club, thus giving the championship to the North Saanich club.

The match, one of the most exciting of the schedule, was bitterly contested by both sides. J.B.A.A., starting the season with over half of their team playing the game for the first year, took many defeats week after week until they were hopelessly submerged in the cellar. However, their performance in the latter half of the schedule is a good indication that they will be well up next year.

The Baptists, tied with North Saanich, upon commencing the match, were extremely nervous. J.B.A.A. having nothing to lose, battled without a worry until they suddenly saw their victories keep pace with those of the churchmen, and then obtain a one game lead with five matches to play. Then they cracked and the Baptists tied the count and went ahead on the thirteenth match to lead 7-16, three fixtures left. Another close match netted the Baptists another point to give them at least a draw. The deciding match started supporters of both teams watching the match with great interest. A win for the Baptists meant the match and the title, while a loss meant them finishing in second place one point behind the North Saanich Club. The players in the last match were Mrs. Thomas and Terry Peers of the J.B.A.A., opposing Mr. and Mrs. Erickson. Mrs. Erickson stood out in this match, but could not prevent Peers from smashing the shuttle to all parts of the court to win by a wide margin.

Baptists with four straight wins in the women's doubles looked like sure winners, but they failed to secure an even break in the men's division, and the J.B.A.A. regained some lost ground by winning three of the doubles.

The Baptists' single win in the men's doubles was perhaps one of the most interesting matches of the evening. Main and Smith secured an early lead, while the J.B.A.A. players, Peers and Temple, could not find the range, and were down a long way before securing their first point. Slowly they overhauled the Baptists stars until the score was tied near the end, but the J.B.A.A. men with golden opportunities for a win, could not make the grade, and the score ended 17-16. The J.B.A.A. made up the lost ground by winning five of the eight mixed doubles to obtain their eighth win and even the score at 8-8.

WERE HIGHLY FAVORED

Arrangements had been made to hold a play-off at the Willows on Friday night, as it was predicted that the Baptists would win yesterday evening's fixture. North Saanich and the Baptists dominated the third division from the very start of the season, and neither lost a match until their tenth game. North Saanich was first to lose, but Baptists lost their first game shortly after and, curiously, both lost to the Garrison. North Saanich have seventeen wins, one draw and two defeats, while the Baptists record is sixteen wins, two draws and two defeats.

The scores follow with the Baptists players mentioned first:

City Champions to Defend Provincial Honors

Victoria College's undefeated intermediate rugby team which will meet Ex-Magee, Vancouver titleholders, in a sudden death final for the provincial championship at the Willows at 3.15 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. The team has completed its schedule without a reverse. Last year the College also went through the series with a similar record and completed the championship match with a clean slate. Whether or not they will be able to hold the Ex-Magee team is a question. The Vancouver boys are reported to be of considerable strength and will doubtless give the locals a good battle. Those in the above picture, reading from left to right, follow: Back row, Paul Sprinkling, Ray Grant, Jack Rutton, Edmund Senkler, John Stark, Bill White and Bill Boorman; Centre row, Larry Kennedy, Des. Patterson, Essen Young, Dave Ellis (captain), Paddy Walton, Ted Robinson and "Chuck" Hayward; front row, R. Knight, "Chuck" Copeland and Frank Waites.

ORGANIZE FISH AND GAME BODY

Protective Association Formed at Ottawa Gathering; Officers Elected

Ottawa, Ont., March 20.—With a view to organizing persons interested in the protection of fish and game on a Dominion-wide scale a conference was held here yesterday, attended by representatives of fish and game clubs in every province.

The new organization is to be called the Dominion of Canada Fish and Game Protective Association. Its purpose is to co-ordinate work being carried on by provincial associations, assist these associations in getting on their feet where they are encountering difficulties and do away with certain conflict between the game laws of different provinces which now exist.

C. A. Hayden of Calgary, Alta., presided at the organization meeting. He outlined the work done by Alberta sportsmen and predicted as a result of it Alberta would in a few years be one of the finest sporting centres in the world.

OFFICERS ELECTED

In addition to Mr. Hayden of Calgary, who is the association's first president, other officers elected were: Vice-president, A. G. McAvity, St. John, N.B.; secretary, John S. Hall, Montreal; treasurer, C. R. Rolland Montreal; assistant secretary, Gier Wyld, Ottawa.

Directors include: H. G. Moncrieff, for Manitoba; R. A. Wilson, for Saskatchewan; Dr. P. D. MacSweeny, for British Columbia; Grier Wyld, for Northwest Territories; C. M. Rolland, for the Yukon.

TRAINING GOSSIP

Outfielder Alex. Metzler, the last of the Chicago White Sox holdouts, has agreed to his contract terms and is on his way to camp.

The Cleveland Indians at New Orleans are willing to trade Outfielder Eddie Morgan, but not for Nat Spencer, Washington's holdout catcher, as was rumored in the Nats' camp. Cleveland would like to have Irving Hadley, Washington right-hander, or Alph Kreis, St. Louis shortstop, but admit there isn't much chance to get either.

Bob Shawkey, manager of the New York Yankees, now at St. Petersburg, Fla., agrees with most baseball fans that the American League pennant lies between his team and the Philadelphia Athletics, and Bob the gob is not inclined to rate his team second.

Making some unofficial predictions yesterday, Shawkey rated the Yanks and A.'s on even terms.

Wrestler Kicks And Crowd Riots At Portland Show

Portland, Ore., March 20.—Yesterday evening's wrestling card ended in an uproar, and police were on the alert for trouble when Al. Karasick, Portland, was declared winner on a foul over Leo Papaino, Los Angeles, in the main event. The Californian incurred the crowd's wrath when he knocked Karasick to the floor, then kicked him in the face.

Karasick, who weighed in at 175 pounds, took the first fall in eighteen minutes and five seconds, with a flying headlock; and Papaino, 185, won the second in eight minutes and fifteen seconds with a body slam.

They wrestled for about ten minutes in the third period when Papaino unexpectedly adopted pugilistic tactics and floored the Russian. The referee intervened, awarding Karasick the match, but not before Papaino had used his feet to good effect with the Portlander's face as his target.

FORWARD PASS WILL REMAIN

Four Western Unions Expected to Retain Old Code in Canadian Rugby

Calgary, Alta., March 20.—W. L. "Squib" Ross, Calgary, president of the Western Canada Rugby Football Union, is only waiting for the directions from the four western unions before taking up the forward pass question with Professor Hardy, Saskatoon, president of the Western Intercollegiate Union.

Interviewed yesterday President Ross stated that it had been suggested that he confer with Professor Hardy in Regina, but he was unable to make the trip to the Saskatchewan capital.

Dealing with the forward pass Mr. Ross stated that he was waiting for official word from the four western unions regarding the rules under which they wished to play the forward pass, before calling a meeting and drafting the rules.

"The forward pass will undoubtedly stay in the western code," he said. "It is just a matter of the four unions either favoring the pass allowed from goal line to goal line or to the defending side's twenty-five-yard line as it was played last year. The present sentiment seems to favor the completion of the pass or the ball brought back."

BOWLING

Crashing the maples for a total of 3,305 pins the Huskies' fivepin team set a new three-game aggregate record at the Arcade Alleys yesterday evening. Each club has one more match to play and both are expected to win, which will necessitate a play-off for the second half championship and the right to play the Jokers, winners of the first half, in the finals.

Bill Norris, of the Huskies, was high aggregate and individual scorer with totals of 712 and 317.

Los Angeles, March 20.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former heavyweight wrestling champion, defeated Gene La Doux, French-Canadian, in straight falls here yesterday evening before 8,500 fans.

La Doux was outweighed by Lewis by thirty-five pounds, the ex-champion wearing his smaller opponent down and taking the first fall with a headlock in 28 minutes 43 seconds.

The French-Canadian tired badly and quickly succumbed a second time. Lewis downed him with a hammerlock in three minutes, two seconds. Lou Daro promoter, said the gate totaled $13,000.

Nick Luitze, Venice, Cal., wrestling lifeguard, won over Dr. Carl Sarpolis, Greek heavyweight, of Seattle, in a preliminary match. Yale Five Show Good Execution

By SOL METZGER

Yale's basketball has no great amount of fancy stuff woven into its plays. Sound ideas, plus well executed fundamentals are the base upon which its players operate, including the far-famed football star, Albie Booth, who personifies confidence in any athletic contest.

Here's one of its sound centre tap plays. No. 3 forward breaks a stride ahead of No. 2 and they cross as shown in the diagram, No. 3 taking the tap to the right front of his centre. When properly timed, as all plays must be, the guards of No. 2 and No. 3 are slowed up in trying to avoid each other, if they rush with the forwards to prevent them getting the tap.

Likewise, the opposing centre does not find the going easy if he breaks out of the circle to his rear. The idea of such a play is to secure the ball. Other plays then occur to work it close for a shot.

Kid McCoy "Pulls" a Fast One

BACK in 1908, Kid McCoy was on the decline as a fighter. But as a fast thinker, he still was knots ahead of the average fighter. He played a foxy one on Jim Stewart along about that year.

Stewart was a husky young heavyweight and a good prospect. The Kid took the match because he was up against it.

The referee called both to the centre of the ring for instructions. McCoy pretended to be somewhat dense.

"I haven't fought for some time, you know, Stewart," McCoy said. "So excuse me if I ask a few questions to set myself right about the rules."

"Certainly, McCoy," said Stewart. "Go ahead."

"Supposing," McCoy asked, grabbing Stewart by his shoulders, "supposing that as we break away, I smack Stewart on the chin like that. Will that be against the rules?"

The Kid's "like that" was a hook so potent that Stewart's knees sagged, and his eyes glazed.

"That would be a foul," replied the referee.

"Thanks, that's all I wanted to know," said McCoy, and ran to his corner. Stewart, actually staggered by the blow, wabbled to his own seat. He wondered what McCoy called a real punch if that was a "love tap."

• • •

THE BELL rang. McCoy ran into a clinch as soon as possible.

"Listen!" he hissed in Stewart's ear. "If you go easy and don't try to put anything over, I'll let you stay the limit. But try to get funny and I'll knock you cold."

Stewart, goggle-eyed, fell for the talk. He didn't know McCoy had put nearly all he had on that "tap," nor that McCoy might not be able to last through a couple of fast rounds. Jim stayed away, and the fight went twenty rounds.

Siberia Maru Sailing Yesterday Gala Event

Friends Present Japanese Consul's Wife With Flowers; Local Japanese Children Wish Bon Voyage to Vancouver School Principal; Vancouver Lad Sets Out for Visit to Japan.

Not for many years has the departure of a Japanese liner from Victoria been such a gala event as the sailing yesterday afternoon of the N.Y.K. steamer Siberia Maru which put to sea from the Rithet piers at 4.50 o'clock with one of the largest lists ever to sail from this port of a ship flying the flag of Nippon. The ship arrived from Seattle at 3 o'clock with fifty passengers aboard, and during her two hour stay here embarked fifty more who had arrived on the afternoon boat from Vancouver.

The reason for yesterday's gala sailing was a number of distinguished passengers aboard and local and visiting Japanese, with customary ceremony assembled to bid them au revoir Madame T. Fukuma, wife of the Japanese consul at Vancouver, was the most distinguished passenger and a large number of local Japanese were present to wish her bon voyage and a safe return. She was accompanied by her three small sons and daughter.

FLORAL GIFTS

Local Japanese were presented in the liner's music room to the Consul and Mrs. Fukuma, who received the visitors with true Japanese graciousness and courtesy. Mrs. Fukuma's suite was a mass of magnificent flowers sent her by friends in this city. Great baskets of spring blooms and bouquets of tulips and daffodils graced the staterooms. The sentiment lying behind the floral gifts visibly touched the Consul's wife and she heartily thanked those present for their remembrance.

ON TOUR OF JAPAN

There was another reason for the gala sailing of the Siberia Maru. This was because Dr. J. E. Brown, principal of the Strathcona Public School of Vancouver was aboard. Dr. Brown is being sent to Japan by parents of Japanese children he has taught in Vancouver.

He will spend two full months in the Orient studying the school system there and learning native habits and customs. It is his first visit to the Orient and he is looking forward to his experiences. He will return in May, being booked to travel aboard the new motor ship Hikawa Maru on her maiden voyage which will terminate here on May 28.

Led by E. Ishii, well-known Japanese of Victoria, a party of small Japanese children from the schools of this city visited the Siberia Maru yesterday afternoon, to wish god-speed to Dr. Brown on his voyage. Dr. Brown was taken by surprise by the visit and gathering them together in the social hall he told them how pleased he was that they should visit him. He shook hands with each little visitor and said he hoped to see them when he returned to Canada. Before sailing time he was presented with a magnificent potted plant to lend color to his cabin during the transpacific voyage.

WAS AMOY CAPTAIN

Returning rather hurriedly to China, Capt. Waard, famous sea skipper and master of the Chinese junk Amoy when she visited Victoria several years ago, was a passenger aboard the Siberia Maru yesterday with his father. He arrived here several weeks ago and had intended to spend more time on this continent, but the serious illness of his wife in China is calling him back.

Another interesting passenger was Joe Robinson, seventeen-year-old boy of Vancouver, who was setting out on a trip of a life-time and one that seldom comes the way of one so young. He was en route to Japan where he will spend three months in care of a Vancouver Japanese friend who will take care of him and show him the sights of Japan. They will return together in June.

The Ss. Princess Marguerite has been switched back to the night service between Victoria and Vancouver after being on the triangle run for several days. The Princess Charlotte has again been placed on the triangle service.

Man's Poor Back Lame and Aching

FALL IN STOCK PRICE IS TOLD OF BY WITNESS

Secretary of Calgary Exchange Testifies at Solloway-Mills Hearing in Calgary

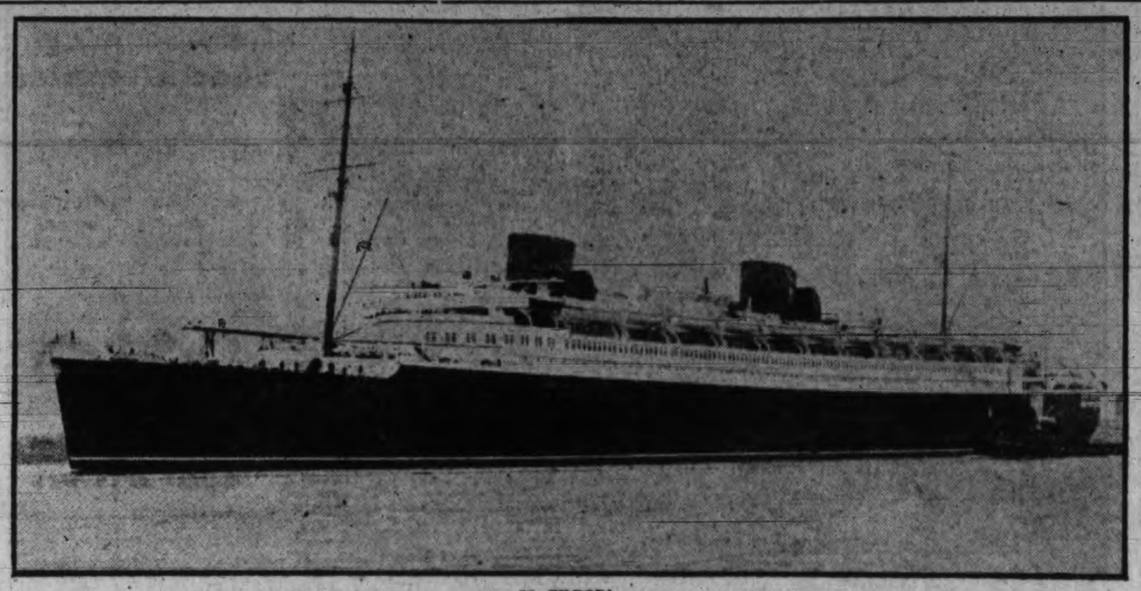
Canadian Press

Calgary, March 20.—Although the relationship between Harry Jashunsky, manager of the Dominion Oil Exchange, and the attorneys acting for Solloway, Mills & Company on the Calgary Stock Exchange had been drawn to the attention of the company as the result of complaints from other brokers, no proved example of irregular dealing in this connection could be pointed to during the period in which this company was being investigated, Harold W. Riley, secretary of the Calgary Exchange testified this morning at the hearing of the two partners of the brokerage house on a charge of conspiracy to defraud.

Evidence introduced by Mr. Riley, however, indicated that by means of successive "cross sales" between Solloway, Mills & Company and Jashunsky, or the Dominion Oil Exchange, Calmont stock on July 26, 1929, has been depressed from $4.90 to $4.55 a share.

This, however, was not accepted by defence counsel as a proved example of irregularity.

EXPECTED TO MAKE RECORD ATLANTIC CROSSING



SS. EUROPA

Bremerhaven, Germany, March 20.—The North German Lloyd liner Europa, sister ship to the Bremen, which now holds the blue ribbon for speed on the Atlantic Ocean, left here at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Channel ports and New York. It is expected she will establish a new speed record between Europe and New York.

Pacific Salvage Buys and Sells Hulk of Benson

The Pacific Salvage Company of Victoria purchased the wreck of the steamer Admiral Benson from the insurance underwriters and the London Salvage Association, and in turn sold the hulk to the Columbia River Salvage Company, it was learned here to-day.

The amount was not disclosed, but was rumored unofficially as being around $5,000. The Columbia River Salvage Company is now tearing the vessel to pieces. The local salvage firm removed all the cargo and the furnishings shortly after the steamer grounded on Peacock Spit, off the mouth of the Columbia River, on February 15.

EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA GAINS A DAY

On Board Empress of Australia, March 20.—Yesterday, March 19, was neither Wednesday nor was it the nineteenth of March—at least, not on board this liner, now on her way from Yokohama to Honolulu. It was meridian Day, for the Empress was crossing the famous international date line (180th meridian), where ships either gain or lose a whole day, according to whether they are traveling east or west. Traveling eastwards towards America, as she nears the end of her round-the-world cruise which commenced from New York on December 2, 1929. The Empress of Australia this week gained a whole day. The passengers thus had the novel experience of an eight-day week.

PROVINCES TO CHOOSE THEIR OWN SETTLERS

New Immigration Policy Explained to Commons By Hon. Charles Stewart

Canadian Press

Ottawa, March 20.—"Under the proposed agreement with the provinces, we (the Federal Government) are asking them to assume the responsibility of saying how many and what kind of immigrants they are desirous of having and can absorb in any given year."

Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, and Acting Minister of Immigration, told the House of Commons yesterday afternoon in outlining the new immigration policy.

"We will not pass into Canada people destined to any province unless it is the desire of that province to receive them. It is not the intention of this Government to prevent any individual in the British Isles or in northern Europe who is in a position to finance his passage and who has a reasonable sum of money in his possession to maintain himself when he arrives in this country from entering this country, unless the provinces should say they are not desirous of receiving such immigrants. Under such circumstances we would have to debar to that extent an individual entering into that province."

The minister said he could not conceive of any province "shutting the door" to immigration. He believed immigration would continue in accordance with the powers of absorption by the provinces.

TO MAKE DECISION

On the ground of Federal financial assistance, Mr. Stewart said:

"We are not thinking of continuing any assistance except that we have not yet arrived at a definite decision as to whether we should discontinue assistance to juveniles. That is the only case in regard to which we have not yet reached a definite decision."

The Federal Government, he said, intended to continue to lend its auspices by way of paying for the necessary number of officials to control immigration.

"We must have officers at every port of entry into Canada," Mr. Stewart explained.

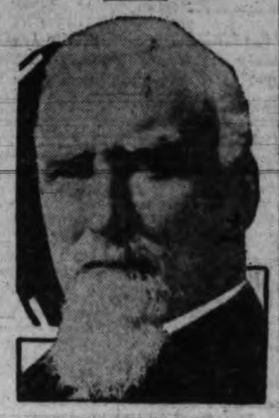
Mr. Stewart said the Deputy Minister was taking up the proposals with the individual provinces. The new plans were dependent on the House ratifying the agreements by which the provinces of the west were being given back their Crown lands and other natural resources.

LUCAS SPEAKS

Agriculture in Canada was far from prosperious at present, said W. T. Lucas, U.F.A., Camrose. The efforts of those who wanted to open up new agricultural areas, he declared, could only lead to further depression and a lowering of the standard of living in Canada and would only result in a greater exodus of Canadians to the United States.

EIGHTY-SIXTH BIRTHDAY OF CAPT. DOLLAR

Famous Shipping Head of the Pacific Coast Does Day's Work, Despite Great Age



CAPTAIN ROBERT DOLLAR

San Francisco, March 20.—Captain Robert Dollar, "Grand Old Man of Shipping," head of the Round the World and Orient Steamship lines which bear his name, and the original "Cappy Ricks" of Peter B. Kyne's famous story, to-day celebrated his eighty-sixth brthdsy. He was born in Falkirk, Scotland, March 20, 1844.

Hale and hearty, he followed his usual routine, arriving at his office at 8.30 o'clock, and at 10 o'clock started his customary inspection of the Round the World and transpacific liners which arrived the port to-day. His examinations are not superficial, but a personal tour of the ships from boiler room to bridge.

Referring to the statement made by a well-known physician several years ago that all men over fifty should be chloroformed, Captain Dollar said he was "just as good to-day as he was at fifty."

"At fifty I was just getting started," he said. "When I was eighty I established our Round the World steamship line. Would it have been right for me, thirty years ago, to lay down and say 'I quit'."

"I like work. If I quit work to-day I would not live long. I work in the office during the day, go home, work until 9 p.m., go to bed, sleep until 6 a.m. and I am ready for another day's work.

Captain Dollar gave this formula for health at his age:

"Eat sanely, sleep at least eight hours a night and don't be afraid to work."

CAPILANO IS STILL HELD AT TOWNSEND

Claims Against Canadian Freighter Are Mounting and Now Total $120,000

Seattle, Wash., March 20.—With liens totaling $120,000 placed against her, the Canadian-American freighter Chief Capilano of Vancouver, B.C., was tied up at Port Townsend, Wash., to-day, awaiting the next move in the drama which began yesterday, when the ship was seized in the Strait of Juan de Fuca by Deputy United States Marshal A. B. McDonald, with the aid of a coastguard cutter.

The Chief Capilano, outbound from Vancouver, B.C., was seized when adverse currents forced her into United States waters. Attorneys for the owners contended the seizure was illegal and declared they would seek an immediate hearing before Federal Judge H. E. Cushman to-day.

The vessel was libelled by Dant and Russell, Inc., of Portland, Ore., who claimed $20,000 damages due for lumber cargo lost when the Chief Maquilla foundered off the Aleutian Islands in 1928. The Chief Maquilla was also owned by the Canadian-American shipping company.

ANOTHER ATTACHMENT

The Capilano had no sooner been tied up at Port Townsend than another attachment for $100,000 was placed against the ship for losses growing out of the sinking of the Maquilla. The libelant in the second case was the Fireman's Fund Insurance Company, to whom the Robert Dollar Company of San Francisco assigned claims for a lumber cargo lost with the Maquilla.

The libeled ship was formerly the Robert Dollar of the Dollar Lines.

St. Patrick's anniversary was celebrated at the Knox Presbyterian Church by an enjoyable social gathering promoted by the Ladies' Aid Society.

A delightful programme had been arranged by Mesdames Murray and Kohout, and was much appreciated by the large number present. The pastor, Rev. S. Lundie, presided, and songs and recitations were contributed by Mrs. Batten, Mr. and Mrs. Stacey and Rev. S. Lundie, followed by a lecture by Mr. Hosie, the provincial librarian. Mr. Hosie chose as the subject of his discourse his trip to the Cariboo on behalf of the government archives.

Mr. Hosie will give another address at a later date, when the electric light installation will admit of slide illustrations of the Cariboo district being shown.

Refreshments were served during the evening, arrangements being in charge of Mesdames Murray and G. Cook, assisted by other members of the Ladies' Aid.

Mrs. A. Acreman and J. Gamble acted efficiently as accompanists during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Gamble of Somenos are staying in Sooke for a short time.

Saanich Fruit Growers' Annual Meeting Learns Market Prospects Good

H. C. Oldfield Again Heads Strawberry Growers; Large Meeting at Keating Approves Reports; Directors Forecast Small Crop; Confidence Expressed That Fine 1929 Processed Berries Will Be Sold at Good Price.

The annual general meeting of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association was held yesterday evening at Keating Temperance Hall and was attended by nearly 150 members.

The meeting elected the following to the directorate: the first to serve two years: H. C. Oldfield, H. E. Tanner, Capt. E. Livesey, R. M. McIntosh, J. N. Wood, J. L. Mosher and R. M. McCarthy. The directors retired and elected H. C. Oldfield as president, and Capt. E. Livesey as vice-president, the appointment of a manager being deferred.

T. S. P. Buckle was re-elected auditor by the meeting.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

H. C. Oldfield, president, said 1929 had been most difficult, but the prospect for the coming year was brighter than any experienced in recent years. This was attributed to greatly reduced acreage as a result of dry summer and fall and severity of winter frosts. Prices are now better than they have been for many months, this being of importance in disposing of the processed berries of last year's crop.

FEW COMPLAINTS

The crop processed with sugar last year had been of excellent quality. Most of the preserve pack is still on hand. Disposal at satisfactory prices would be attained but the pack was not being pressed on the market.

The crop shipped to the prairies had been marked by unusually few complaints by selling brokers. Mr. Oldfield remarked upon the lapse last year of market control and read telegrams received last summer illustrating the disastrous effect on prairie markets of arrival of unrestricted less-than-car-lot shipments. Sold for what they would fetch at Calgary, Edmonton and other central marketing points, these small individual shipment of berries had been large in the aggregate and in any event had set the price at which carlot shipments had to be sold.

Mr. Oldfield said great changes in marketing methods had taken place in the last two years, most of the work of developing innovations falling on the larger organizations. The president gave a brief review of the efforts made to attain legislation reconstituting small fruit marketing control and told of the difficulty created for the interior tree fruit growers by competing shipping organizations which had at last come together in support of a request for legislation validating pooling arrangements.

The association had purchased 100,000 strawberry plants of the British Sovereign variety, grown on the mainland, and 95,000 had already been taken up by members. Reports of trial patches planted in the last two years showed excellent prospects, Mr. Oldfield stated, inviting applications for the remaining plants of the shipment, which will be sent over from the mainland shortly.

Mr. Oldfield closed with a warm tribute to H. E. Tanner, the manager, for devotion to the interests of the association, remarking on the amount of mental and physical effort devoted to conducting the business of the fruitgrowers through a most difficult year.

BALANCE SHEET

H. E. Tanner, manager, presented the financial statement which showed payments made on fruit received had been $120,400, expenses of management $10,031, stock purchased $15,377, a total expenditure of $147,636.

The revenue had been $14,691 from sales of supplies to members and $120,973 from fruit sales. Membership fees and association charges had brought in $11,971.

Mr. Tanner remarked upon the reduction last year of certain charges to members and forecasted that this year the charges for handling logans would be cut still further.

The association's balance sheet showed assets of $23,247, including investments of $3,420, members' debit balances $7,005, 1928 frozen berries carried at $6,517, buildings $2,672 and furniture $315.

The current liabilities were stated at $6,165 with members' credits of $560. Jam berries of the 1929 crop sold for $5,272 were shown as a liability with profit and loss charges for two years amounting to $3,189. The surplus was stated to be $7,570.

"There is every indication of a poor strawberry crop this year. The Mainland growers estimate sixty per cent and the Island crop is figured at fifty-five per cent of normal," Mr. Tanner said. He doubted if there would be any surplus requiring processing this year after providing for prairie shipments and contracts already being negotiated.

QUESTION OF DISPOSAL

Mr. Tanner doubted the wisdom of selling the excellent processed 1929 crop at present prices, which would only pay the growers five cents and told of local bids for the crop now in storage. Immediate sale would lessen the market and price for the summer crop. Waiting a few weeks would permit disposal of the stored crop to Ontario jam factories, which had been out of the coast market because of the huge Ontario crop.

Mr. Tanner was enthusiastic when reporting the reception accorded Saanich berries preserved in paper cups by freezing with sugar. He pointed out that this was not a means of disposing of surplus stock but development of an entirely new marketing method of great value, giving excellent returns to the growers.

Mr. Tanner was accorded applause when he concluded with remarks of appreciation of the labors given by H. C. Oldfield and the directors during the year.

The reports were unanimously adopted on motion of Capt. Wilson and W. J. Malcolm.

DIRECTORS' REPORT

The directors' report showed the following sales during 1929: Strawberries, 27,641 crates and thirty-seven tons of jam berries sold locally; 182 tons of processed berries, fifty tons of canning berries sold locally, forty-four tons of logans for canning, 202 tons of wine logans, twenty-nine tons of Olivet and Morello cherries and small quantities of raspberries, blackcurrants and blackberries.

Thirty-three cars of strawberries had been shipped to prairie markets, as against forty-six cars in 1928. All had arrived in good shape, due to the rigid inspection, Mr. Tanner told of the system of processing the surplus with financial aid secured from the province.

The loss from disposal of the 1928 pack was being spread over three years to avoid burdensome charges on members. Hydrating experiments with logans, blackberries and prunes, being conducted at the Sidney Experimental Farm by Prof. E. M. Straight, promise much success, Mr. Tanner reported.

DOMINION TESTS

E. M. Straight, superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Sidney, told of experiments in strawberry culture to be undertaken at Gordon Head and Keating. The former will be on the Edwards ranch and will be irrigated, and the Keating tests will be at the farm of J. W. Wood. Varieties of plants used will be the Magoon, Aroma and British Sovereign, and Magoon plants will be tried with paper mulch.

J. A. Grant, market commissioner, said that the general financial stress had been a factor in bringing fruit prices down for the coming year, yet the United States growers were being offered 9½ cents, which means at least two cents higher prices in Canada.

The outlook for a crop was not good. Under more prosperous conditions prices of sixteen cents would have been in prospect, instead of Mr. Tanner's conservative estimate of ten and one-half cents per pound.

The prairie market would not be so competitive this season. Missouri had a prospect of a twenty per cent lower crop. Oregon growers were expecting better home prices, and that fact would keep fruit away from Canada, he considered.

LOGAN PROSPECTS

N. H. Lamont, manager of the Growers' Wine Company Limited, discussed prospects for the loganberry crop, pointing out that the matter concerned the mainland as well as Vancouver Island growers. Wine put up last year by his company was 265,000 gallons, but the market had consumed about 125,000 gallons. He saw a possible market for all produced, but a reserve should be built up to insure against winter killing and a short crop. He therefore desired a reserve of 500,000 gallons, and if 350,000 gallons were put up for the next three years the reserve would be accumulated and at the same time a market provided for all the fruit being produced. He believed a twenty-five per cent increase in logans to be justified.

"Price of berries is no object. If we were offered berries at seven cents we would not take them, as far as I am concerned. The farmer cannot make any money at less than eight cents," Mr. Lamont told an inquirer.

MARKET INQUIRIES

Mr. Lamont considered invasion of eastern Canada impossible, because a warehouse would have to be maintained in Montreal and the product sold to the Provincial Liquor Boards at $1 per gallon. He also stated that investigations had been made as to the Australian market, which had been found to be glutted with grape wine as a result of the state bonus system in effect, which had resulted in a production of 17,000,000 gallons last year.

The possibilities of the Orient had been investigated and experimental work was now being done in that field.

Mr. Lamont stated that important experimental work was being conducted at the Sidney Experimental Farm to endeavor to discover a superior yeast which would produce a better grade of wine.

Manitoba Plans Much Road Work

Winnipeg, March 20. — The good roads programme for Manitoba this year calls for an estimated capital expenditure of $4,000,000, the largest in the history of the province.

Hon. W. R. Clubb, Minister of Public Works, outlined the programme before the Legislature yesterday.

The estimate is made up of $2,000,000 in unexpended balance and receipts, and $2,000,000 in the new capital vote. In addition there is a special capital estimate of $250,000 for the purpose of extending the Transcanada Highway to the Ontario boundary.

STORE TO BUILD 1,000 CAR GARAGE FOR CUSTOMERS

Vancouver, March 20.—At an estimated cost exceeding $300,000, Woodwards Limited will commence the construction of a 1,000 car parking garage for the use of the firm's customers, Charles Woodward announced to-day.

The garage will be constructed on the north side of Cordova Street, and will be of reinforced concrete and steel construction.

The first unit will house 500 cars at one time and this will be rapidly expanded into accommodation for 1,000 cars.

On a two-hour basis, it is estimated that upwards of 4,000 cars a day can be accommodated.

In announcing this project Mr Woodward commended the decision of the city council in suspending the no-parking restrictions during the rush hours. This is a wise decision, he stated, and is a great relief to downtown merchants.

"I venture the assertion," he continued, "that this decision is a terrible disappointment to some of the merchants on the outskirts. This is surely a lesson of what downtown merchants may expect in the future if they do not take warning and be on the alert."

ACCORDING to Mother, Clark's Soup is more delicious, more wholesome than any other (and Daddy always says that Mother is never wrong).

"Jerry (he's my brother) is really terrible at the table. Whenever Mother serves soup, he tastes it and murmurs 'A-a-a-ah! . . . Clark's Vegetable Soup.' Of course, little girls must be ladylike and sedate (although I'd like to be a boy and say 'A-a-a-ah!' too, it's so delicious.)"

The moment you taste this soup you'll discover why it's so good . . . nothing but vegetables . . . good, fresh vegetables. Carefully cooked, tastefully seasoned.

Only a wholesome, delicious soup could be the result. The whole family will enjoy it!

The contents of Clark's Vegetable Soup have passed Federal Government inspection.

MODERN ART IS ANALYZED

John Riddington, U.B.C. Librarian, Addresses Island Arts Society

A fluent and informative address on "Modern Tendencies in Canadian Art" was delivered before the Island Arts and Crafts at the club rooms, Union Bank Building, last evening when John Riddington, librarian of the University of British Columbia, appeared before a large audience to discuss what he termed "this most disputatious subject."

The questions "What is art?" and "What is beauty?" depend for their solution on so many and such changing standards, said Mr. Riddington, and are governed by such varied conditions. Art as literature seemed to the speaker more universal than national and in a rapidly developing country subject to such continuous changes it was indeed difficult to establish a national art. As in music, art appealed to the higher or lower state of culture of the individual, but there must be a consensus of intelligent opinion in order to form standards of criticism; there must be natural taste and culture or knowledge from long service of judgment.

LITTLE ADVANCE IN QUALITY

Since Confederation there had been in Canada a greater realization of art, yet no great advance in the quality of the output. Artists have worked as individual units rather than in schools, there has been little leisure to produce culture while the more pressing developments inseparable from the building of a young nation were in its foundation stages. The vastness of the country, the varied atmosphere, the clearness and boldness of outline which characterizes so much of Canadian scenery calls for a different presentation than that to be found in the older lands, he claimed, although in Canada there are meadows rivaling even those of England, and prairies surpassing the low-lying lands of Holland, and forests more magnificent than those of Russia and more varied than the scenery of France or Germany. One hundred years hence Canada may be solidified and standardized—personally the speaker hoped not, for "we have no types as the London poor, the peasants of various countries, and art is more detached, less circumscribed, less limited because of this. An artist is free to read the book of nature, to study his atmosphere, to paint local and climatic conditions as he finds them. It is now becoming easier for Canadian artists to remain in their own country with the hope of being understood and appreciated by an increasingly large public."

Dr. Riddington recommended to his audience Newton McTavish's "Fine Arts in Canada," recently published, and which gives a fine account of the early artists and their achievements, beginning with Paul Kane and continuing to and with the Group of Seven. Much valuable material can also be gathered from the files of The Canadian Magazine in the days of John Cooper's editorship.

EARLY EFFORTS

The early efforts of the Art Society of Toronto, and the Art Society of Montreal were outlined, in both of which the critics and judges adhered to first principles and recognized standards. The art of the Canadian Indians Mr. Riddington held to belong more to the ethnologists and archaeologists and historians than the world of art, though their work represents first impulses and their carvings alone of wood, bone and ivory are invaluable. Their totems, though crude, possess decided artistic qualities, and the pigments and primary colors used in their painting are also of deep interest, since art is the joint product of mind, imagination and skill. Like mercury it is difficult to seize and hold because of its illusive qualities of rhythm, tone and balance. It is as the taste of the olive, the song of the nightingale, the perfume of the rose.

Dr. Riddington sketched in a charming manner the life and times of Paul Kane, of Berthon, of Jacobi, Daniel Fowler, Cornelius Kreighoff, and paid a tribute to the imagination and enterprise of H.R.H. the Princess Louise during the term of office of her distinguished husband as Governor-General of Canada, in founding the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts, which comprised nineteen charter members, five of whom were architects and one of whom was a woman.

The new art movements brought Canada to the fore in 1910, revolutionary and reformatory in character, it was received "with loud trumpetings of rage," by many, but it has survived and must be taken seriously. New York, Chicago and Boston have nodded their heads, London and Paris have expressed their pleasure. The still waters of complacency have been stirred.

Dr. Riddington acknowledged himself a slow convert to the new school, much of the work of which he found decidedly unpleasant, but much of which again was virile, strong, compelling and sincere. The Group of Seven, having been commercial artists, had introduced patterns and designs and reiterated portrayal of movement, they had eliminated the superfluous unpalingly, leaving a rugged bareness, and placing their art beyond the scope of the common eye.

"Some want to see it, and some never want to see it," noted the speaker. According to some authorities it is painting divorced from reality.

A fine collection of sixty lantern slides served to illustrate this lecture. The slides loaned by the National Gallery, Ottawa, despite the fact that they gave only in black and white many paintings which depend almost entirely for their beauty upon the colorings used by the artists, were of the greatest assistance to the audience in following the points stressed by the speaker. A further collection of lovely colored prints loaned by Dean Klink of the U.B.C. circulated among the audience.

T. S. Gore, president of the Arts and Crafts, introduced and also thanked the speaker for the charming address, and for making the new art more familiar to the society. Mrs. Anstie seconded the vote of thanks.

It was announced that S. A. Reynolds will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Arts and Crafts, and his subject will be "Pottery, Glass and Chain." Following the lecture refreshments were served under the convenership of Mrs. Ronald, and an hour spent in discussion.

Victoria W.I. — The March meeting of the members of Victoria Women's Institute will be held Friday afternoon at 2.30 in the institute room, 203 Union Building, View Street. Several matters of importance will come up for discussion, besides the usual committee reports. It is hoped that every member will make it convenient to attend.

ENGLAND EXPECTS HEAVY BATTING FROM AUSTRALIANS

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London, March 20.—The constitution of the Australian cricket team to visit England for the coming season has been correctly judged in advance by experts in the Dominion, except in two important instances. One is the omission of J. S. Ryder from the selected fifteen, the other the appointment of W. M. Woodfull as captain. Opinion on these points appears to be sharply divided in the Dominion. Sympathy is naturally felt with J. S. Ryder at his exclusion, seeing that he captained the Australians in the Tests against England team of last year and that he was appointed one of the triumvirate to whom the selection of the touring side was delegated. It could not have been an agreeable task for Ryder's colleagues to vote against his admission in the team, but we are entitled to assume that they were actuated only by a strict sense of duty, and Ryder himself appears to have acquiesced in their decision in the true sporting spirit.

THE VAGARIES OF CLIMATE.

Unless opinion in the Dominion and in well-informed circles is strangely in error, the Australians will be found exceptionally strong in batting, and with the brilliance of youth to counter the element of solidity which in recent years has been rather too marked a characteristic of Australian cricket. Much must depend, of course, upon the readiness with which the new members of the team, eleven in number, accustom themselves to English wickets and to the vagaries of the Home climate. Natural ability will, however, assert itself, so that by the time the tourists are called upon for their first Test at Nottingham in June, they should be well acclimatized. Opinion in Home cricket circles among those with personal knowledge of the team alike in the individual and the collective sense is that it will prove one of the strongest batting sides that the Dominion has ever sent to these shores. Opinion is less decided regarding the bowling, but there is every reason to believe that the fielding will be up to the excellent standard always associated with Australian touring sides. The next move in team selection is with England, and for this the cricket public must wait.

CLAIMS RHODES BEATS DR. GRACE'S CRICKET RECORD

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times

London, March 20.—An ingenious Yorkshire statistician has just worked out figures to show that the evergreen Wilfred Rhodes has just surpassed the all-round cricket record of Dr. W. G. Grace. Rhodes's nine wickets in the recent Trinidad match have put him ahead of the "G.O.M." on paper, it is asserted. The bowling and batting aggregates of the two great all-rounders stand thus:

	Wickets	Runs
W. G. Grace	2,876	54,896
Rhodes	4,038	38,858

The reasoning of the man of figures is this: Rhodes has scored 70.73 per cent of the runs made by Dr. Grace, but the latter took only 70.76 per cent of the number of wickets credited to Rhodes. Therefore, Rhodes has an advantage of .02 per cent, which he will increase as he makes more runs or takes more wickets.

Horoscope

FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1930

Astrologers read this an an unimportant day in planetary direction, a time in which to pursue well-trodden paths and to avoid speculation.

There is a sinister aspect that seems to govern economics and to presage financial anxieties for persons of moderate means.

Thrift has been preached for a long time by the seers who see in American extravagance serious consequences for the future.

While the stars are read as presaging unexampled prosperity they are believed to forecast added wealth for banks and financiers who know how to conserve their resources.

The seers declare that they behold in the planetary sway signs indicating a stabilization or systematizing of domestic expenditures in the family of moderate means.

As the pendulum swings back from post-war excesses and extremes there will be a general adjustment in all things, astrologers declare.

Fashions which will reveal a return to old time modesty and femininity are but the outward expression of inward changes making for sanity and progress, it is announced.

Some sort of depressing sensation will be carried in the newspapers at this time when optimism is prevalent, if the stars are rightly read.

Troubles in the British Government are forecast for the summer months, when epidemics and scourges will increase problems in India.

At the time of the solar ingress to-day the aspects presage great stimulation for commerce and trade.

Saturn may prove destructive to fruits and crops in many parts of the world, owing to drouth and cold winds.

Persons whose birthdate it is should be cautious about signing contracts or leases in the coming year. They should be wise in all affairs bordering on romance.

Children born on this day probably will be brilliant and enterprising. The subjects of this sign, Aries, may retain Pisces characteristics and benefit from them.

Two-tone Prints

For evening big figured prints, in two tones are excellent. For daytime the print with three colors in it is better for it allows more leeway for accessories.

Colored Clox

Some novelty hosiery for evening and daytime, feature a suntan shade with colored clox to match the frock one happens to wear.

Side Decoration

A pair of brown kid shoes has a curving side panel of matching brown suede and where it joins the kid a fine lace piping of gold accents it.

"Little Napoleon" Was Ready With an Answer

Poor "little Napoleon!" His father was the great Napoleon, who had nearly conquered all of Europe. Then Napoleon was defeated and sent to a solitary island. His son, the "little Napoleon," went to Austria with his mother, to a country in which Napoleon was hated, and the boy was not allowed to speak his father's name!

He was a frail lad, but full of spirit. People often teased him, asking him if he were supposed to be brave like his father.

Once a member of the Austrian nobility said to him jeeringly, "How would you like me to take you down to the zoo so you can go for a ride on a lion?"

Up spoke the "little Napoleon": "I will be glad to go with you, if you will mount the lion first and let me ride behind you!"

His father had dreamed that the son would follow him as an emperor, a great leader in his own right, but the boy, known in history as Napoleon II, though he never had a throne, died while he was still young. He was born March 20, 1811.

FIRE ENGINES' PRIVILEGES ARE NOW WITHDRAWN

Apparatus Responding to Fire Calls Treated Same as Private Car

New Ruling By City Fire Wardens Comes as Surprise This Week

Instructions have gone out from the city fire wardens to the Victoria Fire Department that all fire apparatus vehicles must be operated to comply with the city by-laws and provincial regulations in all matters, including speed limitations and stops for arterial highways. The new ruling has come as a surprise.

An order posted at the headquarters hall for all members of the department yesterday afternoon recites the instructions of the fire wardens, which will be in effect from now on.

The ruling makes a considerable difference to drivers of fire apparatus who may be called on to respond to alarms, and places the apparatus in the same category on the street as a private automobile or a dump truck, in so far as the right of way and speed regulations are concerned.

Though no open breach of any motor regulations were permitted to fire department drivers before, the generous use of sirens usually cleared a path for the public service vehicles responding to an emergency call.

The fire wardens committee of the City Council for this year is composed of Aldermen R. A. C. Dewar, James Adam and H. O. Litchfield.

Oak Bay High Students Will Give Concert

Pupils of the Oak Bay High School will present their first concert in the auditorium of the new building to-morrow evening in commemoration of the opening of the institution at the beginning of the week. The function will include musical numbers as well as two one-act plays, which are calculated to be of particular interest to those who attend the concert.

"Six Who Pass While the Lentils Boil" and "Good Medicine" are the titles of the two short dramas the students will produce. For several weeks they have been rehearsing the plays and have reached a high standard of efficiency.

Several other musical selections and recitations will lend added interest to the programme.

The students themselves have arranged the programme and have made their own scenery for the two plays.

Parents and friends of the school are invited to attend.

SEA CAPTAIN PASSES AWAY

Capt. George Everton, 81, Served on Ships Out of Victoria and in the Yukon

Capt. George Everton, eighty-one, who had sailed on the Pacific Coast for thirty-eight years, died this morning at the Aged Men's Home. The late captain had not been well for some time. The end came peacefully this morning at 7.30 o'clock. He had many friends and acquaintances among the shipping fraternity of Victoria.

The late Capt. Everton was born in Derbyshire, England, and came to Canada in the nineties. He arrived in Victoria about thirty-five years ago. He had charge of a number of boats operating out of this port for several years, and then went to Alaska and the Yukon, where he spent some time.

Returning to Victoria he constructed a dredge, and formed a company to take the patents on it. The Dominion government used it successfully several times, but eventually the company failed. A great deal of the dredging on the Fraser River was done with Capt. Everton's dredge. He retired from the sea several years ago, and until entering the Home, twenty-two months ago, lived in retirement at his small home on Ladysmith Street, James Bay.

The remains are reposing at the B.C. Funeral Chapel on Broughton Street, and funeral arrangements will be announced later.

F. WATERHOUSE OF SEATTLE DIES

Seattle, March 20.—Frank Waterhouse, sixty-three, former president of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce and active in shipping affairs of the city, died shortly before noon here to-day.

He had been in ill-health for the last year and death was attributed to a heart attack.

He was president of the Yellow Taxicab Company, the Seattle Taxicab Company, Frank Waterhouse Inc. and Frank Waterhouse and Company of Canada Limited.

The former Chamber of Commerce president was long active in Seattle business and civic affairs.

SOOKE ENJOYS ELECTRIC LIGHT FOR FIRST TIME

Power Turned on Yesterday Evening; Seventy-five Residents Benefitted

Sooke residents enjoyed electric light and power services for the first time yesterday evening, when connections were made between the new extension of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company's distribution system and the main power lines from Jordon River.

While only a few residences were connected yesterday evening, the test proved successful in all respects, and the remainder of the residences are expected to be connected up before this evening.

COST WAS $30,000

The new extension has cost approximately $30,000, and will serve about seventy-five residences, hotels and business concerns located two miles each side of the Sooke Hotel.

Nearly five miles of distributing lines were built in Sooke district during the fall and winter to provide the new service, and special transformer apparatus was obtained from the east to enable the power to be taken directly from the high tension lines between Jordan River and Victoria.

Falling Hay Bale Causes Concussion

Suffering from a slight concussion, Harry Hayward, employee at Scott and Peden's, was removed to the Jubilee Hospital this morning. Hayward was lifting a bale of hay from a truck, when another bale fell from above and smashed his head against the end of the machine.

He was rushed to the hospital in the C. & C. ambulance and was attended by Dr. Herman Robertson, who stated the patient's injuries were not serious.

Pattullo Offers Optional Measure For Crown Timber

A suggestion to the government on how to meet the difficulty created by the Privy Council decision that an export tax on logs from crown granted lands was illegal was offered by T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition, in the Legislature this morning when the Taxation Bill was under discussion. Revenue of $200,000 yearly is lost to the province by the ruling.

Hon. F. P. Burden, Minister of Lands, said the proposed increased assessment on crown granted timber would only serve to put it on a parity with licensed timber.

As the government could not impose a royalty, Mr. Pattullo suggested an optional measure should be adopted. A low carrying charge should be put on crown grant owners and they should be asked to voluntarily agree to pay the government a royalty, not as high as a license, when the timber was cut. If the owners refused then, he said, the government would be justified in increasing the assessment as the understood they contemplated doing.

Mr. Pattullo warned the government that high carrying charges would force the owner to cut logs. The export of logs would be accelerated and British Columbia timber would be ground up to keep the mills of the United States busy. Putting a heavy carrying charge on standing timber was an unsound policy he emphatically warned. Logs would be rapidly cut. There would be no market for them in Canada. Boys and girls would follow the logs across the line.

Kamloops, March 20.—Trail senior "B" basketers finished on the long end of a 24-22 score to nose out Kamloops for the interior championship yesterday evening. It was a rugged battle, with the teams bunched all the way. Trail's win now qualifies them for a play-off with the Island champs, Ladysmith.

CITY TRUSTEES ARE UPHELD ON SAANICH ISSUE

Council of Public Instruction Decide Saanich Must Pay Tuition Fees For Students With Supplementals to Be Met

The action of the City School Board in asking payment from Saanich on account of the tuition costs of fourteen pupils at Victoria High School who were permitted to continue their courses after writing supplementals has been upheld by the Council of Public Instruction, it was stated to-day by Trustee J. L. Beckwith, chairman of the finance committee of the City Board.

City trustees were notified by letter from the Department of Education this week that the Council of Public Instruction had given careful consideration to both sides of the question, and were of the opinion that Saanich is liable for the account.

The Saanich School Board had contended that the pupils in question were over age and had been admitted on supplementals, and declined to sponsor the costs of their further tuition. The City Board notified Saanich trustees that an account would be presented in respect to the pupils at the rate of $120 a head, of approximately $1,680. Saanich appealed from this action to the Council of Public Instruction.

LADIES' CHOIR IN FINE CONCERT

Miss Justine Gilbert Shares Plaudits of Enthusiastic Audience

The Victoria Ladies' Choir, in its second recital of the season, scored a big success last evening at the High School auditorium, and Frederick Waddington, its conductor, well and successfully known with the choral associations of the city can be congratulated upon the excellent results obtained. The large audience present judging from the hearty and freely bestowed hand clapping, enjoyed themselves thoroughly, and among those were many of Victoria's prominent musical people.

Success was the choir's last November in its initial performance, but last evening's was even a greater attainment. Rehearsal, keenness of its members—among them are many talented amateur singers—cultivation and cohesion of vocal effort, combined with the care and thoroughness of its director, are all serving their purpose and the development of the choir is noticeable and certain. Recitals from such are sure to attract good audiences, and immeasurably assist the cause of local communal music.

PAINTAKING TRAINING

The choral numbers, as usual, were chosen with skill and judgment. In these Mr. Waddington gave his hearers some fine bits of singing, and there were throughout many evidences of painstaking training. It is a treat and so easy to listen to this choir's enunciation, and in attack, tonal color and clearness of phrase, its members may know that such efforts are appreciated and will carry them to even greater heights of future achievement.

The first group was delightful. It was quite judicious to open with the "Choir Chorale," an arrangement of one of Bach's airs by Ira Dilworth. It is really an invocation and can well be included as an opening number by any choral group.

The part songs, "Out in the Stilly Night" (Moore-Thomas); Armstrong Gibb's beautiful "Song of Shadows," Percy Fletcher's arrangement of the folk tune, 'Follow Me Down to Carlow" were most enjoyable and following their conclusion, continued applause brought forth an additional number in the Scotch tune, "Bonnie Laddie, Highland Laddie." Eminent pleasure was also obtained in Dr Dyson's splendidly sung "Fairy Song," the contrasting and admirably written "Three Blind Mice," by Raleigh Vicar's, with the excellently executed accents and drolleries, and the concluding "Requiem" (by request) by Paul Edmonds, late of the city, sung with much devotional fervor and expression. This was repeated at the insistent desire of those present.

MISS JUSTINE GILBERT

Assisting in the proceedings, besides members of the choir, was Miss Justine Gilbert, well known in musical circles both here and in Portland, where she now resides. Miss Gilbert's versatility is remarkable, and last evening she was at once composer, arranger, singer, violinist and pianist.

For her violin group she selected the famous Bach "Air for G String," played with a beautiful quality of tone and facile bow-arm; the exquisite "Londonderry Air" (traditional), and a well-arranged medley of Irish airs. Later in the programme she sang, accompanying herself on her violin, "Violin and Voice," an extremely prettily-effective arrangement of her own of Rimsky-Korsakoff's haunting "Song of India." Her voice and the tone of her violin blend in striking manner. So well-pleased were her listeners that an augmented and similar arrangement was forthcoming. She played also a pianoforte composition of her own, styled "A Joy Ride," with pianistic suitability, the top notes in arpeggios, with the left hand accompaniment appealing in originality and effect. The composer met with most appreciative applause.

Her violin numbers were accompanied in able, scholarly manner by Mr. Dilworth. The accompaniments of the choir and to Mme. Georgina Watt were most adequately played by Mrs. Charles Conyers, the choir's skillfull accompanist.

OTHER NUMBERS

Georgina Watt, a member of the choir, is already well known, both to concert and festival audiences, with which she is an established favorite. Her luscious contralto voice was thoroughly enjoyable in Mozart's lyrical "With a Swan-like Beauty Gliding" and the appealing story of Smart's "The Lady of the Lea." She was compelled to add another number.

The vocal trio, Elgar's "Snow," also by members of the choir, was a charming effort, the voices blending beautifully and the song's significance being given in most understanding fashion. The singers were Maybelle Pebernat, soprano; Gertrude Butterfield, mezzo, who also took the solo part in Balfour Gardiner's "And How Should I Your True Love Know," and Bernice Chave, alto. Miss Gilbert, Mme. Watt and Mrs. Conyers were the recipients of handsome bouquets.

LUMBER MILLS LATEST MEANS OF TAXATION

More amendments to the Schools Act introduced by Hon. Johsua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, at this morning's sessions of the Legislature were designed to embrace lumber mills in unorganized districts in school taxation.

The bill generally calls for taxation on personal property outside school districts. This morning Mr. Hinchliffe amended a section so that livestock, agricultural implements, machinery and vehicles may be exempted from taxation as personal property.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE SOON, CLEARIHUE SAYS

Speaks to Ward Two Liberals on Social Legislation in B.C.

It is only a matter of time before the the people of Canada will be protected by some method of insurance against unemployment, J. B. Clearihue told members of the Ward Two Liberal Association at their annual meeting in Liberal headquarters last night, with President W. H. Kinsman of the Victoria Liberal Association, presiding.

"Any workable system, other than the dole, would be of the greatest benefit and more favorable to the workers of Canada," Mr. Clearihue said.

"In regard to old age pensions, I think the aged pioneers should have been taken care of years ago, but those responsible for enacting this measure are to be congratulated."

He spoke in similar terms regarding the Mothers' and Deserted Wives' Pensions Acts and gave figures as to the approximate number of beneficiaries and the total amount involved annually. He commented on the usefulness of state health insurance, which has been in force for some time in Britain, and explained how this protective measure relieves the families of workers from the burden of debt resulting from medical attention and hospitalization during periods of sickness and the result of accidents.

"No time should be lost in giving the people of Canada the benefit of such health insurance and of all other humane measures which have so far been proved, not only a necessity, but of vital importance to the country as a whole," Mr. Clearihue went on.

He reviewed the measures of humane legislation which have been placed on the statute books of B.C. since 1916, and declared that such legislation had contributed largely to the growth and prosperity of B.C., rather than having lessened the treasury.

President Kinsman spoke on organization. He declared a Federal election could not be far distant and urged Liberals to make certain they were registered and get ready for a contest.

Officers were nominated for election at future meeting.

Royal Oak

A St. Patrick tea was held at the home of Mr. Wedd, Elk Lake, on Monday afternoon, under the auspices of the Royal Oak Women's Institute. About 150 people attended, and $40 was earned for the heating fund of the Community Hall. The fine programme included vocal selections by Miss Lillian Christine and James McGrath of the Gordon McLeod Company, and Irish dances by Miss Mollie Milton, a pupil of Mrs. Dorothy Wilson. Presentations of spring flowers were made to Miss Christine, to Miss Milton a box of candy, and to Mr. McGrath a box of cigarettes in appreciation of their kindness in assisting.

Mrs. Norman Musgrave of Vancouver was the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. E. Campion, Wilkinson Road, over the week-end.

G. H. Bent, Elk Lake, returned on Monday after spending the week-end in Seattle.

DAILY LENTEN THOUGHT

By REV. C. F. REISNER, D.D.
Pastor Broadway Temple, New York Methodist Episcopal Church

"Take care, keep awake and pray," warned Jesus. (Mark xiii 33—Moffat translation.)

Alertness alone brings growth; without it we have religious dwarfs and invalids. Christ, the Teacher, stands by to show us the way to size and real satisfaction.

But we must listen, look and act. The acorn's heart is so construced that it finds and appropriates everything in the soil that will help build an oak. Weeds only pick up food that constructs rubbish. God created us in His image; we have the ability to select material that will make us like the Christ of the Ages.

It requires 50,000 roses gathered while dew still wets their petals to make one ounce of "Attar of Roses." Why do we tire so quickly when searching for sustaining and fragrant truths? Honey bees find supplies everywhere; if we meditate on God's goodness and "watch" we will find sweetening instead of souring experiences. Worry is atheistic, for it is the product of denying that the Great Ruler is looking after things.

Jesus came to show us what God is like; not a "sparrow falls" without His notice. He caressed little children, attended dinner parties, shed sorrowful tears, cured honest doubt, loved wobbly Peter, and died for everyone.

Then we can revive all our hope and drive out doubt. But we can do more; we can be a blessing full of happy cheer wherever we go. Lincoln insisted that he wanted it said of him that he supplanted a thorn with a rose wherever one would grow.

Some trees in South America only bloom when the wind blows. Frost spoils a turnip, but it sweetens a parsnip. It takes the tang of winter to put zestful energy into folks. Jesus went into the Garden, but that experience led to a triumphant Easter. We may follow Him all the way.

DEMAND CUT IN MOTOR LICENSES

Automobile Club Plea to Compensate For Gas Tax Increase

Determined effort to bring about reductions in motor linesense fees to compensate for the heavy increase in taxation imposed on motorists by the jump in the gasoline tax from 3 to 5 cents a gallon was made by a delegation from the Automobile Club of B.C. and Motor Dealers' Association, which waited on the provincial government yesterday.

AFTER COLLISION WITH U.S. FREIGHTER

Respecting Chiropractors and Drugless Practitioners' (hereinafter referred to as Public Bill No. 67). The member for Omineca rose to a point of order on the main ground that the proposed bill was similar in many respects to a private bill (No. 54) intituled 'An Act Respecting the Practice of Drugless Physicians' (hereinafter referred to as the Private Bill No. 54) which had been reported upon adversely by the Select Standing Committee on Standing Orders and Private Bills, whereupon I reserved my decision.

"I find that, as a matter of fact, Private Bill No. 54, above mentioned, was, in the usual course, referred to the said committee, and that on February 21 such committee reported as follows:

Report No. 6
Legislative Committee Rooms,
February 21, 1930.
Mr. Speaker:

Your Select Standing Committee on Standing Orders and Private Bills begs leave to report as follows:

That the preamble of the undermentioned bill has not been proved.

That the petitioners did not present any evidence that would enable your committee to form any opinion as to the desirability of granting the prayer of the said petition.

Bill No. 54 intituled "An Act Respecting the Practice of Drugless Physicians."

Your committee recommends that the bill be not allowed to proceed.

C. F. DAVIE
Chairman.

and that on February 27 such report was adopted by the House.

"Upon persual of both bills it appears that while the Public Bill No. 67 proposes to deal in a somewhat different way with the practice of what are there called drugless practitioners than what was contemplated in the Private Bill No. 54, and also provides for chiropractors, it does at the same time purport to legislate for the same class of persons which the said Private Bill No. 54 was intended to affect.

"With reference to the general principle affecting this question, I can do no better than to quote the rule laid down in May, Thirteen Edition, page 292:

"'It is the rule in both Houses which is essential to the due performance of their duties that no question or bill shall be offered that is substantially the same as one on which their judgment has already been expressed in the current session.'

"For example of this, see May, Thirteenth Edition, pages 295 and 667; Bourinot, pages 328, 329 and 330, where, after treatment of examples of evasions of the rule, it is stated: 'Such motions, however, must be very carefully considered in order to guard against the palpable violation of a wholesome rule.'

"It is laid down in May, Thirteenth Edition, on page 667, that 'a bill begun as a private bill cannot be taken up and proceeded with as a public bill.'

"And see the decision of Mr. Speaker Higgins, Speakers' Decisions, page 35:

"Adverting to the general principle that the same question cannot be proposed twice during the same session, there have been many decisions of Speakers of this House. See decision of Mr. Speaker Williams, Speakers' Decisions, page 95, where he ruled a bill out of order on the ground that the House had already expressed its opinion on the subject during the then present session. See also his decision (same page) upon a motion. Also the decision of Mr. Speaker Mara, pages 96 and 100; Mr. Speaker Higgins, pages 98 and 99; Mr. Speaker Pooley, pages 97 and 101; Mr. Speaker Booth, page 96. See also Rule 47 (Rules and Orders).

"There is no doubt that, in many respects, the proposed Public Bill No. 67 is substantially the same as the Private Bill No. 54 in respect of which the judgment of the House has already been expressed this session.

"In these circumstances and in view of the authorities above mentioned, I am of opinion that the proposed Public Bill No. 67 is not in order, and should not be allowed to proceed; and I so rule."

In committee last night the Christian Scientists made progress when J. W. Cornett secured endorsation of an amendment which allows members of any church practicing the tenants of their faith to be free from threat of prosecution.

HOLD OVER "DOCTOR" AMENDMENT

Dr. Borden's amendment limiting the use of the prefix doctor, was held over until an amendment by Mr. Twigg was printed and placed before the House. The amendment would have relation to the section Mr. Twigg said.

The chiropractors amendment was introduced by W. R. Rutledge and calls for a board of chiropractors to examine those seeking to enter the profession, instead of a board of medical men.

Dr. W. H. Sutherland said he had no objection to Christian Scientists, considered they had done some good with mental cases, but argued they should not be mentioned in the Medical Act. Mr. Twigg said unless the amendment went in the Medical Act the science practitioners were debarred by law law from practicing according to their religious faith, and were subject to penalties.

Hon. R. L. Maitland pointed out similar clauses were in the medical acts of other states and provinces.

Dr. Sutherland said he was not opposing, but he regarded this as the thin edge of the wedge. It would allow Christian Science practitioners to collect bills in the courts.

Dr. J. J. Gillis said Mr. Cornett should explain what Christian Science was, and Mr. Cornett told him the members knew.

LITTLE MORE LIBERTY

L. A. Hanna said there was too much legislation for special groups. The thing to do was to open up the law and allow people a little more liberty.

After the Christian Science amendment had passed, Mr. Twigg said that before the Borden clause came on for consideration it would be necessary to have his amendment considered, as it proposed an alternative. He could not move it earlier because he did not know what the Speaker's decision would be on the other bill.

HUNTERS OFF WATERSHEDS

Health of Victoria More Important, Says Reginald Hayward

The health of a city was more important than the pleasures of hunters, said Reginald Hayward, defending Victoria's private bill closing the Sooke watershed to the public in the Legislature yesterday.

A. M. Manson, K.C., informed the House that there was some objection that this was a very large area to close off by regulations of which very few of the public would be aware.

Mr. Hayward said Vancouver had similar protection for a larger area, but he agreed, at the instance of the Mines Department, to an amendment allowing free miners to go into the area on complying with the Health Act regarding blood tests, etc.

"The city engineer says if conditions go on as they are now, he may have to chlorinate the water," said Mr. Hayward.

The Legislature fixed up its municipal enactments in short order when the Vancouver and Victoria private bills and the annual crop of Municipal Act amendments were speeded along to their final stage.

The House accepted the assurance of Attorney-General Pooley that the Municipal Act was as recommended unanimously by the municipal committee, but on the Vancouver bill Mr. Manson moved a last minute amendment, which the Speaker told him was defeated on a few semi-audible "yeas" and "nays."

Mr. Manson wished to wipe out the City Council's power of defining manufacturers as something else and thereby making them eligible for a higher license fee than the limit of $100 fixed by the Legislature two years ago for manufacturers. He said the Legislature never meant this to be done, but Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., reminded him that the Court of Appeal had held otherwise. Col. Nelson Spencer agreed with Mr. Manson that the council's rights to levy high license fees on business should be curtailed.

A New and Better Shave by Gillette

A new Blade A new Razor

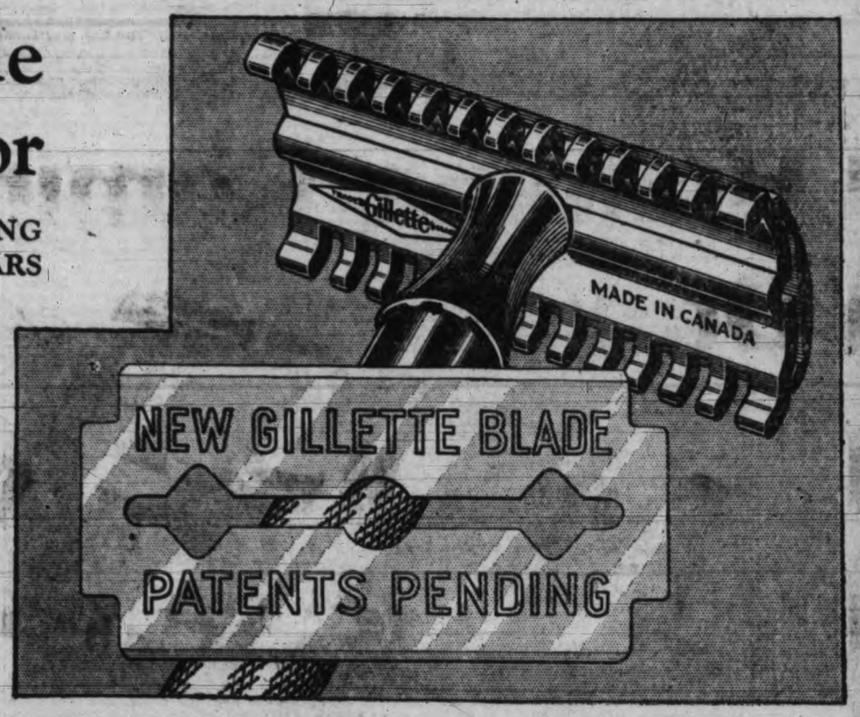
THE GREATEST SHAVING IMPROVEMENT IN 28 YEARS



MILLIONS of well-worn Gillettes are now going to win an honorable discharge. Sure — they're good old razors! And if you have to wait for your dealer to get his supply of the New Gillette Razor, your old Gillette will operate with the new blades.

What have we done to the Gillette Razor and the Gillette Blade? Not just one thing, or two things or three. We have made a dozen important changes.

Take "razor pull," for example. Our laboratories examined tens of thousands of used razors; our engineers talked to twenty-seven thousand hard-to-satisfy shavers.

What did they find? A razor "pulls" because its working parts have been dropped and dented on floor or wash basin.

Perhaps the dent is microscopic. Just the same it makes a difference. When you handle a Gillette, you are dealing with a fine precision tool. Even the smallest dent can throw it out of alignment. Hence "pull." Now look at the corners of the new razor. See those heavy lugs? You can't dent those corners by any ordinary accident. But suppose, by some terrific abuse, you should dent them. Never mind. The ends of the blade have been cut out. The blade is no longer held at the corners. Therefore, a dented razor-corner can't possibly affect the smoothness of your shave.

Another thing. The new blades are processed to resist rust. Think what that means in convenience and time saving. No more do you have to take the razor apart to wipe the blade. No more cut towels. Just loosen. Turn guard at right angles. Then re-tighten. Hold under hot running water for rinsing. Shake well. Lay on the shelf.

The old posts are gone. How many a good edge was lost by bumping against those posts. Now the razor blade turns at right angles for rinsing. No taking apart for cleaning.

Notice the new guard teeth . . . longer . . . turned back farther. They glide over the skin like velvet. You hardly feel the razor slide over your face.

See the ends of the blade . . . square . . . not round. Much easier to handle with slippery fingers. And, being almost flush with the cap, the blade shaves much better around the difficult corners of the mouth, ears, and nose. The famous guard channel beneath the blade edge allows the blade to meet the beard full and clear, yet with perfect safety. This has hitherto been an exclusive feature of high priced Gillettes selling at $5.00 to $75.00. Now you have it in the $1.00 model.

See your dealer today. Tomorrow he may be sold out . . . an inconvenient delay for you. Give your face this good news now!

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Winnipeg, March 20.—Wheat: Very light trading passing in wheat to-day, but offerings were extremely small and the market displayed a firmer tone with some short covering going on with some of the local crowd taking on small amounts of new commitments which was chiefly based on the weather forecast of lower temperatures and frosts over Kansas and other winter wheat states for to-night.

Opening prices were about half a cent lower based on early weakness in Liverpool, but Chicago opened a little firmer, and with a little buying by seaboard houses, the market quickly picked up opening losses, and on the extreme bulge was 2 cents above the close last night. After the first hour there was not the least sign of any outside business, but while the market had a setback of 1 cent from the high it again came back near the close.

Exporters did a small business out of Vancouver. There was a good inquiry from American and Canadian milling interests for some of our higher grades, but bids were out of the line with holders views, while there was just a fair demand for the lower grades.

Canadian wheat supplies are now 210,000,000 bushels over and above seed and domestic seed requirements which after allowing 50,000,000 for carryover on August 1 gives a surplus of 160,000,000 for export next four months. Crop news is the main feature to the market at the present time, and these reports must be watched carefully.

Coarse grains: These markets were all strong again to-day. Offerings are light and the local crowd are bidding the markets up, partly on short covering and partly going long. The demand for cash is extremely quiet, and is confined to a small business in the low grades with export business in everything seemingly out of the question.

Flax: Higher in sympathy with the strength in the general grain list. Actual sales are very small.

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Chicago, March 20.—Wheat—Trade was of moderate proportions, but the tone was fairly strong, the new crop months being relatively firm owing to the anxiety over the possibility of damage from the cold wave forecast. Liverpool closed strong, ¾ to 1 up, after being ¼ to ⅜ lower early. The smaller Argentine shipments and firmer offerings from that country caused short covering at the English market.

Germany has advanced the import duty to 77½ cents, which will be probably prohibitive, as it is intended. Russian reports are far from optimistic on the agricultural situation, but news from that country is very unreliable. Russia shipped no wheat and Danubian exports were light.

Forecast for cold wave extending down into southwest main bull factor, but crop complaints from other sections are coming in, Donovan finding a poor outlook in southern Illinois where he thinks some sections will have forty per cent abandonment. Receipts continue light.

Farm board statements indicate great efforts will be made to secure additional storage room either by purchase or building to take care of the new crop.

Can see little but a two-sided market for the time being but for present favor purchases on fair setbacks.

Corn: Easy at the start but turned strong on resumption of bull support later, scoring fair gains.

Cash demand slow with sales much smaller than recently at 23,000 bushels.

On the other hand country sales were also small and the movement is expected to continue light for some time to come.

Receipts here seventy cars with primary run 435,000 bushels versus 698,000 a year ago.

The market is in an excellent trading position with preference given to the buying side on all fair recessions.

Oats: Firmed up with wheat and at no time was there any particular pressure. Receipts continued small. Cash demand was slow with sales 38,000. On dips favor buying side.

Rye: Was irregular, no change in general situation.

Gardner Motors Shows 1929 Deficit

Chicago, March 20.—Gardner Motors Company in its report for 1929 shows a net loss of $483,174.

At the annual meeting here yesterday the officers were re-elected.

Wheat Markets Now More "Decent" Than In Month, Legge Says

Washington, March 20.—Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board stated to-day that the wheat market was more "decent" than it has been for a month. ...

"It has steadied," he said, "and this is looked upon as a favorable sign."

Mr. Legge declined to make any comment as to the Farm Board's attitude and action as to the new crop.

The Grain Stabilization Corporation has discontinued its purchasing of wheat, it was indicated. Mr. Legge declared the corporation had not added any appreciable amount of wheat to its holdings during the week.

MORE STORAGE FACILITIES PLANNED

Chicago, March 20.—The Farmers' National Grain Corporation, agency for the Farm Board, in a statement announced that Federal financing for construction of grain storage facilities would be provided.

The statement presented results of a survey of the storage congestion and indicated that the corporation was ready to aid in the purchase and building of additional elevators.

DELIVERY PROBLEM

It was reported here that large holders of grain had met the Farm Board representatives this week in Chicago to seek an agreement on the delivery on futures contracts, but that no understanding was obtained, with the probability of the possible delivery of millions of bushels at the already congested Chicago terminals.

The Grain Corporation, in the statement on its survey of storage facilities, declared the need of additional elevator capacity as "pressing."

LARGER CORN ACREAGE

Chicago, March 20.—Various features which affect the corn acreage outlook are favorable to an increase and their combined influence may be expected to cause material increase, Nat C. Murray says to-day. These factors are the relatively small reserves of old corn, favorable spring so far for preparing the land, probability of reduction of cotton acreage, which will go largely into and the fact that farm labor is relatively more plentiful than demand. The acreage last year was the smallest since 1919.

NICKEL, BRAZILIAN, F. PLAYERS LEAD MONTREAL ACTIVITY

Montreal, March 20.—The pace on the Montreal Stock Exchange slackened off considerably in the last hour, while profit-taking cut down most of the early gains, leaving an irregular appearance at the close with slight losses in the majority.

International Nickel lost heavily, being forced back to 41, off 1½ from yesterday's high and close. Brazilian held firm, being up ⅛ at 40⅛; Montreal Power gave a good account of itself, closing at 136, up 1¼.

On the weak side were Canada Power and Paper, Canadian Industrial Alcohol "B," Dominion Bridge, Cockshutt, Dryden, Hamilton Bridge, Massey-Harris, McColl-Frontenac, Power Corporation and Steel of Canada, all fractionally weaker.

Montreal, March 20.—The Montreal Gazette to-day says:

"Aided by the robust strength that developed in the market in general, International Nickel shares have made notable response to the optimistic air which pervaded the annual meeting of shareholders on Tuesday. Under the impetus of a broad wave of buying this issue has been by far the most advice on the local list this week.

"Brazilian was quick to make response to the general improvement in the market sentiment here. This issue came second in volume. While the recent action of the stock has been largely dictated by general market conditions, there has been noted an improvement in sentiment towards the stock, reflecting the continued firmness of the milreis, which in turn appears to be making response to indications of a much improved outlook in the economic situation of the republic.

FAMOUS PLAYERS' ACTIVITY

Famous Players is again a prominent feature in the trading, coming third in volume in the list, advancing to the new high for the year of 57. Nothing further is heard on the street regarding the widespread rumor of last week of a merger development involving this company, which received denial in the official quarters, but the turn of interest to this issue might appear to be sufficiently well based on the current earnings position of the company and its particularly well entrenched position in the amusement field in the Dominion.

Directors of the Steel Company of Canada are scheduled to meet next Wednesday in Hamilton, at which gathering there will be discussed the recent judgment given by the first division court of Ontario in the matter of dividends on the company's securities. Appeal to a higher court has been announced, in order that a definite position be established once and for all. At this meeting it is also likely a new director will be elected to the board to succeed the late Cyrus A. Birge.

BUYING SCRAMBLE BREAKS OUT ON BOND MARKET

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

New York, March 20.—Buying of bonds developed into a scramble to-day as a further relaxation on credit turned enormous funds into listed and unlisted securities. On the bond division of the New York Stock Exchange, the turnover in the first hour of trading was approximately $7,500,000, or the equivalent of a full day's business in some of the dull markets last summer and early fall.

Rate cuts by the Bank of England and by dealers in bankers' acceptances, together with two per cent. call money renewals—the lowest since November 18, 1924—contributed to the general impression that an indefinite period of easy money was at hand, and with bond yields well above the money markets, the demand for securities approached record proportions. The result was rapidly rising prices and gains of half to a full point in many of the leaders were common during the early trading.

Convertibles and the lower priced rails showed conspicuous strength and greatly increased turnovers. Utilities and industrials, particularly the oils, moved forward impressively.

Notable activity proceeded in such rails as Rock Island 4½s, Chesapeake and Ohio 4½s, Delaware and Hudson 4s, Canadian National 4½s, Illinois Central 4¾s, the Wabash and Missouri Pacific issues, Chicago Great Western 4s, St. Paul 5s, Northern Pacific 6s, and Chicago and Eastern Illinois 5s. Liberty Fourth 4¼s, crossed 102 on strong buying support, while the Treasury 4s pushed past 109. Prices of the governments were generally higher.

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

New York, March 20.—The International Telephone and Telegraph has purchased control of the Constantinople Telephone Company by acquisition of a major part of the standing stock, and the transaction has been approved by the Turkish Government, it was announced here yesterday. Dispatches from Stockholm yesterday also indicated that the company is trying to acquire the Ericsson Telephone Company, and a Swedish syndicate has been formed to fight the attempt. The dispatches stated that the Standard Electric Company, an International Telephone and Telegraph subsidiary, was acting in behalf of the American company in buying the stock.

Reports from Washington indicate that the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Commission will begin early in April the investigation of railroad holding companies authorized by the resolution of Rep. Parker. It is expected that these investigations will go a long way toward the solution of the rail consolidation problem. In attempting to consolidate all the railroads into twenty-one systems, Mr. Parker said the Interstate Commerce Commission has been unable to ascertain who actually owns and controls the roads.

VANCOUVER STOCK EXCHANGE

Vancouver, March 20.—Again to-day the oil and mining stocks were weak on the Vancouver Stock Exchange, with the volume of trading light. It is evident that many traders are just now standing aloof and watching proceedings rather than participating.

Among the important progress news of the last few days is the decision of Imperial drillers to "shoot" Baltac, Sterling and Mayland No. 1 in the hope of stimulating production.

Waite Valley is attracting attention from larger oil interests, it was stated to-day by Major J. R. Lowery. Major Lowery stated that Home production is normal and that Lowery Pete will measure up with the average production of the Home wells.

In a lifeless market this morning Home was held at 9.00 with the best bids reaching 8.75 and A.P. Consolidated sold at 1.80 to 1.85, slightly below the day before. Calmont was a little stronger and C. & E. sold up to 1.75.

The recovery of Premier was the feature of the metal stocks, the stock selling up to 1.06, a recovery from a new low of 95 the day before. Pend Oreille brought 2.80 and Reeves 70. Planet sold at 34. Noble Five at 13 and George Copper at 2.20. Woodbine was a popular trader at 2½ and Dalhousie Mines sold in fair volume at 12. Golconda sold at 65 and 68. Big Missouri was held at 57 and Grandview at 8½ cents.

MINES FAIL TO IMPROVE ON STANDARD

Canadian Press

Toronto, March 20.—Trading on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange failed to improve as the day went on and the close was irregular to soft, with the oils featuring in the final hour by advancing in a body.

Noranda and International Nickel ended the day with losses of 90 cents and 1.00, respectively.

Falconbridge, Sudbury Basin and Ventures were off from three to six points apiece.

The oils went higher in a body, with Home up 25, Alberta Pacific 10, Associated 3, Dalhousie 1 and Baltic off 1.

Toronto, March 20 (Miller-Court Special Service)—It is reported that an important discovery has been made on one of the lower levels of the old No. 64 shaft of the Nipissing Mine. Nothing definite has been announced as yet.

It is understood that La Rose Rouyn, operating in the Cobalt and Rouyn, is endeavoring to raise additional funds with a view to extensive mining of the Cobalt ores in their Ontario property.

Central Canada Mines will start work almost immediately on the Walsh claims in the Sapawe Lake District.

It is officially announced that the Teapot Dome Oils have brought in its No. 2 well with a large flow at a depth of 1,400 feet.

Every effort is to be made to reduce the per ton costs at Howey. It may be possible to reduce these to $5 a ton.

PROFIT-TAKING EASES INDUSTRIALS ON TORONTO

Toronto, March 20 (By Canadian Press)—Trading was back to normal on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day, total sales being under 30,000 shares.

The advance which featured operations yesterday carried it over at the opening, but thereafter prices slipped off under profit-taking.

Ford of Canada and the oils were down fractionally, Imperiol Oil and International Petroleum having to absorb principal sales in the afternoon.

Brazilian held up better than most stocks and B.C. Power "A" and "B" were up approximately a point.

Kelvinator rose to 11 before the close, a net gain of 2½ points.

TO-DAY'S REPORTS ON CALGARY OILS

Calgary, March 20 (Miller, Court Special Service)—Sterling Pacific is still blowing fragments of formation from the hole as the voluntary cleaning process continues, J. H. McLeod, manager of the Imperial Oil, announced to-day.

"We have not put the gas on the separator yet, while it is cleaning itself," Mr. McLeod added.

It is reported that the gas has shown a tendency to increase as the process continues.

Considerable speculation is rife as to the recovery possibilities of the gas and no definite idea will be obtained until the flow is placed on the separator.

Calgary, March 20.—Commonwealth in the Milk River, has encountered gas showing, according to officials. Drilling is continuing in the Devonian limestone at more than 3,655 feet.

Calgary, March 20.—Drilling is proceeding satisfactorily at A. P. Consolidated No. 2, declared A. B. Sinbleton, president. The well is thought to be nearly 100 feet in the lime.

Calgary, March 20.—Okalta No. 1 recently froze off completely and will be cleaned immediately with diamond drill, according to John I. McFarland, president.

Calgary, March 20.—Indications of nearing the Belemnite Bed, just above the limestone, are reported from Mercury No. 2. The bit yesterday entered harder formation at 4,660 feet, after drilling the poker chip shales. This well is drilling with rotary and mud to the lime. This formation will be drilled with oil circulating rotary. Mercury No. 2 is a short distance west of Mill City testing the eastern flank. Mercury No. 5 was drilling at about 2,140 feet.

Eastman Kodak Extending Rapidly

New York, March 20.—Eastman Kodak is making rapid strides in extending its activities into other fields. It recently opened its first unit for the production of a newly developed cellulose product used in the manufacture of films.

Other chemical products are also being developed and should further increase the company's earnings. A split-up in the stock of the company is expected in the near future.

Oil Interests See Turn in Industry

New York, March 20.—It is understood that oil interests feel that there has been a definite turn for the better in the prospects for the petroleum industry.

Of importance is the court decision declaring the California gas law to be legal, by which curtailment of California production will be affected.

Standard Oil of California, in announcing its increase in crude oil prices, stated that advance was made possible through better conditions in the industry, which for the first time in years had brought the production of crude oil virtually in balance with demand. California production

BULLISHNESS GROWS WITH EASY MONEY; ALLIED CHEM. SOARS

By Associated Press

New York, March 20.—The stock market closed irregularly higher to-day, ending a session of sharp price fluctuations. Operations for the advance received further impetus from a call money renewal rate of 2 per cent for the first time in nearly six years, but heavy profit-taking and short selling was prompted by a rise in the rate to 2½ per cent in the last hour.

In the late trading Coca Cola ran up more than eleven points to 1930 peak prices.

BROKERS' LOANS GAIN

New York, March 20 (B.C. Bond).—At thee lose of the market this afternoon the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 279.41, up 1.53 points for the day; for twenty rails at 155.78, up 0.51 points; for twenty utilities at 101.75, up 0.72 points.

New York, March 20.—Bullishness spread in the market to-day.

Standard Statistics in the middle of the session came out with the following statement on the outlook for the securities market:

"There is now little danger of a break which would carry stocks greatly lower, regardless of intrinsic merit."

R. T. Moore's Town Topics service also came out with a very bullish forecast. Among other things, he said:

"We now have every indication that a real old-fashioned bull movement is under way."

BANK OF ENGLAND CUTS

The Bank of England reduced its rediscount rate to-day from 4 to 3½ per cent.

Call money renewed at 2 per cent, and in the afternoon went to 2½ per cent.

MONEY EASY ENOUGH

The New York Federal Reserve, after the close, took no action towards cutting its rate, which is now at 3 per cent.

It was said that money was easy enough now to stimulate business and there was no further need for another reduction, also, that Reserve authorities would not be sympathetic to the creation of a real stock market boom based on easy money alone.

TWO FAST MOVERS

Allied Chemicals was the stellar performer to-day, shooting up from 278½ to 292.

Dupont shot up from 132½ to 128½.

Tobacco stocks were steadier, with no recurrence of yesterday's weakness

A FEW WEAK SPOTS

There were a number of weak spots including Simmons and Gillette. National Cash Register was also in supply and selling in each instance was accompanied by reports of an indifferent or uncertain outlook.

GENERAL MOTORS UP AGAIN

General Motors was the outstanding feature in the late dealings, going to 49 from 46⅝ on reports of large scale buying by Dupont interests.

Closing was somewhat irregular, many traders apparently wishing to do the usual weekly waiting, pending publication of brokers' loans.

The fact that U.S. Steel common and American Can did not follow up their strength of yesterday was another reason for creating some caution on the part of the trading element.

AUBURN STRONGER

Auburn Motors from 248¾ rose to a new high on the move at 257¾.

General Railway Signals, A. M. Byers, American Power and Light, Atchison, C.P.R., St. Louis and San Francisco, Missouri, Kansas and Texas were also strong spots.

STEEL EARNING SHOW BIG GAIN

New York, March 20.—U.S. Steel Corporation earnings for 1929 are reported at $21.19 a share on 8,132,840 common shares, compared with $12.50 a share on 7,116,233 shares in 1928.

Otis Elevator Company 1929 earnings were $15.96 on 500,000 shares, against $16.09 a share on 432,184 shares in 1928.

CITIES SERVICE SURPLUS MOUNTS

New York, March 20.—Cities Service Company and subsidiaries for February, after preferred dividends, show a surplus of $3,809,036, compared with $2,053,014 in February, 1929. Total for the last twelve months is $33,124,576 compared with $23,257,083 in the previous twelve months.

EASY MONEY POWER BEHIND MARKET

New York, March 20.—"The remarkable situation prevailing in the money market, without doubt, furnishes the power behind the stock market," H. P. Eliss comments to-day. Despite the appearance of strength, it is easily demonstrable that advances are not general, that the tone is uneven and that real activity is confined to relatively few issues.

"The motors are not making definite headway, nor are the coppers, to mention two prominent groups. The utilities have moved within a very narrow range since the first of the month and the average price of the representative issues in that group at the present time is only fractionally above the level at the end of February.

"American Can and U.S. Steel remain the two outstanding industrials.

"Acceptance of trading profits in amusement stock is justified.

"Weakness in cigarette manufacturing issues yesterday is not, in our opinion, a reason for liquidating long positions.

"Oils have again halted, but prospects for the petroleum industry are better perhaps than surface signs would tend to show.

"Grounds exist for anticipating extension of trading interest on the buying side of the rails, although a major upward move does not seem in order for the immediate future."

EXPECTS BUILDING TO BENEFIT

New York, March 20.—The Wall Street Mirror to-day issued the following to its clients:

"Cheap money is still the big incentive in the stock market situation and should begin soon to make itself felt in the business situation. In this connection, the first industry that will feel the effect of this cheap money is the building industry.

FOREIGN BUYING TO BE FACTOR

"Foreign buying from now on will be a big factor in our markets. This investment demand will not be felt in bonds, going mainly into the stock market.

"Watch the action of Steel common and American Can. They are the leaders and will continue to be the leaders.

TRADING GENIUS BUSY IN NICKEL

"International Nickel is starting on a sharp upward movement. A trading genius, whose name has been linked with Radio in the past, has taken hold of Nickel.

"The speculative rails are still well bought. Missouri, Kansas and Texas called to your attention on Wednesday, stepped up into new high ground immediately, and will continue to advance to-day.

Mount Royal Stock Runs Up, Then Drops

Toronto, March 20.—A. J. Pattison Jr. & Company Limited say that early last week, on the report that the control of the Mount Royal Hotel had changed hands, the preferred shares sold on a few transactions up to 60.00. Quite a lot of stock was offered at, and just under, this figure; and the price throughout the week gradually worked off until the shares were offered at 55.00, with 52.00 the best bid for a small lot.

MOTOR SALES START TO GAIN

New York, March 20.—Reports from the Middle West to-day tell of an increase in General Motors sales during the last two weeks, and it is hinted that price schedules might be revised upward in the near future, the New York American says to-day.

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

New York, March 20.—Whitney of Wall Street Financial Bureau says to-day:

FURTHER ADVANCE TO-DAY

"The point was made yesterday that it would be entirely logical for the industrial group to have a day of hesitation or minor reaction following the recording of a new top for 1930, and that if this were the case you would witness a renewed advance by the utility and rail groups.

"In yesterday's market a moderate reaction on the part of those industrials which had been outstandingly strong in the past week was recorded, and the expected additional advance by the rail and utility groups made the expected picture a realization and completed what should be the normal action of the market. Before the end of to-day, look for the advance to be resumed by the industrials and for all three groups to be outstandingly strong.

"There is a very good possibility that the Bank of England rate will be reduced to half of one per cent. to-day, although it is more likely that this reduction will come a week from to-day. Meantime, call money at twe per cent. and further weakness in time money leads conclusively to further reduction in the rediscount rate here. We are having a virtual duplication of the 1928 market, which advanced for six months in the face of a receding tide of business. In the middle of that year business turned up, while the trend of the market continued upward without a reverse in trend until two years after the panic.

COMMENT

"The expected advance in United States Steel is under way. Continue to buy steel below 190 as its objective is well above 200.

"In the rail group, Missouri, Kansas & Texas has already established a new high for this year. Expect this issue to go on a $4 basis next month, and in this type of a money market look for it to approximate seventy-five. I am quite confident that the next meeting of New York Central directors will result in that stock's being established on a $10 basis, and again, considering the money market, know no reason why it should not sell at a premium over 200. Expect Delaware, Lackawanna & Western to become a part of New York Central, and for this to bring a price for the issue of approximately forty shares current levels. Include among the rails some Chesapeake Corporation.

"In the utilities, continue the purchase of Public Service of New Jersey while it remains below 100, of Consolidated Gas, Brooklyn Union and Columbia Gas & Electric.

"In the industrials, additional buying of Dupont, Union Carbide, National Surety, Famous Players, Radio and Radio Products Corporation, is warranted, as is additional buying in General Asphalt and Mid-Continent.

"Interboro, Brooklyn Manhattan Transit and Manhattan Modified are all headed materially higher."

Lumber Industry Decrease Forecast

The lumber outlook is not encouraging, according to The Brookmire Economic Service Inc., which says: Prices of lumber have been well maintained through the winter; the fact that dealers' stocks were relatively small was no doubt partly responsible for quotations staying up in spite of the obvious overproduction. Production figures should be watched carefully this spring, since there is distinct danger of output being increased more than is justified. For producers to do so would make sharp price cuts probable.

"The building industry, one of the largest consumers of lumber, is now more than twenty per cent below the rate of February a year ago. Three other major users of lumber are the automobile, furniture and packing industries. Automobile manufacturers will call for about thirty per cent less lumber than last year. Furniture trade is poor in spite of the special sales efforts now being put forth, and packing will require not more than ninety to ninety-five per cent of last year's takings of lumber."

Income Cut Hits Purchasing Power

"Purchasing power of the entire country continue to decline to levels well below those seen in the past several years," according to the latest Sales and Credit Map of The Brookmire Economic Service Inc., which adds:

"Unemployment is reported as a serious problem in nearly every industrial centre of the United States. Credit is tight and collections poor. National income for the period is estimated at approximately $35,200,000,000, a decline of about twelve per cent from the same period last year."

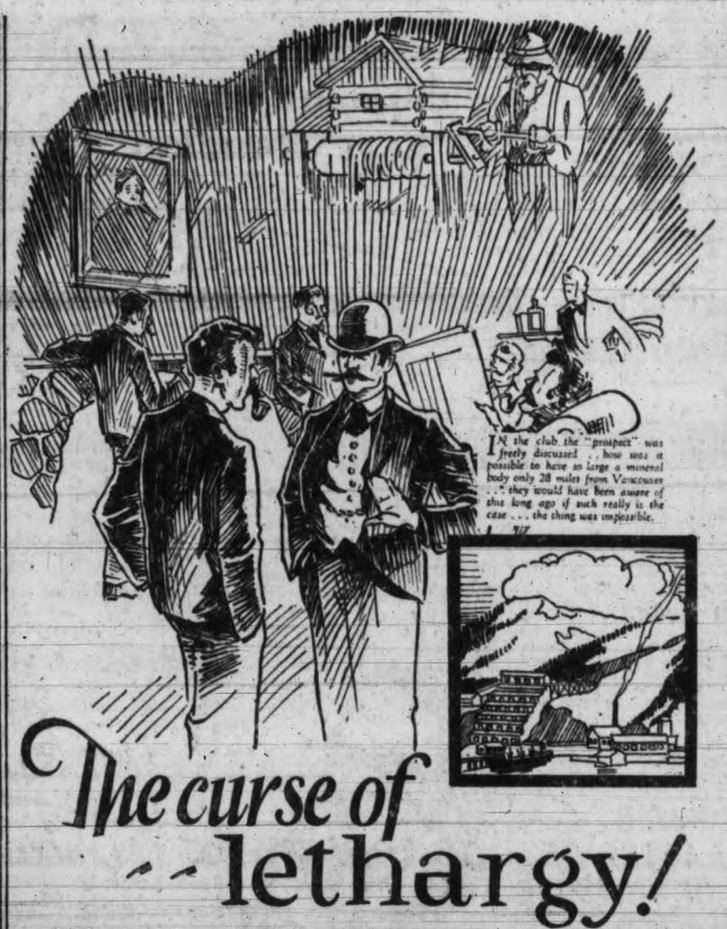
BUTTER SURPLUS NOW PILING UP

Ottawa, Ont., March 20.—Butter stocks in cold storage on March 1 totaled 13,086,000 pounds, or almost 5,000,000 pounds above the five-year average at that date.

Cheese stocks, however, at 8,859,000 pounds, were about 5,000,000 pounds below the average.

Figures were issued at the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.



The curse of lethargy!

MILLER, COURT & CO. LTD. control 43 per cent. of the production of metalliferous ores in British Columbia excepting the Granby, Britannia, Consolidated and Premier.

TWENTY-NINE years ago, a rumor persisted amongst Vancouver business men that showings indicated a copper mine a short distance from the city. Although no financing took place, the rumor still persisted.

At this time, a young Vancouver reporter visited the location of the "prospect" for his newspaper. This man had experience in mining engineering . . . his zeal was not without technical understanding. He examined the "prospect" . . . took samples and had them assayed. The assays ran high, so he wrote a story for his paper.. On its publication, leading citizens protested, claiming the article boosted "just a hole in the ground" . . . "a wild cat proposition." It was impossible, they said, to have such mineral wealth only 28 miles from Vancouver.

So lethargy held sway, while foreign capital developed that "prospect," which today is the largest copper mine in the British Empire.

Capital is the lifeblood of British Columbia mining development, whether that capital is supplied locally or from outside sources, anything that interferes with its inflow and the ready marketability of British Columbia mining stocks results in direct economic loss to our industrial and commercial life.

In simple words it is "Stick to high-grade Securities." The principle is the same whether it be two figures or six.

D. WARNOCK,

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognised by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

The Princess and the Perjurer

Allan Hillgarth

At that I could have sworn she started. Her smile faded to a frown, and she looked at me in a strange way, half puzzled, half frightened. I think it was the only time I ever saw her frightened.

"I'm glad you've come," I went on, "though I'm afraid I'm but poor company just now. Won't you sit down?"

Without a word she pulled up a chair and complied. Confidence seemed to have come back to her. She looked at me steadily, and I could tell nothing from her face.

"I was very glad to hear you had arrived, Stepan," she said slowly.

She spoke in a low, gentle voice, very pleasant to the ear but vaguely alarming. I felt, though I hardly knew why, that she was passing sentence on me. Impatiently I put the thought aside. If she had divined my imposture, she wouldn't be here now, addressing me in such terms. She believed she knew me, and I mustn't let my crazy imagination run away with ridiculous ideas. But who could she be? Hadn't I had surprises enough in this strange house? She spoke Russian like a Russian yet she didn't look the part. She looked more French than anything.

"I'm so glad we've both got here safely," she murmured.

Even the least important sentence may tell one something. I knew I could never have met her here. Ten to one it had been in Russia and, from the way she spoke, I guessed it hadn't been so long ago. In Sevastopol, perhaps? Anyway, it was no unreasonable supposition that our parting had taken place in curious circumstances, under press of danger or excitement. I began to believe I knew who she was.

"Are you?" I said, sinking my voice to suit hers. "After what happened, when I last saw you——"

She took me up at once.

"What happened?" she said quickly.

But I wasn't worried by that. Unless she suspected me—and I had to risk it; I'd risked it with Gorko—and was leading me on, I was quite safe.

"You know as well as I do," I told her, with a hint of reproof.

Something akin to admiration came into her eyes and went again at once. She burst out laughing.

"I've got a headache," I objected.

"Poor boy!" she said, grave immediately. "I won't laugh. But you do amuse me, you know. Really, I think I like you—even more than I did."

Her laugh—and that pause in her last remark! I was nearly sure she had seen through me; after all. But I had to keep it up as long as I could.

"Thank you, Nina," I said quietly.

My rather wild guess had been bred of wisdom. She accepted the name as a matter of course.

"You must have had a difficult time, Stepan. Sergei Alexovitch has been telling me."

Sergei Alexovitch was obviously Gordko.

"Uncomfortable, perhaps," I admitted, "but hardly difficult. Tell me about yourself. I want to hear all that's happened to you."

"There's nothing to tell. The boat brought me straight here, where I've spent several days made tedious by the advances of Ivan Semionovitch." She smiled—a smile, that was almost a sneer. "That fool! But he's a dangerous fool. You've never met him before, Stepan, so take warning from me, if Sergei Alexovitch hasn't warned you already. They suspect us, those two Jews. How much they suspect I don't know but I believe they're close to the truth. If they were sure that the two agents delegated to deal with Kadenossov—you and I, my Stepan—were Centrists, I shudder to think of the lengths to which they might go. As it is, even the old man wouldn't dare to ask us to share our knowledge in face of his very definite instructions, and I don't imagine he would attempt to injure me. But you're different. Father and son, old vulture and young hawk, are both furious that you've survived your journey. Had you fallen by the way, Semion Efimovitch would have seized the chance to put his son in your place, and even Sergei Alexovitch couldn't have objected. The order was, two must know and never more or less than two."

"I know. So you think that suspicion and disappointment may lead them to murder me quietly?"

"Yes. And it would be made to appear an accident."

"I'm not afraid of them," I said bravely.

Truth to tell, I wasn't, but only because I hadn't yet thought about it.

"Why should you be afraid?" Nina demanded, with fine contempt. "Afraid! You must be on your guard; that's all."

"If they try to poison me," I said slowly, as the possibilities became apparent. "I don't see how I'm to prevent it."

"They won't poison you. With Sergei Alexovitch, a doctor, here? It would provide him with the very excuse he's waiting for, and, if they don't know that, they must suspect it."

"Ah!"

"I don't quite see what they could do, but you must be ready for an attempt of some sort. It's rather amusing, in a way, because I'm sure they're afraid of Sergei Alexovitch, and yet he was chosen by their friends to keep a watch on you and me! The Jewish oligarchy has practically given us that gold—given it to the Centre, which they hate more than they do a dozen White armies. Now I must leave you. Remember, those two rats are dangerous."

"I shall remember."

She nodded and rose but paused a moment by my bed. Her face, wearing a faintly derisive smile, looked down at me. Was she laughing at me? I brushed the thought aside. Lord, but she was an attractive woman! What, I wondered, had been our degree of intimacy? Ought I to make love to her? I didn't want to. There was something almost evil about her, though I couldn't understand quite where it showed.

"Au revoir, Stepan," she said softly and at once glided from the room.

Half an hour later, sleep completely out of reach, I was ruminating on the odd chances of life, when Gorko came in. He brought with him a small, shrunken individual, whose high forehead and studious look interested me. He, even more than Gorko, had the peculiar stamp of the Russian Revolutionary Intellectual.

"Comrade Lemenev, Professor of Logic at Perm," was how Gorko styled him, and the little man pulled his ragged whiskers nervously.

I was rather amused, though I took care not to show it. Professor of Marxian dogmatism would be nearer the truth! His eyes met mine in a hurried glance; then he looked away, sticking out his hand at me in a half-hearted fashion. I took it with every symptom of warmth, crushed his soft fingers and let it go again. He hardly spoke at all but stood in silence, his gaze straying everywhere except to my face. Yet I was not deceived. Though his nervousness was genuine, he wasn't to be reckoned negligible.

When he had gone, Gorko, who was replacing my bandage with a strip of plaster, looked into my face and laughed. No mirthful laugh was it, though it had humor of a cynical kind. Gorko always seemed to me to be laughing at mankind in general, when he laughed at all. If he ever had any more definite butt, it was himself.

"Why did you bring him?" I asked.

"So that you might know him. He's the only other Centrist here, besides Nina Alexandrovna and ourselves."

The significance of that wasn't lost on me.

"Will there be trouble with the ghetto?"

"Anything is possible," he countered quietly.

I let him go on with his doctoring in silence. Presently he said, "Some day there will be a pogrom in Russia."

To relish the full grimness of that sentence, one must have heard it as I did. Conversationally, smoothly, without emotion, it fell into the silence with a rending violence more awesome than an avalanche.

"There have been many," I murmured.

"This will be the last."

It would have been useless to argue with him, for he was obviously obsessed by his hatred for Jews. I dropped wearily back on the pillows and lay thinking. If only I could make capital out of this obsession!

"The power of the Jews," said Gorko, "is the curse of the world. Soured by their marked isolation, they are purely antagonistic to all other races. In Russia, especially, they work for evil. Years ago I knew it would be so. They had no interest in the Revolution, yet they pushed themselves to the front of it for their own ends. If we wished to breed anarchy and shed blood, it was that a new Russia should arise from the ashes of the old, but, to the Jew, anarchy was an end in itself, destruction without reconstruction, chaos made permanent."

He spoke slowly, without heat. Drawn up to his full height, his eyes staring straight in front of him, he had forgotten my presence altogether.

"So," he went on, after a brief pause, "there must come a reckoning. When we have that gold, the Centre will reveal itself as the greatest power in Russia, and the Jew's day will end in a bloody sunset."

"Good!" I said nervously. "But is it wise to speak so in this house?"

He looked down at me.

"No, it's foolish. I had forgotten. Has Nina visited you?"

"She was here not long ago."

"Did she warn you? If I had come alone to-day—Well, my hand would have been forced, and perhaps I'm sorry it wasn't. We received a wireless just now. The steamer's due to-morrow evening and will leave for Batoum before daylight. You and Nina are to go in her. Radin goes with you, as your servant. I'll give you detailed instructions later. My charge ends here, and another man, Sokolov, will watch over you in Batoum until the Georgian Soviet Republic is established and the gold can be removed in safety. At least, that's the plan, as they devised it in the Kremlin. The weak point in it is Sokolov, whom they trust with such an important duty. Sokolov, Stepan Vassilievitch, is one of Us, and already has his orders from me."

"So you are staying here?"

"For the present. I don't like to leave the Obuhov family. Lemenev stays, too, of course. I shall follow you to Batoum before Christmas."

He turned away to the window. Against the grey light outside his gaunt profile showed hard and almost cruel—but, explain it how you will, not unlikeable.

Suddenly he swung round.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Doormat

(Copyright, 1930).

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Did you ever notice," said the Shaggy Wolf to the Fuzzy Fox one day, "what Uncle Wiggily has in front of his bungalow door?"

"Why, yes," answered the Fox. "Of course. It's a doormat, so he can wipe his paws clean before he goes in and then he won't get Nurse Jane's kitchen linoleum all dirt."

"Oh, so that's what it is," growled the Wolf. "I was wondering why that rabbit always stood still a few moments on his stoop, before he opened the front door to go in."

"He stops to wipe his feet on the doormat," explained the Fox. "But what has that got to do with getting something to eat? I'm hungry—very hungry, and a rabbit would be fine!"

"So am I hungry," growled the shaggy Wolf. "And Uncle Wiggily's doormat may be something that will do the trick."

"You aren't going to start eating doormats, are you?" asked the Fox. "My stars! I hope not!"

"I hope not, myself!" chuckled the Wolf. "I'm pretty hungry, but not quite that much. No, I just asked about Uncle Wiggily's doormat because I have an idea. Wait here for me. I'll soon be back."

"Bring something good to eat with you when you come!" begged the Fox

as the Wolf slunk out of his den. For that's where the two Bad Chaps had met and were talking.

"If I don't bring a rabbit back this trip I will on the next!" howled the Shaggy Wolf, who had very long hair for winter. Long, shaggy hair it was, like that on a Persian cat, if you have ever seen one.

"Well, I wonder what trick the Wolf is up to now?" thought the Fox as he sat alone in his friend's den. "Talking about Uncle Wiggily's doormat. Very queer, if you ask me!"

Soon the Wolf came lipping, lopping back to his den! In one paw he carried a pot of paint and in the other a brush.

"Here you go, Mr. Fox!" cried the Wolf. "I want you to paint a word on my back."

"What word?" asked the Fox, curious like.

"The word 'Welcome,'" went on the Wolf. "I have just looked at Uncle Wiggily's doormat. It has the word 'Welcome' on it in big letters. Now if you will paint that word on my back, I'll sneak to the bungalow, throw the regular doormat over the railing and take its place myself. Uncle Wiggily will come home from his adventure. He will step on me, thinking I'm the doormat, to wipe his feet. He'll see the word 'Welcome' painted on my shaggy hide and, though I am a bit diferent color from his mat, I'm sure he will never notice, for it will be evening. So go ahead and put a 'Welcome' sign on me. When Uncle Wiggily steps on me I'll jump up and nab him!"

"Hum! Welcome," murmured the Fox. "What does that mean?" he asked uneducated like and suddenly.

"It means glad to see you, or something like that," answered the Wolf. "Never mind what it means. Go ahead and paint 'Welcome' on my back. Then I'll stretch out flat on the porch. I'll hide my head and paws under my long, shaggy hair and I'll look like a mat."

"Yes, I guess you will," agreed the Fox, taking the brush and dipping it in the paint. "But how do you spell Welcome?"

"You're doing the painting and you'll have to do the spelling," growled the Wolf. "But if I were doing it I should spell it 'Welcum.'"

"Oh, no!" barked the Fox. "You're wrong. It should be spelled 'Welkum.'"

"Go ahead and paint it and spell it anyway you like," cried the Wolf. "I'm not fussy like that!" But I'm just as good a speller as you are," which was quite true.

So the Fox painted the word "Welkum" on the shaggy back of the Wolf and then that bad chap ran to Uncle Wiggily's bungalow, tossed the real doormat with its word "Welcome" over the railing and took its place, spreading himself out and lying very still.

Along came hopping the rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink nose. It was getting dark but as Uncle Wiggily stopped, before stepping on what he thought was the doormat to wipe his paws, he looked at the word printed there.

"'Welkum!'" spelled the rabbit gentleman. "That's wrong! Somebody has been playing tricks with my doormat." He looked more closely at it and saw not the word spelled wrong but the wrong mat. He saw it wasn't his doormat but the Wolf stretched out there ready to grab the rabbit the moment he took another step.

"You can't fool me! You can't fool me! That isn't the way to spell welcome!" shouted Uncle Wiggily. He jumped off the steps and ran to call the Police Dog who soon put the tricky Wolf in jail. "Welkum" sign painted on him and all.

"Just my luck!" sighed the Wolf when he was locked in. "Next time I try to catch a rabbit by pretending I'm a doormat I'll learn how to spell!"

And if the aeroplane doesn't knock your chimney upside down so all the smoke swirls down into the face of the clock, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's spring song.

Neilson Programme Featured To-night

The Neilson Hour at 6 o'clock this evening over CNRV will again feature the Jersey Milk Chocolate orchestra, with a favorite number as leading tidbit. Victor Herbert Air de Ballet has been chosen and, scintillating as it does with color contrasts and unexpected combinations will keep listeners constantly on the alert for its wonderful climax. Like all of Herbert's work it has a universal appeal. Wishart Campbell, baritone, and Herbert Hargreaves, tenor, guest artists on the Neilson Hour, blend their voices in the old favorite, "Brown Bird Singing," while Jean Haig, the coloratura soprano who has delighted Pacific Coast audiences with her work since the inception of the Canadian chain broadcasts, will again be heard in several selections. Her personality and voice have placed her in the foremost place as a Canadian broadcasting artiste, and together with the orchestra in characteristic numbers, the programme over CNRV should maintain its usual standard.

HIGH RADIO SALARIES ON DOWN TREND

San Francisco, March 20.—Salaries for radio entertainers are sliding down the scale on the Pacific Coast. They are now only slightly above the stage.

Crooning blues singers, once unusually popular on the air, have felt the slash more than other artists. They are being put on weekly salaries netting much less than when on an appearance on a programme basis.

Guest artists have felt the effect of retrenchment with a downward trend in payment for a single performance. The pay, however, is higher than the stage. Musicians in radio studios and theatre pits receive equal pay.

BABY DIES IN HOSPITAL

Nanaimo, March 20.—Duncan Arnold, four-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Bennie of the Cedar district, died in the local hospital at 2 p.m. yesterday.

URGES PIPE-LINE TO BRING ALBERTA GAS TO VANCOUVER

Vancouver, March 20.—Construction of a pipe line from Alberta to Vancouver to bring natural gas to industries and householders here, was suggested as a possibility of the future by C. E. Eldridge, vice-president of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, in an address here before a joint meeting of the mining bureau of the Board of Trade, the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and the British Columbia Chamber of Mines.

"The time has come for Alberta's government to investigate the possibility of developing a great chemical industry utilizing her cheap fuel for the manufacture of allied chemicals in competition with the world," Mr. Eldridge said.

Manufacture of nitrogen fertilizers would be the proper function of such an industry, he said, pointing out the great benefits derived by Germany from the development of nitrogen fertilizer plants. In Germany, he said, the industry is valued at almost $2,000,000,000 annually, representing the

Shall the Middle-aged Wife Divorce Her Husband So That He Can Marry a Flapper?—Why Money Is the Poorest Thing for Which a Girl Can Marry

DEAR MISS DIX—We have been married twenty-four years and have got along amiably and pleasantly together. When we were married we were a poor boy and girl, but we were both ambitious and not afraid of work, and so we have prospered, each of us doing our share, and now at middle age we are well off and should be happy. But all of a sudden my husband has discovered that we are not congenial and "have nothing in common," and that we should get a divorce so that he can marry a young girl with whom he has become infatuated. He demands that I should get out and make my own living, and I am forty-two.

Is it fair for me to have to give up my home that I have helped earn and surrender my husband to a younger woman after giving the best years of my life to his service? He doesn't find any fault with me. He merely says I don't understand him as this girl does, and that he will be happier with her than with me. Is there any way to make a man like that see reason? MRS. X.

ANSWER:

None except experience, and its lesson comes too late to do any one any good. The disaster has happened, and it does not even serve as a warning to any other middle-aged man who is taken by a pretty flapper and who thinks he can find happiness in swapping an old wife for a new one.

When men look around among their acquaintances who have wrecked their homes and discarded the wives of their youth for girls young enough to be their daughters, they see that in almost every case it has brought misery instead of the happiness he expected to the man, but that doesn't prevent them from indulging in the same folly. They are sure that somehow, some way, their case is going to be an exception, and that all they need to restore their youth and make them boys again is to get a young wife, and that with her marriage will be a blissful romance, a grand sweet song, with never a discordant note to mar its harmony.

Of course it doesn't work out that way. It couldn't in the very nature of things. To begin with, unless a man is a conscienceless villain, and generally he is nothing of the sort, he finds out that you can't build a new house of happiness on the wrecks of an old one. Also he finds out that he can't shut the door on a cruel and wrong thing he has done and forget it. Conscience is the skeleton at his feast. Do what he will he cannot forget the wife he has betrayed, the children he has forsaken.

Then he finds that marriage is no fountain of youth into which he can plunge and come forth a boy again. The little flare of youth that made him think that his wife was too old for him dies down, and when he finds himself united to a girl half his age he realizes that she is too young for him. He doesn't want to jump around and play around as she does. He doesn't want to dance and go on wild parties. He wants to stay at home and rest. His point of view, his code of conduct, the very things he knows are of one generation, while hers are of another. They disagree on a thousand points simply because their traditions are of different eras.

And he finds out, ninety-nine times out of a hundred, that when a young girl marries a middle-aged man she does it because of what he can give her. She is tired of work and tired of poverty and she wants a fine house and cars and fine clothes. She wants a sugar papa instead of a husband, and she lets him pay the bill while she dances with boys who are lithe and young as she is, and has dates with sheiks while husband is working in his office to make the money she throws away.

When a man says he has "nothing in common" with the wife to whom he has been married for twenty-four years, he simply befools himself. Why, he has more in common with her than he can ever possibly have with any other human being. They have the memories of their youth; of the years they worked and struggled shoulder to shoulder; of pinching economies, of little treats, of hopes and plans and dreams that they dreamed together.

They have the memories of new-born babes that they cradled in their arms, of sick beds that they watched by and prayed over, of coffins that they wept over, of boys and girls growing up about them. They have the memories of old friends, of old ways. They can say endlessly to each other, "Do you remember?"

They have in common the same standards of conduct, the same habits, even the same tastes in food. What other woman in the world could ever have as much in common with him as the woman who has lived with him for years and adjusted her life to his?

As for a man saying that the wife to whom he has been married for twenty-four years doesn't understand him, that is arrant nonsense. He may not know it, but she knows him far better than he knows himself. She knows every turn of his mind. She knows his every weakness, his every vanity, just as well as she knows how many lumps of sugar he likes in his coffee or his taste in neckties.

It is the new wives with whom men have nothing in common. It is the young wives of old husbands who do not understand them, as nearly every man who divorces his old wife to marry a flapper finds out to his sorrow.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have two suitors, one rich, one poor, either one of whom I can marry. My mother, aunts and relatives, who seem to have my best interests a heart, urge me to marry the rich man and tell me it is foolish to consider the love element at all, as love doesn't last. But I love the poor man, who is in every way a real man, and will eventually, I think, succeed.

Tell me, does love fade as every one says? Will expensive clothes, trips abroad, big cars compensate me for the lack of love on my part? If I were your daughter which man would you advise me to marry?

DISTRACTED.

ANSWER:

If you were my daughter I would have no hesitation whatever in advising you to marry the man you love. I think money is the poorest thing in the world to marry for, because it is so easy to get and so easy to lose.

You can always make money, but you can't make love. Any one who is fairly intelligent and industrious and energetic can make money, but no effort on your part, no will power, can make you love a man you do not love. And the mischief of the thing is that if you marry a man you do not love, trusting that you will learn to love him after marriage, you will find that the very fact that you are tied to one for whom you do not care makes him more distasteful to you and throws a glamour over the other man that gives him added fascinations in your eyes.

Of course money will buy you pretty clothes, but if the price you have paid for them is giving up the man you love, a sad heart will beat under your chiffons. Of course money will give you trips to Europe, but is there anything drearier than to travel with an uncongenial companion? Of course you can buy fine cars with money, but if you will notice you hear more laughter coming out of flivvers than you do out of limousines. Money will buy you creature comforts, but it doesn't buy the thrill of the hand you love nor the kiss that is like fire on your lips.

And think, my dear, how easy money is to lose. Suppose you marry a man for money and then he loses it, what have you then? Nothing. Last fall we saw millionaires become paupers inside of a day. But if you marry the man you love you always have your heart's desire, no matter what befalls.

Moreover, in this country of opportunities the poor young man is often the rich man at middle age, while the rich boy has nothing by the time he is forty-five. So, if you want to have your cake and eat it too, marry the poor young chap who is a go-getter.

DOROTHY DIX.

* * * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—I am in love with a beautiful young girl who is very intelligent, sympathetic and kind, but she had infantile paralysis when a small child and it has left her a little lame. Some think that because of that I should not marry her, but it makes no difference to me. I am well able to provide a comfortable home for her.

ONE WHO LOVES.

ANSWER:

Marry her and be happy. Just as long as she has not a distorted temper or a lame disposition it does not matter. If she is sweet and gentle and intelligent she will make you a fine wife, and her limping a bit does not matter.

DOROTHY DIX.

COLLECTION INDEX LOWER THAN IN 1921

"Industrial employment in January showed a two per cent reduction from January, 1929," says the latest sales and credit analysis of The Brookmire Economic Service Inc., which adds:

"Payrolls were reduced seven per cent below last January, indicating more part time for those employed. By far the poorest factor in the business situation is reflected in our Collections Index for January, which stands at 14.1, constituting a lower level by four points than the previous bottom reached in January, 1921. The index stood at 75.0 last January. Our business index for January is ninety-four per cent of normal against 110.2 per cent for January, 1929."

Library of Records Part of Equipment

Considerable interest attaches to the announcement, made recently by Victor Talking Machine Company of Canada Limited that all radio-electrola instruments will have as a part of their regular equipment a well-varied library of Victor records. It is stated that this marks the first time in the history of combination instruments that records have been included as regular equipment.

As an additional feature, in order that the library may be kept up-to-date, a coupon book is issued with each instrument. These coupons entitle the holder to a new record each month for ten months, either the "record of the month" or a record of the owner's choice.

In conjunction with this new arrangement, it is also stated that provision has been made whereby present owners of Victor radio-electrolas may qualify for the record library.

AT THE THEATRES

SCREEN VERSION OF BARONESS ORCZY'S STORY AT COLUMBIA

Of such stuff is "The Scarlet Daredevil," that it might have been written directly for a motion picture. But it was not, for the Baroness Orczy is the fashioner of this entertaining and romantic character, and she first wrote him into "The Scarlet Pimpernell," that was one of the best sellers of a few years back.

The picture presented at the Columbia Theatre follows the adventures of Sir Percy Blakeney to the letter of the book, and with the distinguished English stage actor, Matheson Lang, in the title role is real screen entertainment.

"The Scarlet Daredevil" is full of excitement. The make-believe is well tempered with suspense. It is a story of the French revolution in which Sir Percy Blakeney, an English cavalier, steps into the melee to outwit the arch-devil, Robespierre.

Lang is excellent as Sir Percy, and equally good in his disguises used to deceive the wily Robespierre. Juliette Compton, an American girl, formerly with Ziegfeld's Follies, proves herself an actress as well as a beauty and adds considerable glamour to the picture. Marjorie Rume is charming as Lady Blakeney, and Hayden Stevens as Tallien, and Nelson Keys as Robespierre are effective.

SEVEN ROLES TAKEN BY PAUL MUNI IN PLAYHOUSE FILM

Paul Muni, acclaimed one of the most famous character actors, plays seven roles in "Seven Faces," Fox Movietone all-talking production now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, and never once appears without makeup. His roles range from Napoleon to Joe Gans, the famous negro prize fighter. Marguerite Churchill and Lester Lonergan are featured with him, under Berthold Viertel's direction.

GARY COOPER FINDS MOVIE FIGHT ROUGH; GETS BRUISED JAW

A bruise on the right side of his jaw was one of the net results of a fight which Gary Cooper engaged in recently at the Paramount Hollywood studios. One of the other results, the principal one, was several hundred feet of first-class fisticuffs for a public-house sequence of "Seven Days' Leave," the all-talking production based on a play of war-time London days, by J. M. Barrie, now at the Dominion Theatre.

Cooper, acting in his first starring vehicle, performs the part of Kenneth Dowey, a soldier-orphan of the Canadian Highland regiment, who becomes the adopted son of a pathetic charwoman widow, played by Beryl Mercer, the Mrs. Gubbins of "Three Live Ghosts."

"LOCKED DOOR" IS FAST MOVING DRAMA ON CAPITOL SCREEN

"The Locked Door," which opened at the Capitol Theatre to-day is one of the most entertaining and enjoyable talking pictures shown locally for many months.

Throughout a background of vivid action, with floating drink palaces, police raids and a murder, a beautiful romance is intelligently woven with tense drama and fast action. The whole is pleasing and amusing divertissement and demonstrates more than any film of recent times the great progress the talkies have made towards their ultimate goal of perfection.

The picture's boast of an all-star cast is well justified in the performances of Rod La Rocque, Barbara Stanwyck, the stage star of "The Noose" and "Burlesque," William Boyd, the dynamic star of the play "What Price Glory," and pretty Betty Bronson.

H. E. TANNER HONORED BY BERRY MEN

Saanich Fruit Growers Present Address and Watch to Manager

Long Service Recognized By Members at Annual Meeting Yesterday Evening

H. E. Tanner, manager of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, was yesterday evening presented with an illuminated address signed by eighty-five per cent of the membership, and a gold watch and chain in appreciation of fifteen years of labor on behalf of the association. A set of silverware was also presented to Mrs. Tanner in recognition of her consistent encouragement of his efforts at times of difficulty and stress.

The presentation featured the annual meeting of the association, held at Keating Temperance Hall, and was made by N. H. Lamont, who said the members were insistent that Mr. Tanner reconsider the resignation he had presented some time ago. "Had time permitted, practically all our members would have signed this address of appreciation of your great services to us all," he said.

Mr. Tanner was deeply moved, and when able to reply expressed his appreciation of the sentiments animating the gifts. "Your manager's life at times has been a lonely one, but what has been done could only have been achieved with the support of your president and the directors. I feel this the more, that a manager learns to expect more kicks than praises," he said, appealing for permission to delay decision on his resignation until the matter had been discussed with the directors. Mr. Tanner explained that the strenuous labors of the last year had been affecting his health.

"You have conferred on me to-night the greatest honor one could expect, the confirming of your support for what I have tried to do as your manager," he concluded.

James A. Grant, markets commissioner, said he knew of no one who had done as much as Mr. Tanner for Keating and Saanich as a whole. "In the prairie markets fruit men talk of 'Tanner's berries,' not 'Keating berries'," he pointed out, hoping that Mr. Tanner would reconsider his decision to resign as manager.

B.C. Ore Receipts Drop at Smelter

Nelson, B.C., March 20.—With the receipt of 6,871 tons of ore from the company mines and custom mines combined, during the week of March 8 to 14, for which figures have been released, receipts at the Trail Smelter of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company were boosted to 99,603 tons for the year to date, just 397 tons short of the 100,000-ton mark which will be reached next week.

The week's receipts were the lowest since the week of January 15, 1921, at which time 7,786 tons were received. There has been only one other week this year when receipts were lower. It was the opening week of the year when 7,314 tons were shipped to the smelter.

Customs ore total went to 97,092 tons, with the receipt of 8,640 tons during the week, as compared with a total of 100,511 tons at the same time last year.

Customs mines shipping were: Duthie, Smithers, 56; Palmets, Sandon, 43; Canadian Group, Sandon, 42; Union, Lynch Creek, 44; Waterloo, Edgewood, 46.

FISTICUFFS BRING FINE

Capetown, South Africa, March 20.—A vast crowd packed the court room and corridors here yesterday when the assault charge laid by John Warwick, member of the Legislature, against Senator Thomas Boydell, was given its final hearing. The charge against Senator Boydell, who was formerly Minister of Labor in the Union Government, was reduced to one of common assault, and he was fined £10. The case was the sequel to a bout of fisticuffs between the two men which climaxed a public meeting at which speeches of exceptional bitterness were delivered. The personal feud between the Senator and Mr. Warwick dates back about two years.

HARTLEY MANNER'S POPULAR PLAY IS A SUCCESS AT VARIETY

A play that swept into instant popularity in every civilized country of the world, "Peg O' My Heart," by Hartley Manner, is being produced with fine success at the Variety Theatre this week by the Toby Leitch Players.

This story of the winsome Irish girl who travels all the way from New York to England to acquire aristocratic manners from her rich relations, has every single element of fine drama. The humor is delightful. There is exciting action in Peg's courageous battle with snobbery, and there is one of the most charming love stories ever told.

That talented duo, Leone Weber and Rollon Parker, appear as Peg and Sir Gerald Adair. Lorus Bagley proves a fine comedian in the role of Alaric Chichester, and Esther Todd and Ruth Albright are splendid as Ethel Chichester and Mrs. Chichester, respectively.

RIOTOUS COMEDY IS APPRECIATED BY LOCAL AUDIENCES

At the Royal Theatre this week the Gordon McLeod Players are presenting the funniest comedy of their repertoire. It is "Tell Me the Truth," which was produced in New York and London with great success. It may run a second week in Victoria.

Lilian Christine is screamingly funny in a part which is quite different from anything in which she has been seen before she plays the role of Aunt Elizabeth with unusual skill. Margaret St. Barbe-West has a particularly charming role as a shy little maiden, while Claude Bailey has the part of a scapegrace who inherits a fortune. Roland Gillett is excellent both in the comedy and more serious moments of his part as the young lover. All the other roles are well filled, not forgetting Ernest Bodkin as the family lawyer, who is responsible for much of the mix up in the plot of the play.
